SOUTHERN PACIFIC FEARS THE WRECKERS.

Unknown Blackmailers Threaten Every Train to Los Angeles.

Anonymous Writer's First Letter Passed Unheeded, But Was Followed by the Smash-up at Volta—Company Now Trying to Locate the Fiend Who Demands Ten Thousand Dollars in Gold.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An anonymous letter writer, who threatens to wreck every train from Stockton to Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific unless paid $10,000 by the company, has brought the officials of the railroad into a state of terror. The wreck at Volta, near Los Banos, has given more significance to the anonymous threats than such letters usually possess, and the railroad officials have considered them of sufficient moment to negotiate with the writer by means of display advertisements of a like anonymous nature in the San Francisco papers, and also to patrol the tracks between Stockton and Los Angeles in a manner never resorted to before.

The detectives believe that an ex-convict has planned the bold attempt at blackmail. It was at first rather lightly regarded as the work of a crank. When the attempt was made to wreck the Owl at Volta, on the 13th inst., however, the railroad officials thought of the anonymous letters and ceased to regard the matter as unimportant from that time on.

The first letter was not very specific, as far as can be learned, but a second and more definite missive was sent a few days later. It announced in bold terms that unless the railroad company would pay $10,000 between the 14th and 20th insts., the writer would wreck every train between Los Angeles and Stockton.

PLAN OF PAYMENT.

The letter suggested a method by which this money was to be paid. They were told to start an engine out from Stockton for Los Angeles with $10,000 in a sack. The money was to be in three denominations, twenties, tens and fives in gold. At a point somewhere between Stockton and Los Angeles a red light would be displayed, at which point the sack of money was to be dropped and the engine was to proceed on its run. The letter further told the railroad officials to display white flags on the trains as a means of announcing their submission to the $10,000 blackmail.

It was decided to try to draw out the writer, if possible, and accordingly the railroad company opened up correspondence with the anonymous writer by buying space in at least two of the San Francisco dailies, the Chronicle and one other, and publishing in display type the following anonymous notice:

"$10,000 reward. Cannot display white flags 14th to 20th. You must suggest giving indication some other way."

TIME IS UP.

After the publication of this notice, a third letter was received extending the time until the 27th.

For the past two weeks, or ever since the letters were received, men have been patrolling the Southern Pacific tracks over a greater distance and more closely than ever before. There has been a man at every three miles every night, and a system of signals was arranged between them. It is also said that armed messengers have been running on the trains. The railroad crews, while they have not known the details of the letters, have known that the company feared a wreck or a hold-up, and the matter has been the subject of speculation among them. All trains for the last couple of weeks have been late from half an hour to an hour and a half, and it is supposed that they have been running more slowly than usual and making more stops.

SUSPECTED JAMES.

Thus far the detectives who have been working on the case have accomplished very little. At first, they suspected W. S. James, an early-day train robber of this county, who was recently released from San Quentin after serving a long term. He was recently arrested on suspicion of being involved in the Oregon Railroad and Nevagation hold up, which occurred September 24, but was afterwards released, as he established a complete alibi. It is understood now that the officers have about concluded that he had nothing to do with the matter, although he is still under surveillance.

Another theory is that the letters were written in another town, and sent here for mailing, to throw the officers off the scent. This opinion was expressed by one of the detectives today, and he said it would not surprise him to hear of similar letters being mailed at some other postoffice in the State.

KILLING OF VALERGA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From what is believed to be a reliable source, it has become known that the wreck at Volta, which was caused by railroad ties and a telegraph pole being placed on the track, was the first move of the blackmailers to enforce their demands. The death of Peter Valerga, the Southern Pacific patrolman, who was run over and mangled while lying unconscious between the tracks, a short distance out of town, has set railroad men to thinking, and while they are guarded in what they say, it can be readily seen that they believe that he was deliberately put out of the way, either by parties connected with the blackmailing gang, or by tramps whom he had ordered away from the road. Shortly after he was put to work as patrolman he had some difficulty with a gang of hobos who were burning railroad ties beside the track.

CRASH ON IRON MOUNTAIN.

Trains Come Together and Passengers Jump to Save Their Lives—Three May be Fatally Injured.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DIAZ (Ark.) Jan. 27.—A southbound passenger train on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Road and a Batesville branch train crashed together near here late last night. Eight were injured, three fatally. The Batesville train was destroyed by fire and two cars of the through train were burned.

The fatally injured are:

J. R. KRAGLE, Cord, Ark.

D. F. LUKE, fireman.

MRS. M. E. RICE, Batesville, Ark.

That there was not great loss of life is due to the fact that Joe Pennington, the news agent, saw the approaching local train and ran through the coaches, warning the passengers to jump for their lives. Many did so and escaped, with severe bruises.

The engineer of the through freight stuck to the engine until she turned over.

NONE FATALLY INJURED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Reports received at the headquarters of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railway indicate that no one was fatally injured in the wreck near Diaz, Ark.

TWENTY HURT IN TROLLEY CRASH.

DEATHS MAY RESULT FROM COLLISION IN ST. LOUIS FOG.

Car Delays While Passenger Quarrels With Conductor Over Fare, and Before Argument is Settled Shock in Rear Does Damage.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Twenty persons were injured, some of them fatally, when two cars on the Broadway line collided today. The injured:

WALTER SILVERNTRITT, internal injuries; serious.

J. H. HOBELMAN, serious.

WILLIAM MILLER, serious.

THOMAS MCGOVERN, ankles broken; serious.

GEORGE DECKER, feet and chest crushed.

FRANK ALTER, slight.

Twelve other passengers were slightly injured.

Both cars were northbound, traveling in a dense fog. The accident occurred while the front car was stationary, owing to a quarrel between the conductor and a passenger over a fare. The second car was coming at high speed. The front car loomed through the fog, but it was useless to try and avoid a crash. None of the 100 passengers on the second car knew that the accident was impending until the crash came. The second car crushed its way through the rear of the front car until it reached almost the middle of it.

The dozen or more passengers on the rear platform of the front car were jammed together under the rear car. The second car, for half its length, was crushed and the passengers inside were thrown about, while showers of broken glass fell upon them. A panic ensued. The less seriously hurt began to fight to escape. Children and women were trampled on and the weaker ones were beaten against the wreckage.

The collision occurred within two blocks of the street car barns and employés there hurried to the scene, removing the injured as quickly as possible. The most seriously hurt were removed to the car barn, where they were cared for by physicians and later taken to hospitals.

WRIGHT TOOK DEADLY POISON.

POST-MORTEM SHOWS CYANIDE OF POTASSIUM.

Surmised that He Took Fatal Dose Under Cover of Handkerchief With Which He Wiped His Face Immediately After Sentence.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 27.—[Atlantic Cable.] A post-mortem examination shows that Whittaker Wright committed suicide by taking cyanide of potassium. He must have swallowed the poison while standing before Justice Bigham, after receiving his sentence. It is recalled that Wright pulled a handkerchief from his pocket and appeared to wipe his face, and it is surmised that under cover of this he took the fatal dose. The inquest over Wright's remains will be held tomorrow.

The possibility of the promoter's escape from justice by suicide was clearly foreseen by Detective Willis, who brought Wright from New York. Acting on hints dropped by Wright during the voyage, Willis gave the court officials a special warning to keep the closest guard over him. Toward the conclusion of the trial, especially during Justice Bigham's severe criticism, it became evident that there could be only one verdict; so that if Wright was determined on self-destruction, in the event of his conviction, he had time to prepare a method for outwitting the jailers, as he must have foreseen that an adverse verdict was inevitable.

A strange document was found on the seat in court which had been Wright's, showing that he had had a premonition of his sentence. This was a sheet of blotting paper on which he had scribbled during the justice's summing up. The Roman characters "VII" were thickly scattered over the whole sheet. This was before the verdict had been rendered, but the number coincides with the sentence he received. In the middle of the sheet appears the word "intent," the last word Wright wrote.

The opposition papers continue making trechant comments upon the government.

It is reported that a six-chambered revolver, fully loaded, was found in Wright's pocket by the police

CLARK TOO LATE FOR DYING WIFE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 27.—A Santa Fé special train is rushing eastward from Jerome, Ariz., with the son of Senator Clark of Montana on board, trying to reach the bedside of his dying wife in New York. The hope of the Santa Fé is to make Chicago at noon Thursday.

TO CONNECT AT CHICAGO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 27.—At Albuquerque, N. M., Clark chartered a special train on the Santa Fé for Chicago, in order to connect with the Twentieth Century Limited, on the Lake Shore, for New York. The special was composed of engine, private car and coach and left Albuquerque at 5 o'clock this morning. It is understood the run of 1377 miles from Albuquerue to Chicago will be made in 29½ hours, which is 7½ hours faster than the time of the Santa Fé eastbound limited between the two points, and about three hours quicker than the time of the westbound Lowe special last August.

MRS. CLARK DEAD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Charles Walter Clark of San Mateo, Cal., daughter-in-law of Senator Clark of Montana, died in this city tonight. Mrs. Clark had been under medical treatment for about six weeks but was not thought to be critically ill, until Monday, when her sickness took a dangerous turn and her husband and other members of her family were notified to come here.

Charles W. Clark, who is on the way East from Arizona, is expected to reach this city Friday morning. Mrs. M. L. Cunningham, Mrs. Clark's mother, will reach here tonight and other members of the family are on their way. The funeral will take place Sunday, either from the residence of Senator Clark or from St. Thomas church, and the interment will be in Senator Clark's mausoleum in Woodlawn Cemetery. Mrs. Clark was married June 30, 1896, at Butte, Mont. There has been no issue of the union.

WASHINGTON.

NEW WAR SECRETARY.

Taft is Welcomed By Mr. Root.

Gen. Chaffee, Asst. Secy. Oliver and Col. Edwards Escort Him.

Indianola Postoffice Struggle Settled—Canal Amendments Dropped.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—William H. Taft, the former Governor of the Philippines and the new Secretary of War, arrived here at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon over the Pennsylvania Railway. His train was the regular connection of the Chicago Limited.

He was enthusiastically welcomed by a large crowd at the station. Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, Chief of Staff of the United States Army; Assistant Secretary of War Oliver and Col. Clarence Edwards, chief of the Division of Insular Affairs, formally greeted the new head of the War Department.

Gov. Taft was escorted down the long train sheds by Gen. Chaffee and Assistant Secretary Oliver, and after they reached the gates and passed through a lane formed there, there was a prolonged outburst of cheering, which was repeated vociferously by the crowd gathered outside.

Gov. Taft, with Gen. Chaffee and Col. Edwards, both in full uniform, entered into one carriage and Secretary Oliver followed in another, led by Troop E, Eleventh Cavalry, from Fort Myer, which had been drawn up in the Plaza in front of the station. They were rapidly driven to the War Department, where Secretary Root formally welcomed his successor. From there, the new Secretary was driven to the Arlington Hotel, where apartments had been reserved.

Secretary Taft looked the picture of health. He said he had had a splendid trip, and was in excellent health. Mrs. Taft and their children did not accompany him, but will remain in California for an indefinite time.

INDIANOLA POSTOFFICE CASE.

MRS. COX'S FRIEND APPOINTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The President has appointed W. D. Martin to succeed Mrs. Minnie Cox as postmaster at Indianola, Miss. This postoffice was closed some time ago, the white inhabitants of the place refusing to accept their mail from Mrs. Cox, who is a negress. Martin, who is a white man, was one of Mrs. Cox's bondsmen. Concerning the appointment, the following statement was issued at the White House:

"The President has sent to the Senate the nomination of William B. Martin to be postmaster at Indianola. The term of the postmistress had expired and she refused to accept a reappointment under any condition, and made the request for the appointment of Mr. Martin, one of her bondsmen and friends throughout the whole trouble and who had done everything in his power to oppose and prevent lawlessness.

"A report was made by the postoffice inspector who had originally investigated the whole affair, and following his advice and investigation and the positive refusal of the postmistress to accept a reappointment under any consideration the President appointed Mr. Martin."

When Mrs. Cox, whose husband was a railway mail clerk, became objectionable to some of the citizens of Indianola and she was finally requested by them to resign the office, threats were made against her and she was led to believe that her life was in danger. She expressed to the Postoffice Department a desire to resign, but when the facts were disclosed, the department would not permit her do so. Feeling over the matter became bitter, and as Mrs. Cox felt that she could not remain in the office with safety the office was closed, the President refusing to make any other arrangement.

For a long time the people of Indianola have been receiving their mail from Greenville, 25 miles from Indianola. The citizens paid a special carrier to bring them their mail from Greenville. For some time arrangement has been making quietly for the reopening of the Indianola office. Mrs. Cox's term of four years had expired, and the appointment of Mar-

MINE HORROR OF HARWICK.

Seventy Dead Bodies Brought to the Surface.

Coal Company Admits that Miners All Perished.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—Three days have elapsed since the terrible catastrophe at the Harwick mine of the Allegheny Coal Company, and tonight, at midnight, seventy dead bodies have been recovered and brought to the surface. Only one of these has been identified.

The day has been one of horror, in the little village on the pit mouth, but even while the blackened bodies were brought from the top of the shaft and then on sleds to the schoolhouse on the hill above where the undertakers were ready to receive them, quiet seemed to prevail in the community as if it were in a clutch that repressed the natural feelings of passionate anxiety and sorrow under the grim realization that there is still much work to be done before the full extent of the catastrophe has been realized.

The Allegheny Coal Company today in an official statement positively admitted that all of the men who were in the mine when the explosion occurred are dead.

There are 241 names on the list, which does not include that of Selwyn M. Taylor, or the two men who were on the tipple above the mine shaft, when the explosion came. Nor does this list contain the name of Daniel Lysle of Castle Shannon, whose body was found in the mine. He was one of the men who went down in the mine to work last night, but became separated from the rest and wandered far ahead, away from the air. His body was found in a sitting posture with the back to the wall. He had evidently been overcome by the afterdamp.

This brings the official number of known dead to 174, but the list may still be increased, as it is possible that some boys may have been in the pit whose names have not been learned. Hutchinson, the custodian of the lamps, says that between one hundred and fifty and one hundred and ninety lamps were given out on the fatal Monday morning, and no man was given more than one. At the shaft, fires have been built and groups of men are gathered, trying to keep warm. In the blacksmith shops about one hundred feet from the mouth of the shaft are seventeen coffins, each containing a body.

A carload of coffins was brought to Cheswick on the first train today, and taken to the mines. Two Polish women came from Poland last night to Cheswick. They arrived late and not being able to reach Harwick where their husbands were employed in the mine, slept all night at the station. Both men are in the mine, and a sad scene was enacted today when the women learned for the first time they were widows. Neither can speak English and one of the women carried an infant in her arms.

Chief Mine Inspector Roderick reached Harwick mine this afternoon and assumed charge. The finding of the dead body of Daniel Lysle of Leechburg and the report that another of the searchers is missing is keeping down the number of volunteers, for they realize that there is still much danger in the mine, but it is believed that Roderick will get a sufficient number of men to prosecute the work vigorously.

It is planned now to hold union services for all victims Sunday, with the exception of the Catholics, who will be buried according to the rites of their church. St. Paul's Roman Catholic Orphans' Asylum of this city has notified the Harwick authorities that that institution can take care of 900 children.

LATER.

The mystery about the well-dressed man who was found in the mine this morning, and who it was surmised, must be the unwitting cause of the explosion, has been cleared up. The remains were identified as those of David Lysle, the man who was overcome while searching for the victims of the explosion.

EIGHTY MORE BODIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—At 2 o'clock this morning it is said that over eighty more bodies have been found and are being collected at the bottom of the shaft.

REAL DAY OF SORROW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27.—Today was the real day of sorrow in the little village of Harwick, where nearly one hundred miners were entombed Monday morning. Today the burned and mangled bodies of the men who went to work on that morning were being brought to the surface and taken to the temporary morgue, where they are being prepared for burial.

Everybody so far brought up is bruised and cut and crushed into shapelessness. The fact that the legs and arms are broken and disjointed, indicates that the force of the explosion must have been terrific. It is presumed that it caught the men and buried them like straws before a gale, battering them against the jagged walls of the mine and crushing them, one on the other, at the ends of the headings and chambers. Scarcely one of the bodies has any clothing on it, and all are more or less burned, some to a crisp. There will be great difficulty in identifying them on this account.

The streets of the village were deserted today, the women and children having been made to understand that they should remain indoors until the authorities are ready for them to come to the morgue.

Among the bodies found was that of a stranger. It was only slightly burned. Who he was or what he was doing in the mine no one seems to know. While he is believed to have been a miner who was visiting in the shaft at the time of the explosion, there is a possibility that he was a stranger, unaware of the danger in gaseous mines and that he may have unwittingly caused the explosion.

At 10:30 o'clock a.m., nineteen bodies had been brought to the surface, and there are about sixty-two at the foot of the shaft. P. A. McMillen, who led one party of searchers, said: "Fifteen bodies were found in one south entry. All of them, with one exception, were badly burned and mangled. One had his head blown off. In room one of the south entry we found two men, lying face downward, near each other. They had evidently been killed by the explosion. In another place, we found six men, all negroes. Five were in a heap, and one was pinned under a car. We found the driver of that entry lying along the roadway, where he had been blown. Rooms 10 and 12, south entry, are caved in to the depth of five feet. There are several men buried there and there are undoubtedly men buried under the rock in other parts of the mine. For this reason it will be weeks before all the bodies are recovered."

Pittsburgh people will attend to the last sad rites over the dead who will be taken from the mine. At 6:30 o'clock this morning, a trainload of coffins left the West Pennsylvania station in Allegheny for the mine. Each body will be embalmed and will be given a separate grave.

A general appeal for aid for the families of the miners who lost their lives through the explosion will be issued from Harwick within the next forty-eight hours.

The leading men of the place left alive are considering the call, and all the principal cities and towns of the State will be appealed to. An effort will be made to raise at least $10,000, which amount, it is figured, will be adequate to provide for the suffering and almost destitute women and children until the warmer weather comes, or until some permanent arrangement can be made for caring for them.

David Lysle, a volunteer rescuer, was overcome by gas today and died before any assistance could be rendered him.

Late this afternoon the rescuers got into the north end and found it full of bodies. It is the opinion that this will include about all the victims, and it is believed now that most of the bodies will be out tomorrow.

VICTOR VICTIMS.

BODIES IN HORRIBLE SHAPE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VICTOR (Colo.) Jan. 27.—The bodies of the miners who fell with the cage 1500 feet down the shaft of the Stratton Independence mine yesterday have been recovered, and are lying on two rows of benches in a carpenter shop in the shaft-house. They are disemboweled, dismembered, decapitated and otherwise mutilated.

One of the victims, Edward Twiggs, was recognizable from his features. His arms and legs were broken and the back of his skull crushed. There was not a particle of clothing on any of the bodies or dismembered limbs when recovered from the sump at the bottom of the shaft. The bodies of John Sebeck, C. C. Staten, Joseph Overy and Harry Cogene, have been identified.

Coroner Doran has instructed the master mechanics who have examined the machinery at the mine to make public no statement regarding the causes of the accident until they testify at the inquest, which will probably be opened tomorrow. M. J. McCarthy, deputy mine inspector, after an examination of the mine, said that the machinery seemed to be in good condition.

MAYOR HARRISON WIGGLES OUT.

JUDGE ORDERS HIM DISCHARGED FROM RESPONSIBILITY.

Was in no Way Guilty or Liable for Loss of Life at Iroquois Theater Fire—Court's Decision a Precedent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.— Mayor Harrison was today ordered by Judge Richard S. Tuthill to be discharged from custody, and from any responsibility for the loss of life in the Iroquois Theater fire. The judge declared that the mayor was in no way ever guilty of laches, and that the Coroner's jury, in ordering Mayor Harrison held to the grand jury, had put an unjust stigma on the mayor, who had failed in no particular whatever, either in omission or commission. The court declared the chief executive of the city may not be held for alleged failure of subordinates to perform their duties.

It was decided by Mayor Harrison to sue out a writ of habeas corpus for his immediate release from the Coroner's jury charges; so, accompanied by his bondsmen and an attorney, he appeared at the criminal court building and formally surrendered himself to Sheriff Barrett and thus nullified the bond of $5000 given yesterday. Notice was simultaneously served on the State's attorney that an application for a writ of habeas corpus should be at once filed with Judge Tuthill.

William Sallers surrendered at the criminal court building today. He said he was out of town when the verdict was rendered.

The Iroquois Theater building is now in the hands of its owners.

At the Samaritan Hospital Ilse Carole Anderson, the child whose deed of heroism at the fire was recounted in brief during the Coroner's inquest but whose name had never been learned. Through the bravery of this fourteen-year-old girl at least fifty lives were saved on the fatal afternoon. Her mother perished, but the child does not know it.

"LITTLE SHORT OF INFAMY."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Following his release, Mayor Harrison made the following statement to the Associated Press: "The only possible feature which the jury was able to find connecting me with the Iroquois fire disaster was the alleged negligence and incompetency of my appointees, Fire Chief Musham and Building Inspector Williams. I want to call attention to the fact that Chief Musham has been connected with the Chicago fire department for forty years, beginning at the bottom of the ladder and winning his way to the position of assistant chief by gallant and heroic conduct of a lifetime. Upon the retirement of Chief Sweenie, I appointed Musham chief. The appointment was on merits and met with unanimous approval. When the position of building commissioner became vacant last summer I invited the Builders' Club, the Association of Architects and various non-partisan professional organizations to name the best available man for the vacancy. They named Williams. I appointed him and he entered most earnestly upon his duties. Both of these men were ideal appointments. The imputation of guilt upon these two men is unjustifiable, but to strike at me over their shoulders is little short of infamy."

Mrs. Morgan owned valuable land, and not long ago decided to deed some of it to her three children. A son was dissatisfied with the distribution, and claimed the title was not good because there was no proof of his father's death. Mrs. Morgan immediately filed suit for divorce from Burdett Pickle, alleged desertion, and the decree was granted, for it was proven that Pickle, like Enoch Arden, had returned, learned of his wife's remarriage, and gone away years ago. The second ceremony took place today. They were each 70 years old.

Her cries were heard by the station agent, and he opened the box. The husband was told that he would have to get a ticket for his wife, and the couple disappeared.

REPEOPLIZING OF INDUSTRIES.

BANK STATISTICS SHOW FOLKS AFRAID, SAYS GROSSCUP.

Corporations Must Not be Allowed to Shelter Men Bent on Robbing Their Fellow-men—Ten Billions of Capital Uninvested.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Jan. 27.—The principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Illinois County Probate and Judges' Association today was Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States Circuit Court at Chicago. His subject was "The Next Great Step in American Politics, the Repeoplizing of Our Country's Industries."

After expressing his confidence in the continuance of prosperity and his friendliness to honest corporations, as "civilization's way of wielding large masses of capital," and his friendliness to law-abiding labor unions as "the embodiment in organization of the national law of self-preservation," the speaker sketched the present conditions and complaints of employers, employes and the general public, and, upon the relations of employers and employes, said:

"It has come to pass that instead of peace the standing relations between them is that of war. They look upon each other, not as neighbors or copartners, but as belligerents. When they sleep it is upon their arms. When a truce comes and indemnity is laid it fails, not on the belligerent, but on the outside public—the great neutral who up to that time supposed it had only a moral interest in the conflict."

Calling attention to what he designated "the most recent phenomena in industrial evolution," the rapid withdrawal of the great middle body of citizenship from ownership in the great industrial properties of the country, the speaker said:

"During the last twenty-three years the capital deposited in the banks of the country has increased nearly ten billion dollars. This capital largely has come from men in ordinary circumstances of life. It measures the capital detached during this period by this class of our citizenship from active proprietorship in the industries of the country. It marks a tremendous shift in the personnel of active proprietorship. The shift is due to the sense of insecurity the people feel in the ownership of corporate property, as corporations under existing state policies are now permitted to be organized.

"The main object to be aimed at is a repeoplizing of the industries of the country, and this can only be accomplished by a corporate policy under which a corporation dishonestly conceived cannot be organized at all, and a corporation dishonestly administered will pass at once, before the evil is irremediable, into the hands of the courts or some department of the government. What is to be sought is not so much publicity as prevention. The great aim, the transcendant aim, should be to make this a proprietorship widely diversified among the people."

In concluding Judge Grosscup said: "Big corporations are here to stay. Labor unions that abide the laws are here to stay. To deal with them as one would deal with mad dogs is to ask public opinion itself to go mad. But these interests, corporate and personal, one and all, must be brought under the full domain of the law. They must be allowed to trample no man's rights on the ground. They must be allowed to successfully shelter no man bent on robbing his fellow-man. They must and they can be made the open door to opportunity, the door through which every American, great and small, may, with reasonable security, carry his ambition to share in his country's progressiveness and in the freedom of his country's laws."

TOOK MUCH POISON.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—At the post mortem examination of the body of Whittaker Wright his features showed no trace of the suffering he must have endured before death. His face was calm and peaceful. His brain was found to have been abnormally large, and as the examination proceeded, the doctors found evidences of cyanide of potassium, which confirmed their previous impression of the cause of death. Portions of the deadly tabloids, still undissolved, were found in the stomach. Wright having swallowed several of them. The report that a revolver had been found on his person has been confirmed. It was concealed in his hip pocket, and is an evidence of his strong determination to end his life.

It is now supposed that Wright's ostentatious consumption of tabloids for indigestion and insomnia during the last days of the trial was designed to disguise, in case of necessity, the taking of the fatal dose. According to the decision, the dead man prolonged his agony by taking too many of the cyanide of potassium tablets, as a smaller dose would have brought death more swiftly.

With the consent of the Home Secretary, Wright's body will be handed over to his relatives after the inquest, for private burial at Netley, his home in Surrey.

Women Lose Vote in Diocese Deliberations.

California Episcopalians Restrict Lay Delegates.

Fined for Illegally Shooting Deer—Fair Will Case.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first step by a religious body to provide for rapidly increasing demands of women for representation was made today by the California Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, when it adopted a canon excluding women delegates from future conventions, but providing a House of Churchwomen which will hold sessions simultaneously with that of male delegates.

Dean Shaw introduced a resolution to raise the sum of $10,000 for extension work in the diocese. An amendment to the resolution was proposed by A. N. Drown, making the amount $7000. The original motion was carried.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Women will no longer have a vote in the deliberations of the California diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and all future conventions of the body to lay delegates will be restricted to the sterner sex.

This action is the result of a spirited debate that took place today, at the second section of the fifty-fourth convention of the diocese. The women of the church, however, were singularly honored by the convention by the establishment of the "house of church women," which body will deal with women's work in the church and at the same time as the convention proper does.

The debate on the status of women in the convention proceedings took up the best part of the day. The arguments put forward by those who desired to exclude the women delegates were based on grounds that they had a special sphere to fill and that men neglect the work of the church as long as they knew the women were interested. It was explained that there was no desire to belittle women but, on the contrary, to give them more recognition by the establishment of the house of church women."

When the amendments were put to the vote, the proposition to establish a "house of church women" was lost, failing to the required two-thirds vote of being secured in the affirmative. The vote of the clergymen showed 31 ayes and 10 noes, while the lay vote stood 20 ayes and 12 noes. The women all voted in the negative. A motion to reconsider was then moved.

Bishop Nichols addressed the convention. He favored the "house of church women," and felt that the women could assist the work of the church by meeting as such a body instead of being present as a small minority in the convention proper. The motion to reconsider prevailed and was carried unanimously, as was the amendment to the limit of all lay delegates to the convention to the male sex.

On resolution, Bishop Nichols appointed a committee to draft canons for the guidance of "house of church women." The new body will only deal with women's work in the church and its formation is a decided novelty.

The committee to draft the canons for the new body will file a printed report thirty days before the next convention.

The report of Archdeacon Emery, dealing with the funds for Church Extension work, was received. The report showed that $10,000 had been apportioned for mission work as follows: San Francisco, $7000; San Jose, San Joaquin Valley, $1000. The report showed the need for more work; that also, there was a steady growth of guilds and clubs in the dioceses.

Women Lose Vote in Diocese Deliberations.

California Episcopalians Restrict Lay Delegates.

Penalty for Illegally Shooting Deer—Fair Will Case.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first step by a religious body to provide for rapidly increasing demands of women for representation was made today by the California Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, when it adopted a canon excluding women delegates from future conventions, but providing a House of Churchwomen which will hold sessions simultaneously with that of male delegates.

Dean Shaw introduced a resolution to raise the sum of $10,000 for extension work in the diocese. An amendment to the resolution was proposed by A. ... Brown, making the amount $20,000. The original motion was carried.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Women no longer have a vote in the deliberations of the California diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and at future conventions of the body the delegates will be restricted to the same sex.

The action is the result of a spirited debate that took place today, at the second section of the fifty-fourth session of the diocese. The women were not ... church, however, were ... ignored by the convention by the ... adoption of the "house of church ..." which body will deal with ... work in the church and sit at the same time as the convention does.

The debate on the status of women in the convention proceedings took up the best part of the day. The arguments put forward by those who wished to exclude the women delegates were based on grounds that they had a special sphere to fill and must not neglect the work of the home as long as they knew the women were interested. It was expected that there was no desire to hear women but, on the contrary, to give them more recognition by the establishment of the house of church women."

When the amendments were put to vote, the proposition to establish a "house of church women" was lost, failing to the required two-thirds vote after being secured in the affirmative. The vote of the clergymen showed 31 ayes and 10 noes, while the lay vote showed 20 ayes and 12 noes. The ... all voted in the negative. A ... to reconsider was then ...

EMIGRATION TO CANADA.

BRITAIN'S RELATION THERETO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Deputy Minister Smart makes a statement today with an important bearing on the suggested Canadian government intervention to check American labor bosses' attempt to hinder British emigration to Canada. Mr. Smart says:

"We are the best friends of the Canadian artisan, because we bring customers for his wares. We have room for 10,000,000 more of the purchasers of manufactured goods. The government agents do not seek artisans. No bonus is paid upon such. They must go out on their own account and take their chances. I do not think Canada will ever legally restrict immigration of any sort. Our country is too big to warrant our adoption of the new Australian policy which almost excluded six British hatters."

Regarding corporations, Gov. Cummins said they must be sustained, as they belonged to the "development of the age." Previous to the banquet, Gov. Cummins was entertained with dinner by Gov. Bailey.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The exchanges regarding the Russian response to the Japanese note are progressing and the Foreign Office announces today that there is no change in the situation. The Japanese legation does not credit the report from Tokio that Japan has requested Russia to hasten her reply. M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister, has received no instructions on the subject. He reiterates his opinion that Japan will not press Russia for a reply.

The admiralty insists that the movements of the Russian ships in the neighborhood of Port Arthur are entirely without significance, saying in explanation that they are probably merely routine changes of station and certainly made without the expectation of a collision. A prominent admiral said in an interview today:

"The admiralty believes in the successful termination of the negotiations. Some of our ships in the Far East are still in reserve. Steps now being taken should be described as precautionary rather than warlike preparations."

Prince Kiloff, Minister of Railroads, will leave here in a few days for Irkutsk to inspect the nearly-completed railroad line around Lake Baikal, which connects the ends of the Siberian roads. This connection, which will permit through trains, is considered of great advantage, especially in the event of winter military exigencies. The Czar, when voicing his approval of Prince Khiloff's mission, said in substance that he desired peace, which he believed would not be broken, but that it was proper to be prepared for all emergencies.

Some of the Russian newspapers are again becoming bellicose. The Bourse Gazette declares that Russia has reached the parting of the ways and must now choose her position and maintain it. The Gazette says if Japan persists in her warlike attitude Russia is not going to be intimidated. The Novoe Vremya says the conversion of the reserve battalions into regiments is now necessary, because more military units are needed in the Far East and because Germany's increase in recent years requires a second line of defense.

Today was diplomatic day in St. Petersburg, but Count Lamsdorff, the Foreign Minister, did not receive.

DISCUSSION OF MEASURES.
JAPAN TO ISSUE BONDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Jan. 27.—[By Asiatic Cable.] It is understood that the Cabinet, assisted by the elder statesmen, has completed a financial programme which, it is anticipated, will be published shortly. It is said to include the issuance of exchequer bonds to the amount of 100,000,000 yen, increasing taxes to the extent of 50,000,000 yen.

HAYASHI AND THE NOTE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister to Great Britain, said to a representative of the Associated Press this evening: "There is no block in the negotiations—so far, at least, as Japan is concerned. Much that has been published regarding the contents of the Japanese note is quite imaginary, and there is also in the note a great deal of which the public knows nothing."

LAMSDORFF CALLS KURINO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Official advices received here from St. Petersburg show that Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, before giving Russia's answer, has called in the Japanese Minister, M. Kurino. The two ministers are now confering, with the view of so shaping the response as to avoid a conflict. This is considered to be an explanation of the dispatch from Tokio saying that Japan has requested Russia to hasten her reply. As Count Lamsdorff and M. Kurino are having conference prior to the submission of the reply, it is regarded as evidence of Japan's insistence on an early answer and of Russia's desire to avoid a response which might precipitate hostilities. Count Lamsdorff's course in conferring with M. Kurino before answering is cited as showing Russia's willingness to go to the last limit in order to avoid war. But, it is added, if the efforts of Russia fail, she will be prepared to strike very hard blows from the outset.

All information reaching the highest quarters here tend to show that the crisis continues acute. It appears to be the accepted conviction in government circles that the final determination between peace and war cannot be long deferred. The officials continue to hope for peace, but they make the reservation that the discouraging aspect which the situation assumed during the last few days has not been ameliorated.

A categorical denial is given, so far as France is concerned, to the Peking report that the French Minister is taking part in the negotiations with the view of mediation of France, Great Britain and the United States.

RUSSIA'S LAST WORD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—The Paris correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt claims authority for the statement that the forthcoming Russian note to Japan will be Russia's last word in the matter and it will be categorical, and declare that Russia cannot make further concessions than those contained in the note in question. The correspondent says also that Russia is particularly opposed to the fortification of Masampho.

DROPS CANAL AMENDMENTS.
COMMITTEE TAKES ACTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today took action on the Panama Canal treaty which, in effect, rescinds its former adoption of amendments. Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee, was authorized to report a disagreement on the amendments already reported, which action is equivalent to reporting the treaty in its original form. This course is in accordance with a decision reached by the Republican Senators not to permit any amendment until the Panama republic has assured the State Department that it will permit the harbor improvements and sanitary regulations desired. It is believed the canal treaty will be ratified by the Senate without amendment of any character.

MORGAN ASKS WHY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Senator Morgan today introduced a resolution directing the Secretary of State to send to the Senate a copy of a dispatch of letter dated January 22, 1904, relating to the withdrawal or abandonment of all amendments to the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty which was sent by the Minister of the United States at Panama to Secretary Hay, in which the reasons for withdrawing the same are stated.

SERVICE AND AGE PENSION.
SULLOWAY'S PROPOSITION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire, chairman of the Committee on Invalid Pensions, today introduced a distinctly service-and-age pension bill which will give to each soldier who served ninety days and who has reached the age of 62 years, $8 per month, 66 years, $10 per month, and 70 years, $12 per month. In addition to the above rates, his bill gives to the men who served two years or more an additional increase of $2 a month in each of the above classes.

The bill increases the minimum of pensions allowed to $8 per month, instead of $6, which will increase the pensions of 125,394 soldiers who are now on the rolls at $6 per month. The bill further provides that the pensions of widows who are married to soldiers prior to January 1, 1870, and who are now on the rolls drawing $8 shall be increased to $12. Heretofore the law has been that they could not get $12 unless their husbands died of disease contracted in the service. This bill will give an increase to the men who served ninety days, and increases for the men who fought through the entire war, and also increases the pensions of the widows who married the soldiers during or immediately following the war.

THE CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—SENATE—The Senate today adopted the resolution authorizing the Secretary of State to open negotiations with Great Britain for arbitration of the joint regulations for the protection of fur seals of Alaska and also the resolution authorizing the Committee on Privileges and Elections to enter upon an inquiry into the charges against Senator Reed Smoot of Utah. The Smoot resolution was amended so as not to authorize the committee to sit during the Congressional recess, and the amendment was agreed to by the Senate.

The resolution on the Panama Canal situation introduced by Mr. Daniel was laid before the Senate, and Mr. Simons of North Carolina spoke in support of the canal treaty, being the first Democratic Senator to take an open position on that side of the controversy. He announced his conviction that both under the Spooner act and under the general treaty-making power, there is authority to enter into treaty with Panama after it became an independent State for the construction of a canal via the Panama route.

BILL TO MAKE CITIZENS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Mr. Simmons announced his intention to vote for the various resolutions of inquiry, and closed with the expression of a desire that Colombia might be compensated for her loss.

Considerable discussion followed of a bill providing means for citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines to become citizens of the United States. The fact was developed that citizens of Porto Rico, the Philippines and other countries similarly situated with reference to the United States have no means of becoming naturalized as citizens of the United States, and are therefore in that respect worse off than the people of other countries. The bill was passed, but Mr. Spooner entered a motion to reconsider, which went over.

The bill for the relief of persons who made the first payment for desert land under the act of March 3, 1877, and who were unable to perfect their entries, was taken up. It provides for the repayment to the entry man of the 20 cents an acre so paid and was opposed by Mr. Berry, who quoted the report of the Secretary of the Interior as saying that thousands of acres of land had been taken up fraudulently under the Desert Land Law and turned over to corporations.

Mr. Spooner found fault with the bill because it was not indorsed by the Secretary of the Interior, and moved the recommital of the bill to the Committee on Public Lands. This motion prevailed, after Mr. Warren had made a speech in defense of the Desert Land Law. He said that the effect of the operation of that law had been most beneficial.

The following bills were passed: Authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to restore to public entry lands embraced in segregations for reservoirs, authorizing the Recorder of the General Land Office to issue certified copies of patents, records, etc.; extending to the mints at Denver, San Francisco and New Orleans the privilege of coining minor coins; establishing a life saving station at Nome, Alaska, granting 50,000 acres of public land each in the States of Idaho and Wyoming for the maintenance of soldiers' homes.

The Senate went into executive session at 3:55 o'clock, and at 4:50 p.m. adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—HOUSE—Mr. Overstreet of Indiana, from the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, called up a privileged resolution reported by the committee calling on the Postmaster-General for a statement giving the serial number of all postal cars for which the government is paying, in addition to the amount paid for carrying the mails, the name of the railroad companies owning the cars and the time of service of each car from the date of the original construction and first use, together with information as to condition of cars on June 30, 1903. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Hemenway of Indiana, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the resolution requesting the Secretary of War for a statement showing the amount of money disbursed by his department in promotion of flying machine experiments and construction, with a recommendation by the committee that it be laid on the table.

Mr. Hitchcock, author of the resolution, contended against extravagance. He asked why a modern Darius Greer should be established at national expense, and insisted that the information sought in his resolution should be furnished to the House.

Mr. Robinson of Indiana said: "We should strike directly at that queer scheme of aerial navigation whereby a scientific promoter, encouraged by executive officers, if not by Congress, raised the high expectation of the public and made demands for money only to have the venture fall flat." He added: "We should stay the hand of wasteful adventure and strike down such costly bubbles as Langley airships and air castles and rescue the innocent public from such dreams."

On his motion, the resolution was laid on the table.

The House went into committee of the whole on the Urgent Deficiency Bill. Mr. Burkett of Nebraska, speaking on party issues, said the Democrats would not know whether they will talk free silver or the gold standard until after their convention at St. Louis and they learn who is to control the party—the gentleman from Nebraska or the "reorganizers." Asked how much of the $500,000 had been expended in the prosecution of the trusts, Mr. Burkett said, "all that was necessary."

Mr. Landis remarked that it was $75,000 more than had ever been expended by Democrats for that purpose.

"The paramount issue of the Republican party," declared Mr. Burkett, "is and always has been the development of the country and the welfare of the people."

Mr. Cochrane of Missouri, replying to Mr. Burkett, paid his respects to J. Pierpont Morgan. The financial policy inaugurated by President Cleveland, he said, emanated from no political party, but from a coterie of gentlemen who then and since then had been the advisers of Presidents, and who had, by their vicious financial legislation of 1893 and up to 1896, brought upon this great continent the desolation of a desert, and have now followed it up by plundering every man of small means and every small investor in their neighborhood.

"It should be remembered," he said, "that if any man more than any other was more conspicuous in further promoting the financial policy of Grover Cleveland, it was John Pierpont Morgan, a man who has sunk from the condition of adviser of Presidents and inventor of financial legislation to the level of a man with a gold brick to sell, or a confidence man with three cunning little shells at a county fair."

MR. HARDWICK OF GEORGIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Mr. Hardwick of Georgia, speaking on the race problem, rejoiced at the happy relations now existing between the North and South. He said that the South yielded to no section in loyalty, and in that spirit he invoked consideration of the question. The negroes, he said, constituted about 36 per cent. of the voting population in eleven of the southern States.

Reviewing the voting qualifications imposed by Constitutional action in southern States, Mr. Hardwick said it was not believed by Southern lawyers of ability that any of these qualifications were in conflict with the Fifteenth Amendment. He said the negro can no longer stand on his merits as a citizen. There never had been any disposition in the South to deprive the negro of his civil rights, the right to earn a living and the right of protection to life and property. There cannot be political equality, he aided. He quoted statistics and said it was shown that as illiteracy decreased among the race, criminality increased, from which he deduced that education had been detrimental, rather than beneficial to the negro.

Calling attention to the laws of a number of States, including Ohio, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, Oregon, California, Wyoming and Idaho, he said that if the Republicans of the Southern States were to be reduced because of the voting qualifications imposed, the representation of the States named would have to be reduced for the same reason.

Mr. Landis of Indiana said that the Democratic party was in the midst of demoralization and humiliation; that it was without a leader, while the Republican party stands with its face to the future, more hopeful than ever.

Reference to election methods in Southern States precipitated numerous colloquies between Mr. Landis and Mr. Williams of Mississippi and several others on the minority side. Mr. Landis said prosperity was here to remain if the Democrats would let it stay, but the Democrats would scare it away tomorrow, he added, by electing a Democratic Congress and enacting a measure similar to the Gorman-Wilson Tariff Bill.

The Republicans, declared Mr. Landis, would go into the battle on the party's record. He called attention to the prosperous condition of the Southern States, and replying to a question by Mr. Livingston of Georgia, he said the Democratic States were prosperous in spite of themselves.

Mr. Landis reviewed what had been done in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines under Republican administration, and speaking of the latter, said that they have houses there now in place of huts.

"I do not claim to have been the original Roosevelt man," said Mr. Landis. "Years ago I antagonized him and his ideas, and it came to be a habit with me to say harsh things about him. In my own newspaper I said he was a sham reformer and pretender. But I have changed my mind with reference to Theodore Roosevelt, as have millions of others of his countrymen.

"I realized how I had misjudged him when I saw the announcement in the daily press that he had decided to abandon a place of power and safety which insured conspicuous performance in the very theater of war to raise a regiment to lead to the front. It seemed to me that was the supremest test for it involved good-by, I no fame, well, to little children and their mother. I knew how fearfully I had misjudged him when, with my colleagues on the floor of the House, I read bulletin which told how he, under a blistering sky, the target for a hundred sharpshooters, had given a modern exhibition of that courage, that daring, that heroic valor, which has compelled all mankind to subscribe to the verdict that the American volunteer is the greatest soldier on earth.

"But," continued Mr. Landis, "it has been said, he mixed up in the Northern Securities affair." He did. He put the machinery of the law in operation at a time when capital seemed to have lost its head and conservatism to have gone crazy. He invoked the law passed by Congress and one of the rich men in New York told me recently that this timely check saved this country from disastrous panic."

The committee arose at 5:15 o'clock. At 5:33 the house adjourned until tomorrow.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Admiral Lamberton Incapacitated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A cablegram received at the Navy Department today from Culebra announces that Rear-Admiral Lamberton, in command of the South Atlantic Squadron, has been found by a medical survey to be incapacitated for further duty at present on account of defective eyesight, and will sail, probably today, for New York from San Juan. The South Atlantic Squadron will be left in command of Rear-Admiral Barker, who is in command of the combined forces now gathered off Culebra, preparatory to the winter maneuvers.

Cuban Treaty Approved.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today authorized a favorable report on the Cuban treaty, including the Platt amendment. The treaty has been ratified by the Cuban Senate.

Monetary Commissioner's Work.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—It is learned here that Charles Conant, a member of the Monetary Commission, who has been in Rome conducting negotiations with the Italian government respecting the standardization of silver currency in the Orient, is acting under special instructions from the State Department. He will visit the principal capitals of Europe. Results so far obtained encourage the hope of the final success of the movement to consider an international agreement. This, it is expected, will comprise an arrangement for the purchase of silver bullion within a fixed range of prices, with the purpose of maintaining a steady market and the parity between gold and silver coin in the East. Prof. Jenks a member of the commission, is at work on similar lines in China and the Philippines.

Countess Esterhazy's Rejoinder.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The answer of the Countess Esterhazy to a suit for $10,000 damages, in which she is charged with having alienated the affections of the plaintiff's husband, filed by Louise M. de Lang, was made yesterday. She declares there never was a legal marriage between Louise McDowell (the plaintiff's maiden name,) and Martin de Lang. The answer includes, besides a general denial of the charges, the allegation that Mrs. De Lang has no legal claim upon the affections of Martin de Lang, because she was never legally married to him, and that therefore she is not entitled to sue for the alienation of his affections.

Machen's Prosecutors Rest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The prosecution in the trial of A. W. Machen and others charged with conspiracy to defraud the government rested its case today. When the trial was resumed today, with Postoffice Inspector Mayer under cross-examination, witness declared he did not offer to D. B. Groff any promise of immunity, "either by manner or otherwise."

Will Acquire Big Trees.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Senate Committee on Public Lands has made a favorable report on the bill providing means for acquiring the groves of Sequoia Gigantea in the State of California, with a view to making these tracts a national park.

May Restore Arizona Land.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Special Agent Frank Meade will be sent to Arizona by the Indian Office to investigate the proposition to restore to the public domain that portion of the twenty-five-miles-square addition to the Navajo reservation, made in 1902, which lies to the south of Little Colorado River. Some controversy has arisen between the cattle interests and the Indians over the straying of the cattle over that portion of the reservation referred to. The cattle interests are anxious to have the land restored to the public domain. The future action of the President will be based on Agent Meade's report.

Point Richmond Postmaster.

Shaw Not Leaving Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The statement that Secretary Shaw intends to leave the Cabinet is without foundation.

MAY BE TEACHER'S MURDERER.

Man With Scratched Face and Blood-stained Clothes Thought Author of Dark Deed in Indiana.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Jan. 27.—A man giving the name of Harry Behr, who says he is from Memphis, was arrested today on suspicion that he was connected with the murder of Farah Schaefer, the teacher at Bedford, Ind. His clothing bore blood stains and his face had been scratched. He was arrested at the home of Roger White, a negro. He says he received the scratches in the recent election fights. Behr manifested an intense interest in the Schaefer murder, and it was his conduct that caused the negro to inform the officers. Behr told the negro and his wife that the blood got on his clothes from beating a woman. In his pocket papers containing an account of the Schaefer murder were found. Yesterday, he aroused from a sleep as though in terror, and when asked what was the matter said he had murdered a woman.

J. He was among the first to run the John Bull engine after it was brought to this country.

TO SURVEY COLORADO DESERT.

IMPERIAL, Jan. 27.—E. T. Perkins in charge of the government irrigation works on the Colorado River, arrived here this week to arrange for a government topographic survey of the entire Colorado Desert in coöperation with the local irrigation company. The object of the survey is to determine how much, if any, land east and north of the Imperial district can be placed under the projected government canal from the Colorado River. If it is necessary to carry the canal on the Mexican side of the line it will not be feasible for the government to build the system. It has been supposed that this would be necessary. The government has temporarily withdrawn a large body of land from filing and this survey will determine whether it shall be reopened.

COURT FAVORS ROOSEVELTS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Robert B., John E., and Robert B. Roosevelt, Jr., and Kenyon Furtesque, as executor of the will of Marion T. AMOY JURY DISCHARGED.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 27.—Judge Bennett this afternoon discharged the jury in the case of Jennie Castro, the dance-hall girl, who shot and killed her former husband, Thomas F. Amoy, in a resort in this city last November. The case attracted great local attention on account of the circumstances surrounding it. The defendant claimed her act was one of self-defense and told a story of cruel abuse at the hands of her divorced husband and introduced evidence to show that he had beaten her and threatened her life before. At the time of the killing, however, he was unarmed. The jury is said to have stood ten to two for acquittal.

GAS BILL WHILE YOU WAIT.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—A patent has been taken out for a combination meter calculating machine and automatic press, which, it is predicted, will render disputes between the consumers of gas water and electricity and the companies or municipalities supplying them quite unnecessary, perhaps impossible. By the use of this machine a consumer can ascertain the amount of his bill at any time, for, by simply turning a lever, he receives a card upon which is printed the amount he owes.

PANAMA INDIANS AT A LOVE FEAST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Four Indian chiefs, with forty-eight of their lieutenants, representing the districts of Capira, Lapintada and two sections of Penononle, have arrived, says a Herald dispatch from Panama, to make a formal protest because the authorities of the new republic named Juan de Dios Rodrigues head chief of the Indians, with the title of governor-general.

The visiting chiefs declared they were unwilling to recognize the governor-general's authority, and they threatened to revolt. After some persuasion, the chiefs agreed to individual conferences with Gen. Huertas, the commander-in-chief of the republic's army, who persuaded all to unite at a banquet and sit down at a table with Rodrigues. The event proved a love feast, and all differences were forgotten in the good cheer that followed.

After a tour of sight seeing through the city, the Indians will return to their homes and order their followers to perform the new ceremony of baptizing the Panama flag in special honor of the new head chief.

The Indians are well armed and bold special drills daily, and are said to be ready to fight Colombia whenever the occasion arises.

JEFF STOPS HORSE AND SAVES WOMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An unmanageable horse, ridden by a woman, plunging along the bridle path in Central Park, was stopped near Seventy-second street, this afternoon, by Champion James J. Jeffries, according to the police. When he had brought the horse to a standstill Jeffries helped the rider down, and then, tipping his hat to her, turned her over to a mounted policeman, who by this time, had reached the scene.

"Hey, there," shouted the policeman at the retreating pugilist, "what's your name?"

"Oh, that's all right," responded Jeffries. "It don't make any difference."

"Yes, it does," said the policeman, "I must know."

"Well, then, just tell your sergeant it was James J. Jeffries. Ever heard of him?"

At this the young woman gasped with surprise, while the policeman grinned broadly.

"Congratulations, Mr. Jeffries," he said. "You are an expert in a great many things, it seems."

Jeffries waved his hand, and then continued his walk through the park.

Without pausing to think of his danger, the pugilist had jumped forward and grasped the horse by the bridle. He was dragged several yards, but was not injured.

Hitchcock has been sore at Bryan since the latter defeated his aspirations at the death of Senator Hayward and secured the appointment of W. V. Allen. The World-Herald discovered Bryan, and backed him for Congress and the Presidency.

GOULD NEGOTIATES WITH ROCK ISLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Following a deadlock which threatened a breach of railroad harmony in the Mississippi Valley, negotiations have been resumed, according to the Herald, between George J. Gould and the Rock Island-'Frisco system for the joint use of the Iron Mountain-Texas Pacific route from Memphis to New Orleans. No contract has yet been signed, but it is asserted that the stumbling block to former negotiations, which at one time caused the announcement that the Rock Island would build an independent line to New Orleans, has been removed.

The new Gould line down the Mississippi probably will not be completed for a year. A traffic arrangement concluded a few weeks ago, between the Frisco and the Southern Railway for the use of the Mobile and Ohio, and the New Orleans and Northeastern tracks into New Orleans will not stand in the way of the completion of the contract for the use of the Iron Mountain route. The agreement with the Southern can be terminated upon the completion of the Gould line, or it can be extended to cover a long period, at the option of the 'Frisco.

MINES AND MINING

BULLION OUTPUT TO BE INCREASED.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY REPORTED IN SOUTHERN ARIZONA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 25.—Throughout Southern Arizona there is much preparation for larger bullion outputs. The Copper Queen smelter at Douglas will be in operation within a few months, and before July 1 the capacity of the Calumet smelter at the same place will have been doubled. At Globe, the three immense furnaces of the new Old Dominion plant are in place, the forty-ton electric crane has been tested and approved and the greater part of the smelting plant received on the ground. Two electric locomotives have been ordered for slag hauling.

Residents of Benson now say the proposed smelter at that place is to have 300 tons daily capacity, instead of 150, as at first planned. The company of the Phoenix and Eastern road, late in the year, is expected to open up an immense mineral field from which enormous shipments of smelting ore will be made.

Also in the year the Superior Company is expected to blow in a 100-ton copper smelter, for which ground is now being cleared. A branch railway is to be built from the Phoenix and Eastern line, near Florence, to the property of the company, in the hills about twenty miles to the northward. The Superior company already had $3,000,000 worth of copper ore blocked for stoping. The surrounding district is considered one of the richest in the territory, though little developed thus far. Adjoining the Superior claims are several owned by James C. Goodwin of Tempe, that are considered by local miners well worthy of comparison with the better developed adjoining properties.

PASADENA MAN INVESTS.

W. D. Fletcher of Pasadena has been at Florence considering the question of placing a custom smelter in that vicinity. He has purchased a site on the Phoenix and Eastern line, northeast of Florence, and it is said to have ordered machinery already. Mr. Fletcher is the owner of the Golden Quiver group, in Mineral Hill district. A branch railway, five miles in length, is to be built from the smelter site to the mines. At the terminus of the spur a tunnel will be driven to cut the ore ledge at a depth of 800 feet. The stoping plant projected will have a capacity for 100 tons of ore a day, large enough to provide room for a considerable percentage of custom ores for flux. Mr. Fletcher owns a coal property in Mohave county, on which he designs placing a concentrating plant, the concentrates to be sent to the Florence smelter for final reduction.

The little Helvetia Copper Company has taken a lease on the Helvetia mine, of 150 tons capacity. It is reported that 250,000 tons of Helvetia ore will be worked by the new company, as well as a large body of ore blocked out in the Little Helvetia claims. F. B. Clow is general manager for the new company.

The Standard Company's new tramway near Clifton is in operation, handling about ten tons of ore an hour. The company's ores are being reduced at Clifton.

ANOTHER MILL ERECTED.

A mill has been erected on the property of the Constitution and Italia Mining Association, twenty-five miles west of Hermosillo, Sonora.

The Golden Era Mining Company of Pinal county is preparing to start extensive work on its properties near the famous Easter Sunday mine. The company is said to have raised $100,000 for development.

Under the tremendous drain of the [illegible] pumps of the Tombstone Consolidated Mines Company, the water level in the old Tombstone mines is slowly sinking and the quantity of water discharged is lessening. A few weeks ago the pumps were discharging 2,500,000 gallons a day. The level is maintained with a discharge 20 per cent. less, and operations are being made for sinking the big new shaft to the 1000-foot [illegible].

There appears no doubt that the Copper Queen Company has purchased [illegible] shares of the stock of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company, paying [illegible] a share. The stock has been dropping steadily on the market, a general movement being favored by reports from the mines of bad management and expensive methods. At one time the stock was selling above $40. There has been a decided change in the management of the Yaqui Copper Company of Sonora. Willis P. Harlow has been retired as president and has been succeeded by William Saunders of Duluth, Minn. This company was one of the number boomed by W. C. Whitney, its stock being eagerly bought up on the strength of his recommendation.

AN EGG OPENER.

Clearly Cuts the Shell Without Loss of Contents.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBUS thought that he was performing a wonderful feat when he taught his companions to stand an egg on end without breaking its shell, but the average housekeeper would have much more admired a trick that would have shown her how to cleanly open an egg without spilling part of its contents.

This may seem a most insignificant matter to those who have never had the task of making pies and puddings and pastries, and those other palatable dishes which delight the taste at the table, but which perplex the maker and the baker in the kitchen. The opening of an egg is a simple enough matter, but the operation is not and cannot always be performed in a tidy and economical manner.

A Connecticut genius rises to his feet to present mankind, and more particularly womankind, with an egg opener that fills the bill. The little affair is placed surrounding the egg, the tiny spear points are forced through the shell, a slight twist is given the apparatus, and you have your egg neatly and nicely divided. None of the contents is spilt, and none of the shell falls into the egg.

To Make Meat Tender.

It must have been a conscience-stricken boarding-house keeper who was the other day granted a patent for a machine to render meat tender. Doubtless she had tired of hearing the complaints and the pointless jokes of her boarders concerning her steaks, and probably she had lost her star boarder, who, having broken all his front teeth in efforts to masticate the meat set before him, left her in sheer despair to join for all time the patrons of the dairy lunch rooms, where hot soups are procurable, and do not necessitate the use of the molars.

At any rate, such a patent was granted, and the accompanying picture shows not only its extreme simplicity, but, also, seems to indicate that it can and will do its work well. Toothed wheels, carried in a handle, are run backward and forth over the toughest meat until it has been brought to such a state that it can readily be mistaken for the most tender and the most toothsome venison.

Dry-Land Yachting.

The great number of arrangements which have been invented to amuse and entertain an amusement-loving people has been added to by a student of this subject, who has prepared for the edification and entertainment of his fellow-men a sailboat which will actually pursue the even tenor of its way on dry land.

A little yacht fully equipped with sails and all the other paraphernalia of the real water craft is mounted on a track of some considerable length, along which it is caused to run. Thus the occupants experience the sensational thrills of a real yacht trip while not endangering themselves upon the bosom of the bounding and treacherous main.

The Iceman Outdone.

A great deal has been written and a great deal has been said about the iceman, and it is generally understood that not half what is said and written would be allowed to go through the United States mails on account of its near approach to questionable literature. Most of all the hard things that have been directed at the deliverer of the daily piece of ice have been prompted by alleged short weight, and the problem of the coming summer will be how to insure getting your money's worth of the crystalized cake of water.

That there may be as little dispute over this point as possible there has been invented and patented an attachment for the refrigerator which weighs the ice as it is laid in that receptacle. When the iceman comes around and dumps the ice into the refrigerator and calls out "There's your ice," all you have to do is to look at the indicator on the outside to find that he is two pounds short. Confronting the villain with this damaging evidence, there will be no trouble in persuading him to make up the deficiency.

To Make Walking Easy.

Who has not at one time or another experienced the tortures of walking in uncomfortable shoes, and who has not more than once wondered why some growing genius did not present to suffering humanity a remedy for the many evils that do beset the feet?

What seems to be a solution of the trouble will be found in a newly-contrived shoe which has for its purpose the comfort of the wearer first, last and all the time. As will be seen by the picture the sole is so constructed that elasticity and ventilation are given with each movement of the foot. The shoe yields to the inclination of the instep in walking, and the compression and depression of the sole successively forces little draughts of air beneath the inner sole. It is said that this new shoe is highly recommended from a sanitary standpoint.

The Housewife's Friend.

A busy housewife appreciates every little contrivance that helps her to do her work quicker, while it does not detract from the thoroughness with which it would have been done had the ordinary means of performing the task been employed.

This fact makes even such a simple thing as a flour sifter an object of interest when it presents features which add to the efficiency of the user in the performance of one of the most important little duties of the kitchen—the making of the bread. The illustration clearly explains the operation of this contrivance. Ordinarily the flour is poured into the sifter, which is held in one hand, while a crank is turned with the other hand, rotating a ring within the sifter that loosens and breaks up the flour and precipitates it to the sifting screen. With the new sifter, the ring-operating mechanism is attached to the handle, and the whole operation is performed with one hand of the breadmaker.

THEY HURT THEIR TOES.

[SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

"Don't kick," says the wise man, "it hurts your toes." What a pity the men who find the execution of the laws interfering with their illegal methods of doing business did not have this wisdom before they joined issues with the President and embarked in the foolish effort to defeat him for nomination. It is reported that J. P. Morgan once asked Theodore Roosevelt whether he intended to attack Morgan's business interests by suits at law under the Sherman Act. "Are you violating any law of the United States?" Mr. Roosevelt is reported to have retorted. "If you are not you have nothing to fear. But it is my business to enforce the laws and I intend to do my duty." It is also recorded that men engaged in business which was against the laws, in Grant's time, came to him and pleaded that the laws were unjust and mischievous, and therefore should not be enforced. General Grant replied to the effect that it was not his function to make laws, nor to pass judgment on their propriety or effect, but merely to enforce laws passed by Congress and upheld by the courts. He added: "The best way to get a repeal of a bad law is to enforce it."

Clear as this sort of reasoning is, it does not appeal to the man who is breaking the law. To go on breaking the law is what he is intent on. So with the men who find the law in their way, it has been "anything to beat Roosevelt."

That reminds one of the following story told during one of the Grant campaigns:

"Old Colonel Zell, at the time when Grant was up for the Presidency and when the Democratic watchword was 'Anything to beat Grant,' was addressing an enthusiastic meeting of Comstock Republicans, when a Democrat, who was 'hanging on the verge of the crowd,' sang out: 'It's easy talking, colonel, but we'll show you something next fall.'

"The colonel was a Southern Union man of the ultra school and a great admirer of Grant. He at once wheeled about and with uplifted hands, hair bristling and eyes flashing fire, cried out: 'Build a worm fence around a winter supply of summer weather; skim the clouds from the sky with a teaspoon; catch a thunderbolt in a bladder; break a hurricane to harness; ground sluice an earthquake; bake hell in an ice house; lasso an avalanche; fix a clout on the crater of an active volcano; hive all the stars in a nail keg; hang out the ocean on a grapevine to dry; put the sky to soak on a gourd; unbuckle the belly-band of eternity, and paste "To Let" on the sun and moon, but never, sir—never for a moment delude yourself with the idea that you can beat Grant!'"

That is just about what the men who found the honesty of Roosevelt in their way seem to realize at last. After trying all sorts of ways to create an anti-Roosevelt campaign they have come to the conclusion that they might as well try to "unbuckle the belly-band of eternity." At the end of their tether they find the strenuous President so firmly entrenched in the confidence of the American people that his few enemies in Wall street are as discredited as their Democratic running mates, whose policy is the same, "Anything to beat Roosevelt," and whose efforts are just as futile. The Republican recalcitrants have exhausted themselves in trying to create a "Hanna boom," a "Taft boom," any old boom, but none of them would go. The Democrats have concentrated their efforts on the Cuban reciprocity bill, the Panama revolution, the canal treaty, and every other distinctly administration measure. The result is the same in each case. The President comes out of each attempted boom, and out of each attack, on his policy, with ever-increasing strength among the people. As the matter stands today, it looks a certainty that only one nominee will go before the Republican National Convention, and that President Roosevelt will be renominated by acclamation, and that no matter who it is on whom the Democrats may unite or disunite, he will suffer a worse defeat than Billy Bryan met twice in his contest for the Presidency. It is well known that in both those campaigns, William McKinley received hundreds of thousands of Democratic votes. It is probable that in California 20,000 Democrats voted twice for McKinley. As matters look today here and elsewhere, even larger numbers of Democrats will vote for Roosevelt. Hereabouts the Democratic admirers of the President's honesty of purpose and straightforward ways of doing things, are open in their declaration that if the Republican malcontents, by any chance, should succeed in beating Roosevelt for nomination, they would be glad to see the Democratic Convention nominate him and they add: "He would be elected."

Let the heathen therefore rage, and booms continue to swell and collapse. The people, the great mass of honest citizens who believe the laws ought to be enforced, and who think American interests should be maintained, wherever they exist, are for Roosevelt before any other citizen in the Republic and they will see to it that no combination of unlawfully acquired wealth, of machine politicians or of unpatriotic opposers of American interests abroad, will avail to defeat his nomination and election.

Famous Murderess.

The famous trial of Gabrielle Bompard, and a man named Eyraud for the murder of a bailiff by strangulation has been recalled in a strange fashion. Gabrielle Bompard and Eyraud escaped to America, where they were captured. Eyraud was guillotined in Paris, Gabrielle Bompard pleaded that she committed the crime under the hypnotic influence of Eyraud. She was sentenced to penal servitude, but was released a few months ago.

Her counsel recently arranged with Prof. Siegcois to hypnotize her to prove that her unsuccessful plea in regard to hypnotism was true. The professor placed her in a hypnotic state and recalled her mind to the day immediately preceding the crime. The woman then lived the crime over again with fearful realism and displayed the greatest mental torture. She showed how she had been quarreling with Eyraud about the subject, and had refused again and again to assist his murderous scheme. She pleaded, shrieked and coaxed in vain. Then it was evident that Eyraud had sprang at her throat.

"Oh, he is strangling me," she cried, writhing in imaginary pain. "Let me go. I'll bring him; you are killing me."

Then she enacted the scene of the muder, and showed how, left all night with the corpse, she was about to commit suicide. She also described the flight to America.

The sight of the writhing, struggling woman enacting the scene of horror, both before and after the crime, was startling and weird. Photographers took snapshots of her throughout, and stenographers reported her words verbatim. When aroused from her trance Gabrielle Bompard showed no trace of the severe ordeal, and recollected nothing.

Prof. Siegcois is convinced that she was forced to participate in the crime in a hypnotic state, and says he never met so easy a subject. He will make a report to the Academy of Medicine.—[Paris Correspondent New York Sun.

THEY SAID.

The farmer saw his thrifty field
Of growing wheat and chuckled low,
At thought on all its promised yield,
And what the harvesting would show;
"I'll git th' highest market price,
Then use some tips 'bout which I've read,
An' if wheat's cornered take a slice,"
And that is what the farmer said.

The miller heard with cautious grin
Of elevators overflowed,
Then plugged the weights so he could win
Some hundred pounds on every load;
"I'll shade th' toll an' mix th' grade,
An' fix the rates so I'm ahead,
Then try some deals that might be played,"
And that is what the miller said.

The baker mixed his flour and yeast,
Then turned his dough into the pan,
And pondered why his debts increased,
Why he was not a wealthy man.
"I'll mold my loaves a little short,
Jest save a trifle on th' bread,
Then with them margins have some sport,"
And that's what the broker said.

The broker advertised hi. scheme,
A get-rich-quick that could not lose,
Used printer's ink upon his theme
That it was scandal to refuse;
"I'll work quotations weak and strong,
The way the innocent are led,
Then buy them short and sell them long,"
And thatis what the broker said.

The farmer, baker, miller, all
Had saved their piles, and then they passed
Them to the broker at his call,
Which grew more frequent at the last;
Their savings went, their business, too;
"Like lambs at slaughter we are bled,
The broker robbed us of our due"
And that is what the suckers said.

ENLARGE THE AUTHORITY.

The question that was brought forward during the examination of the detectives concerned in the Choissers killing, as to the authority of those officers to arrest the fugitives on a telegraphic order from an officer in another State, gives emphasis to the undoubted need for amending the laws so as to enlarge the authority of peace officers in cases of this kind, and to leave no doubt whatever as to the rightful authority of officers in the premises. It is clearly in the interests of society, of good government, of law-enforcement, and of the public weal, to clothe peace officers with all needful authority in the performance of their duties. At the best, their duties are disagreeable enough, and hazardous enough, without holding back from them any of the just powers with which they should be clothed, and which they have an unquestionable right to demand, in order that they may have full and unchallenged warrant for the acts which they must necessarily perform if they perform their duties with the thoroughness required of all efficient officers when acting under orders.

Maj. M. T. Owens of Whittier, who was the predecessor of Justice Chambers on the bench of Department Two of the City Justice Court (and who, by the way, heartily commends and indorses Justice Chambers's decision in the Choisser case,) makes a suggestion which ought to be carried to a practical conclusion at the next session of the Legislature. He believes, as do all law-abiding and law-respecting citizens, that police officers should have the fullest protection of the law in the discharge of their duties. To this end he suggests that a law should be enacted at the next session of the Legislature, authorizing officers to make arrests of fugitives from other States on telegraphic warrants, the same as can now be done in the case of fugitives from one county to another within the State.

Clearly, such action ought to be taken by the Legislature if, as it seems, there is some question as to the authority conferred upon arresting officers by the law as it stands at present. And not alone the California Legislature, but the Legislatures of all the States in the Union, should take such action as may be necessary, under the law, to clothe all officers making arrests with the fullest possible authority for taking such steps as are requisite to the full and efficient performance of their duty; also to protect them to the fullest extent in the performance of their duties.

The laws of the land are enacted for the protection of the law-abiding, not for shielding the lawbreaker. When the laws are administered so as to protect the criminal in his wrongdoing, they are perverted from their legitimate function, and are made the instrument of wrong instead of being, as they should be, the agent and the minister of right. When an officer is sent out to make an arrest, a duty always unpleasant and frequently extra-hazardous, he should go with the full assurance that he has back of him the moral support of the community and the full sanction of the law. Otherwise his courage will be impaired and his efficiency lessened. The danger that injustice may be done through unwarranted arrests is trifling as compared to the danger that criminals will escape by reason of withholding from arresting officers the authority to which they are justly entitled if they are to be required to perform their duties unflinchingly.

The man who is loaded up with Steel common is probably feeling the drouth quite as much as are those of us who dwell in Southern California.

A STAND AGAINST VIOLENCE.

As an indication of the revulsion of public sentiment against the excesses of trade-unionism as it is at present misdirected, the resolutions adopted at a meeting of the Citizens' Industrial Association of St. Louis are significant. The association is composed of employers, merchants and citizens generally who have become tired of the attempted tyrannies of unionism. The resolutions tender a vote of thanks to Gov. Dockery, the Board of Police Commissioners, Chief of Police Kiely, and the police force of the city for the prompt and determined stand taken by those officials for the prevention of violence during the strike of the Hackmen's and Carriage Drivers' Union. The resolutions further declare that the prompt action of the authorities meets with the approval of law-abiding citizens generally, and that "the action of the drivers' union and the Central Trades and Labor Union, in denouncing these officials at a joint meeting last week savors of lawlessness."

It is indeed a hopeful indication when law-obeying citizens thus come forward, unitedly declare themselves in favor of law-enforcement, and lend moral support to public officials who are not afraid to do their duty. There was a time (and it was not so very long ago,) when the excesses of trade-unionism were treated with a great deal of public tolerance. The hypocritical and false claim that these organizations were engaged in an effort "to elevate labor" was mistakenly given credence by a large number of well-meaning citizens. But the eyes of the public have been opened, and the fact is now very generally recognized that "organized labor" cares nothing for the cause of labor in the abstract, but seeks its own advantage at the expense of the great majority of workingmen who are not organized, and at the expense, also, of the general public—which is the principal sufferer in the end.

The knowledge of these facts, in conjunction with the manifold crimes of organized unionism, has served to alienate public sentiment from the unions. They are steadily losing that which is of more value to them than anything else—the tolerant sympathy of the public. Unless these organizations make some radical changes in their methods and policies, they must expect to see public sentiment arrayed more and more solidly against them, and this will ultimately prove their undoing.

In a sermon recently delivered by Rev. Dr. John M. Driver of Chicago, the reverend gentleman well and truly said:

"To the labor organizations this has been a year of disaster; and let it be said frankly, though kindly, disasters which they have wantonly and recklessly brought upon themselves. Entirely apart from the question of wages, hours, alleged maltreatment (for these have been secondary matters during the past twelve months,) the labor organizations have been clearly in the wrong, both in conduct and in the main contention.

"For, stripped of all fustian, every conflict of the past year has been waged to secure control of capital and manufacturing plants that do not belong to them, and to accomplish this usurpation they have defied law, inalienable rights, and even the common sanctities of sorrow and affliction, held sacred by savage tribes and barbarians. We have been compelled to bury our dead by stealth, lest their hallowed ashes be treated with contempt or even violence, or else postpone their interment indefinitely.

"As a result of this course organized labor is today in deepest disrepute. The time was when this cause was of all the most sacred; today it is the most universally condemned. It has defied the law; it has provoked riot and sedition; it has set at naught the inalienable rights of citizens; it has aided and abetted the destruction of property; it has been anarchistic in both utterance and attitude towards law and its officers; its hands are stained as were the hands of Cain; it has turned ghoul and vampire, sparing not even the dead."

This is strong language; but, unfortunately for labor unionism, the charges brought against it by Rev. Dr. Driver are true in every particular. Men who are guilty of such offenses need not expect to escape public condemnation.

The Citizens' Industrial Association of St. Louis has spoken in commendation of the authorities for taking prompt stand against acts of violence on the part of the striking hack and carriage drivers in that city. Which is further evidence that the people of the country are swinging into line behind the eternal principle that every man must be given the right to labor without molestation, and without compulsory membership in some sort of a proscriptive organization.

ROAD RUNNERS.

As an evidence of the growing popularity and importance of the automobile in this section, there is being published in Los Angeles quite a pretentious monthly magazine, devoted entirely to automobiling. In this connection, it is interesting to note that Los Angeles, which excels other American cities in so many other things, is also said to have more automobiles in proportion to population than any other city in the country.

While the automobile has not yet come near to displacing horses from the streets, as some enthusiastic automobilists were ready, a few years ago, to predict would by this time be the case, yet they have certainly made very appreciable inroads on the number of horses employed, and they are becoming from day to day more common objects on our streets. There are several causes that prevent the multiplication of automobiles from being still more rapid. In the first place, they are quite expensive, the higher class vehicles being altogether beyond the reach of a person of moderate means. Nor are they so inexpensive to maintain as some people suppose. There is a constant succession of minor repairs, new tires, and so forth, which, with the fuel, will come near equalling the cost of keeping a horse, even when alfalfa is worth a cent a pound. To this should properly be added a large percentage of the cost, to cover depreciation in value, for the life of an automobile is quite a short one. Again, while much has been done to simplify the machines, still they have a vexing way of getting out of order just at the wrong time and place. It is still altogether too common a sight to see some disgusted-looking man crouching down beneath his refractory machine, while a crowd of onlookers favor him with their sympathy or sarcasm, as the case may be.

Perhaps, if that new storage battery of Edison's turns out to be all that is claimed for it, it may do much to further popularize the auto, and greatly increase the number in use. At present, the factories appear to be away behind with their orders and unable to supply the demand. It seems that the independent manufacturers are threatened with being put out of business by what is known as the Licensed Association, which owns, among a number of other patents, that known as the Selden patent. This, it is claimed, covers the making of an automobile, as a whole. A suit is now pending against a motor company of Detroit, but the independent manufacturers do not appear to be at all alarmed over the situation. It is a difficult thing to enforce such a broad and comprehensive patent as this.

Some local road records, published in the magazine above referred to, are as follows: Los Angeles to Bakersfield, 150 miles, 14 hours; to Santa Barbara, 105 miles, 6 hours 45 minutes; to Riverside, 68 miles, 3 hours 20 minutes; to Pomona, 32 miles, 1 hour 24 minutes; to San Diego (inland) 170 miles, 13 hours; to Redlands, 80 miles, 3 hours 45 minutes. These times include all stops. Considering the usually indifferent condition of the roads in Southern California, they are not bad records.

One good thing that is likely to be accomplished through the interest now taken in automobiling is a much-needed improvement of the roads in this country. There is pending in Congress a bill called the Brownlow bill, introduced by Hon. Walter P. Brownlow of Tennessee, which appropriates $24,000,000 as national aid for the building of wagon roads. This sum is to be available at the rate of $8,000,000 a year, and is to be divided according to the population of the different States, but no State is to receive less than $250,000. Every State receiving national aid must appropriate and spend a like amount.

The automobilists are, of course, warmly in favor of this measure. Those residing in California may also be relied upon to give strong support to the Camino Real proposition, which would furnish a good road from San Diego to San Francisco, on which would undoubtedly be built comfortable inns, at convenient points. At present the local automobilists are planning for a first-class speedway, from Los Angeles to the beach resort of Playa del Rey, which will run most of the distance over a private right of way. It is expected that work on this improvement will begin within a few months. The local automobilists may also accomplish much good by urging upon the various Boards of Supervisors the desirability of having all the principal roads thoroughly oiled, in a systematic and scientific manner, so as to abate the only serious drawback to summer—and sometimes, as in this season, winter—travel in Southern California, namely, the omnipresent dust.

Reports come from Germany that a genius of that country has invented a combined gas, water and electric meter which states the amount due for either commodity at any hour of the day or night by simply turning a lever. But the dispatch telling of this important device fails to say whether it will continue to operate right along when the family is away at the beach the same as is charged by some irate consumers against the ordinary meter now in use throughout the United States. Those foreign news disseminators ought to be more explicit and comprehensive in their dispatches.

Japan's peace party is discouraged, which is unfortunate. A party which has as its object the maintenance of peace ought never to become weary or discouraged, for there is too little peace in the world and too small membership in peace parties. The incessant strife that is on between nations with interests to maintain, between corporations making battle in the field of competition, and between individuals wherein one man is reaching out to get the better of his neighbor ought to have an antidote, as it were, in the organization of all sorts of peace parties. It is to be hoped that Japan's peace party will not weary in well doing, but will continue to stand up for a preservation of good relations between that country and Russia to the good of humanity in general. As The Times has taken frequent occasion to suggest, the world ought, by this time, to have learned that there is a better way to settle disputes, whether they be international or individual, than by shooting the human creature full of holes, burning his home, destroying his cities and devastating his fertile fields. It is about time that the brotherhood of man were having its innings the world over.

According to a Washington dispatch, the effort to bring about a rupture of relations between the President and Senator Hanna of Ohio has not only failed, but is to stay failed. Such being the case, the preparations for the election of Roosevelt to succeed himself will be continued without interruption or material change of programme.

Pasadena has definitely decided to make the Tournament of Roses a continuous show, counting from year to year, of course. A most wise decision. Pasadena's delightful carnival is a stupendous advertisement for that charming suburb and for all Southern California. The Times presents its hearty felicitations.

Movements looking to the sanitation of the national Capitol at Washington are being considered. Should sanitation improve the condition of Senator Tillman, for example, the expense, no matter what the figure, will not be begrudged by the people who pay the bills.

Such decisions as the one rendered the other day in the court of Justice Chambers in Los Angeles help to clear the atmosphere of lawlessness. And there has been a fogginess in that regard for some time past which was discouraging, even though the knowledge was general that it couldn't last.

According to the Weather Bureau, the recent shower was not of sufficient consequence to sprout seed or put the ground in condition for plowing. But let us not be ungrateful, it was a dandy for laying the dust for a few consecutive minutes.

Mr. Bryan declares that he is a private citizen and is showing a tendency to agree with the rest of the country that he is likely to remain such. It is always well to have matters unanimous, or as nearly so as possible.

The need of a union railway station is perhaps not quite so distinctly marked in a dry season as during a wet one, but then it will probably rain by the time a station can be constructed, so why not commence operations?

It is at such a time as this that people who are dwellers in an artesian belt may be excused for putting on airs over their fellow-mortals who have to depend upon showers for fodder for the live stock.

Mr. Bryan has the stage, as Mr. Cleveland suggests, and there are enough passengers aboard to insure another mix-up in the waters of Salt River when the conveyance is dumped over the bank.

Now that it has been shown that the construction and operation of smelters are effective in warding off Patti farewells, we may anticipate a great boom in the smelter business in all parts of the world.

Just what the police of Los Angeles will do next to draw the fire of yellow journalism remains to be seen.

HE'S "ONTO" THEM.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

BROADWAY. There is an impersonator named Howard at the Broadway Theater this week who has evidently been a close observer of the subtleties of women's hair dressing. Among other things, Howard gives a clever imitation of My Lady's half hour before her glass in the morning. Watching his hands, you presently begin to look for the long and heavy braid of hair that he is combing; likewise you seem to catch the glint of the hairpins, and admire the beauty of the pompadour effect when he gets it all nicely coiled up on the top of his head. But it's all a piece of neat acting; he hasn't hardly any hair at all, much less enough to do such tricks with.

Little Conny Ray, a tiny flaxen-haired dancer, is another prime favorite. She is just a little mite, with blue eyes and supple little limbs that stand her in excellent stead. She is "supported"—she is a star, of course—by papa and mamma, who do not shine at all beside her.

Neola, comedy juggler, has the standard tricks of the business well learned. Besides there is Clinton Montgomery, in illustrated songs; Oro and Oro in a new sketch, and Somers and Winters, German dialect comedians. Moving pictures complete the bill.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Italian Band.

The first evening concert of Ellery's Band at the Chutes, given last night, was an emphatic success—both as to music and audience. The latter numbered about seven hundred people, a numerous delegation of musicians, both amateur and professional, being among the listeners.

The band numbers arousing the most applause were the "Lucia" chorus and sextette, and the thrilling ballet music from "La Gioconda," ending with the galop.

Miss Lillian Scanlon, contralto, was soloist, singing two songs, with her usual encores. Signori Decimo and Donatelli, with soprano and alto clarinets, received an ovation for an artistically-rendered duet. Another interesting feature was the saxophone quartette.

The band gives an open-air concert at the Chutes this afternoon, and next Sunday night will play for the first time Thomas's brilliant "Raymonde" overture, and a magnificent arrangement of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Jahn Pupils' Recital.

Pupils of Julius Albert Jahn, assisted by the teacher himself, gave an enjoyable recital last evening at Simpson Auditorium. There was a good-sized audience present, and the young performers received applause, flowers—and more flowers.

The complete programme was as follows:

Work of the Cigarette.

Gen. Lyttleton, commander of British army in South Africa, declares that the cigarette habit is playing havoc in the army, and that unless something is done soon to check it Great Britain will be defended by a collection of weak-minded and weak-bodied youths, capable of no resistance of any kind." At the present time South Africa is a great training school for raw recruits from home of whom it is intended to make competent British soldiers. But one of the officers declares that it will require three years of feeding and training to bring some of the recruits up to the point where they can do a day's work without breaking down. The case seems to be that thousands of young men, who by self-indulgence have made themselves unfit for doing any other kind of work have enlisted in the army, under the impression that they would have an easy time. The habits about which complaint is made were contracted before in the army, but before enlisting. This gives rise to an inquiry why such recruits were accepted. Probably the answer is that they were the only ones who presented themselves. "The present disposition of many of these recruits," says one of the commanding officers, "seems to be to hunt some place and lie down for a rest."—[Boston Herald.

GREATEST DECEMBER RECORD.

The advertising in the Times for December, 1903, has exceeded in volume (March excepted,) any previous month in the year, and the end of December closes the most prosperous year in both circulation and advertising in the history of this journal. For the purpose of showing the exact increase in the volume of advertising for December, 1903, over the same month of 1902, the figures for each day of both Decembers are here presented:

Totals	2,115	6	Totals	2,373	11
Gain	245	10

The gain of 245 columns for the month, or more than a page for each day, amounts to nearly 10 per cent.

According to reports compiled and printed by The Times frequently during the year, which have shown the relative amount of advertising printed by the leading journals of the country from month to month, no paper in the whole United States has equaled the record of The Times for any month of the year 1903 up to and including November.

December,	1902	2,373
January,	1903	3,042
February,	"	2,748
March,	"	3,714
April,	"	2,979

October,	"	2,978
November,	"	3,107
December,	"	3,118

CIRCULATION.

The average circulation of the Times for every day of December was 37,746 copies, as against 32,651 for December 1902, showing an average daily gain of 5095 copies, or about 15 per cent.

The circulation for each month of the year has shown a substantial increase over the corresponding month of the succeeding year.

The impotent liars and industrial assassins who for thirteen years have resorted to every conceivable form of infamy in their endeavor to injure the business of The Times are welcome to all of the comfort obtainable from the above figures. Neither misrepresentation, abuse, nor the boastful shouting of newspaper braggarts can deprive The Times of the constant patronage of an independent and discriminating people.

The Los Angeles Council of Labor and other conspirators, both far and near, will please take notice.

NEW EXCHANGE STARTS TODAY.

PRODUCE MEN TO OPEN HOUSE TO MANY GUESTS.

Large Number of Commercial Visitors Will be Served With California Figs Imported Cheeses and Persian Dates.

The new rooms of the Produce Exchange, located at No. 360 South Los Angeles street, will be formally opened this afternoon, although they have been in use for some of the purposes of the exchange for some time.

It is said that it will be the largest function of its kind ever given in Los Angeles—openings of the Merchants and Manufacturers' rooms or the Chamber of Commerce being considered as public enterprises. More than 400 invitations have been issued, and a large number of acceptances have been received. Those present will represent commercially successful Los Angeles.

There will be plenty of refreshments of a most unusual kind. Persian dates will be served in the imported boxes, with many little forks stuck invitingly into the fruit; the finest of imported Swiss cheeses, brought especially for this occasion, will be washed down with an unlimited quantity of good punch, and lastly, fresh boxes of the best California figs will be open. There will be no stinting of the supply. As H. J. Rodman says: "We are showing off our specialties, and we've got two carloads of these provisions just around the corner in our various wholesale houses."

Yesterday work was finished on the installment of the largest blackboard in any produce call room on the Pacific Coast. The rooms of the exchange are beautifully decorated, fishnet being draped on all the walls, in the meshes of which are stuck flags of all nations. They are genuine silk flags, too—no bunting.

Formal ceremonies will begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Gen. John R. Matthews, president of the exchange, being in charge. There will be a few informal remarks by men prominent in the business world, and a general inspection of the call room, directors' room, and the executive offices. It is expected that the call room will be in actual use Monday morning.

PORCH CLIMBER WORKING.

Professional Burglar Enters South Figueroa Street Residence and Ransacks Second Floor.

The residence of A. C. Price, No. 1924 South Figueroa street, was entered by a burglar, evidently a professional, last night, and the entire upper floor was ransacked. The thief not only was an expert porch climber, but he effected an entrance to the door of the upstairs porch with nippers. The members of the family were at dinner at the time, and heard nothing.

Once inside the residence, the thief must have remained there half an hour or more. He secured a gold watch, chain, locket and ring and two gold pins, the value of the property being about $100.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN, The Leading Specialist.

I Never Guess,

EXPERIMENT OR TAKE CHANCES OF ANY SORT. I attempt to cure only those diseases that I have been studying for the past seventeen years, and I believe that I am justified in saying that I have learned all about them. Were I clairvoyant in knowledge pertaining to my specialty I would never have attained my present success, nor would I today be recognized as the leading specialist treating men's diseases. If after examination you can depend upon it that no effort I offer you in the service you need, and the service such as can be rendered by no other physician.

My Fees Are Fair; My Cures Are Permanent, and You Can Pay When Satisfied That You Are Well.

Men's Diseases Only.

THE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT OF "WEAKNESS"

DOSING THE SYSTEM WITH POWerful stimulants and tonics in an effort to restore functional vigor can have but one final result: The condition is rendered worse than before. "Weakness" is merely an indication of a low form of inflammation of the prostrate gland and this inflammation is but aggravated by stimulating remedies that excite temporary activity. I employ the only scientific and fully effective treatment for "weakness," which effects a permanent cure by restoring the prostate gland to a sound and healthy state. I obtain complete results in every case I treat.

THE SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT OF VARICOCELE

TO ATTEMPT TO CURE VARICOcele by cutting away the affected blood vessels is vicious. I cure varicocele without surgery and without the use of cutting. My cures are positive and permanent in every instance, and are effected in a few days' time. No pain, no hospital expense, and seldom is it necessary that the patient be detained from his business.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS QUICKLY CURED

UNDER MY ORIGINAL SYSTEM OF treatment these troublesome ailments are thoroughly cured in about half the usual time required. This is important, because it removes the danger of chronic inflammation being established in the prostate gland. Do not take it for granted upon it that any form I offer you is the service you need, and the service such as can be rendered by no other physician.

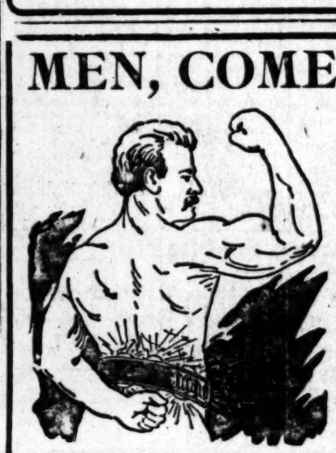
Stricture, Piles, Skin and Kidney Diseases, Lost Strength, Hydrocele, Organic Weakness, etc., are also among the diseases I cure to stay cured.

Consult me free of charge, either in person at my office or by mail. My pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man," mailed free, and so is Medical Chart.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN,

Office Hours: Week days, 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and evenings 7 to 8. Sundays, 10 to 12 only.

MEN, COME TO ME.



IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT, I can cure you with my Electric Belt. If you are weak, I can make you strong. If you are full of rheumatism, I can knock it out of your joints and limber them up. I have cured many of your friends and neighbors right here in the same house, and I prove it every day.

Mr. Geo. M. Curtis, Livingston, Cal., writes: "I suffered with chronic lame back for years. I am pleased to say that after three months' use of your Belt I am completely cured and as well as I ever was.

If it were not for the prejudice due to the great number of fakes in the land, I would not be able to handle the business that would come to me. The "Free belt" fraud and the "Free drug" scheme, which are not free at all, have made every one skeptical, but I know that I have a good thing, and I'll hammer away until you know it.

One thing every man ought to know is this: Your body is a machine. It is run by the steam in your blood and nerves. When you begin to break down in any way you are out of steam. That's just what I want to give you back.

Mr. H. A. Powers, 645 South Main st., Los Angeles, Cal., writes: I suffered intensely from very severe lumbago. Plasters and medicine afforded no relief. After using your Belt for nine days my pains were gone and I have been free from suffering ever since.

I have a cure in every town. Tell me where you live and I will give you the name of a man I've cured.

Tell me your trouble and I will tell you honestly whether I can cure you or not. If I can't cure you, I don't want your money. I have been in this business twenty-two years, and am the biggest man in it today, by long odds. And I am growing yet, because I give every man all he pays for.

Now wouldn't you rather wear my Electric Belt while you sleep every night and feel its glowing warmth pouring into you, and feel yourself taking on a new lease of life, with such application, than to clog your intestines up with a lot of nause

RYAN'S GORE COMES FORTH.

He is All But Put Out by Jack O'Brien.

Fierce Six-round Contest Ends in Draw.

Athletic Women Plan Clubhouse—Eddie Hanlon.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—Jack O'Brien and Tommy Ryan fought one of the fastest six-round "goes" ever seen in this city, tonight, and the Philadelphian had a slight advantage. O'Brien clearly outfought Ryan in the first four rounds, and in the fifth dropped him with a hard blow to the jaw. Ryan took the count of eight and came up groggy. He saved himself by clinching until he had regained his bearings. A moment later Ryan drove a vicious left to O'Brien's stomach which brought the Philadelphian to his knees. Ryan seemed to regain his wind as the round progressed, and landed repeatedly on O'Brien's stomach with vicious lefts. It was only the gong that saved O'Brien from being knocked out. In the sixth round honors were about even, both men having received severe punishment.

When the end of the fight came both men were in very bad shape. Near the close of the fifth round, while O'Brien was on the floor, one of the seconds threw a spongeful of water on him. Many persons were of the opinion that this ended the fight, but the referee said no.

The men agreed to meet here in a six-round bout for a $5000 purse, split equally, and under the laws governing boxing in Philadelphia no decision can be given. Under these conditions, however, each man was careful and conscientious with his training, as if he were going twenty rounds to a decision for the championship. O'Brien and Ryan weighed in at 6 p.m. The beam was placed at 160, but neither man budged it. O'Brien came into the ring at 10:17 o'clock, accompanied by his seconds. He was given a tremendous ovation.

Ryan came into the ring at 10:21 o'clock. He was also given a great reception. In O'Brien's corner were "Kid McCoy," Joe Hagan and Billy Delaney while Hugo Kelly, "Spike" Sullivan, Frank Barthy and R. Ferriti attended to Ryan. It was 10:25 o'clock when Referee Crow first called the men to the center of the ring for instructions. A moment later the gong sounded, and the battle was on.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

First round—O'Brien landed a right over the heart. He landed a light left on Ryan's head and repeated it again a moment later. The men then rushed to a clinch. O'Brien landed a hard uppercut on Ryan's chin and landed a left hook on the jaw not a moment later. He then drove another left to Ryan's face without an exchange. Ryan had not led once. O'Brien forced Ryan around the ring, and his footwork seemed to mystify Ryan. The men were clinched at the bell. This was clearly O'Brien's round.

Second round—O'Brien rushed, and landed a left hook on Ryan's jaw. O'Brien then drove a hard right to Ryan's stomach. The footwork of the men was marvelous. O'Brien rushed Ryan, and Ryan slipped and fell, but was up in a moment. O'Brien rushed Ryan into a neutral corner and sent a left straight to the nose. Ryan led with left, but fell short, and O'Brien drove a hard left to the face. O'Brien landed left straight on the nose and got away without a return. O'Brien then cut Ryan's left eye with a right drive, and got away without a return. It was first blood for O'Brien. The men rushed to a clinch as the gong sounded. Again this was clearly O'Brien's round.

Sixth round—Both men came to the center slowly. Ryan landed a left on O'Brien's face and then sent a right to the stomach, but failed to land. The men rushed to a clinch. O'Brien uppercut with a right, and then landed a left to the nose. O'Brien landed a right straight to the jaw and Ryan clinched. O'Brien landed a hard uppercut and then broke ground. Ryan landed a left on O'Brien's wind and the latter landed a straight right on the jaw. O'Brien landed an uppercut with a right, and then landed with a straight right on Ryan's jaw. Both were fighting hard. O'Brien drove the right to the jaw and Ryan put a left to the stomach. O'Brien missed a left and the men clinched. Ryan led for the stomach, but missed, and the gong ended the battle.

HANLON THE FAVORITE.

ODDS PUT AT 10 TO 5.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Local sporting men have made Eddie Hanlon a 10-to-5 favorite in the betting in Friday night's battle with "Kid" Broad. There has not been much money handled on the fight so far, but this evening will start the ball rolling, and Hanlon may still hold the big lead in the odds, or drop back a few pegs. It seems like big odds to offer against a man who has beaten Corbett, Callahan and numerous other good men, besides fighting even with other cracks of his class.

"Kid" worked out before a large crowd at Sheehan's this afternoon. He went through the usual exercises taken by a boxer preparing for a hard battle, and the way he went about his work caused favorable comment. No one can excuse him of having poor wind. He can wallop a bag until the echoes drown the rear of the surf against the shore, and then discuss his past battles.

Hanlon is reported to be in fine shape and eager to prove to his many friends that defeat has not set him back. If Eddie wins, he intends journeying to the East and meeting the best men in his class.

GOTHAM'S ATHLETIC WOMEN.

PLANNING A CLUBHOUSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Athletic women in society are about to put into operation plans for a clubhouse of which they have talked for a year. The New York Athletic Club will be incorporated in a few days, and the land has been bought for the site of a clubhouse. The subscribers are the husbands, brothers and fathers of the women interested in the project, which will cost about $250,000. An option has been obtained on property in Madison avenue, and as soon as the bargain is closed, building operations will begin.

The building will probably be five or six stories high. It will retain three courts, a fully-equipped gymnasium, with running track, a complete Turkish bath establishment, with swimming pool, reading-room, grillroom and bedrooms for the accommodation of out-of-town members.

The membership of the club is to be restricted to 500, including non-residents. A list of the organizers includes the names of the leading women in society here. While the main object of the club is to provide facilities for athletes, there will be a social side for those who do not care to develop their muscles.

The semi-annual closing exercises of the physical-culture classes of the Turnverein Germania will be held in Turner Hall on South Main street this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The object is to illustrate the system and the progress made by the pupils.

The programme this afternoon will consist of calisthenics, climbing, jumping, tactics, exercises on the rings and with wands and dumb bells for girls and boys of from six to twelve years of age. Tomorrow's programme will consist of practically the same kind of exercises for children from eight to sixteen years of age.

BICYCLING.

WHEELER WAS THIRD.

The latest news from the Century Road Club of America shows that Harry Hall and Charles Shoenart of New York rode the first centuries on bicycles during the present year, and Henry Wheeler of Pomona made the third. Hall made his 100 miles over frozen roads on Long Island in twelve hours and Wheeler covered his in nine hours and five minutes. Wheeler started out in the attempt to make 200 miles in thirty-six hours and was not trying for a single century or would have made better time.

DROVE IN WASWIFT IN THE HANDICAP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Waswift took the mile handicap which was the feature at Oakland today, and ran the distance in 1:39. A field of four met in the event, with Gold Money a 1-to-2 favorite. Waswift received strong support. Hildebrand sent him to the front, and although Gold Money made a strong bid, he outgamed her and won in a drive by a length. The first race resulted in a close finish, three horses being heads apart. Lady Wadsworth, the heavily-played favorite, secured the decision. Summary:

Seven furlongs, selling: Lady Wadsworth, 102 (J. Martin,) 9 to 5, won; Isabelitta, 92 (Hildebrand,) 18 to 5, second; Billy Moore, 104 (Bell,) 20 to 1, third; time 1:27. STEMWINDER WINDS 'EM UP.

Snaps Track Record and Also Beats Good Field.

"Pittsburg Phil" Hit Race for Eight Hundred.

Four Events Were of the Hair-raising Kind.

"Pittsburgh Phil" yesterday won enough on one race to at least pay his expenses for a month and have several dollars left to buy candy with. There were others in on the same thing and "Pittsburgh's" race, so called, was one of them on which the books did not lay up any money for the next year's rain if it should happen to come.

STEMWINDER WINDS 'EM.

This was in the purse race over the Slauson course, and Stemwinder not only won the event in a gallop, but broke the track record for the distance. Last Thursday he lowered the track record from 1:10⅘ to 1:10⅘, and yesterday he picked up practically the same weight and gave a beating to a much better field by three lengths in 1:10 flat. Blissful, Golden Rule, Americano and M. F. Tarpey were behind him, and he ran rings all around these from the time the barrier went up. It was all over after the start, except cashing the tickets, and the longer he ran the farther he left his field behind him.

This was by far the best race of the day, for it had the ablest sprinters at the track in it, and the record went glimmering. Golden Rule was made the favorite, but with 125 pounds on him on a track he does not like it was impossible for this crack to show himself and the best he could do at any time was third. This blow was enough to kill half the fathers and mothers in Christendom, for the average sports did unto Golden Rule what they expected him to do unto them. The books didn't think Stemwinder was very sweet for, although there was a bucket of wise money dumped in on the key horse, all of them took it and wanted more, apparently, for they wouldn't rub Stemwinder. Pittsburgh's nephew, Mr. Gill, quietly slipped up to George Rose's book and carelessly bought $200 of Stemwinder at 4 to 1, and then wanted some more sliced at the same figure. Rose took $200, but said "not for me." Other wise ones bit off some of Stemwinder in other books, and as a result none of the blockers saved anything on the race. There was nothing to it after the start, for Stemwinder went at once to the front, and ran the others into the ground around the back stretch. At the last turn Feicht gave him his head and he jumped away from them as if he had just started, leading two lengths into the stretch and three at the finish. Blissful was always second and easily leaped away from Golden Rule in the stretch.

Another easy victory was that of Pat Bulger in the fifth race, and he dropped into one of the easiest things in his life. He had a fairly good field to beat, and he did it easily, after indulging Golden Boy with the lead into the stretch. There the Boy stopped cold. Pat shot by him as if he was a meteor, and the favorite Sals also gave him the go-by and thus they finished.

FOUR CLOSE FINISHES.

All the other finishes were of the hair-raising order, three races being won by a head, and the other by a neck, and three of them going to the favorites. The first favorite was Ruquero in the second race, coupled with Belladama at 2 to 1, and after leading all the way from Ben Heywood the Baldwin horse responded gamely on a hard drive in the stretch and beat Ben a head. Both Flea and Lauretta Phillips were well liked, but were never dangerous, both getting a bad start.

The next favorite came in the next race in C. B. Campbell at 7 to 10, but had to be ridden to the limit at the finish to stall off a determined bid made by Feicht on Celebration. The furrah horse might have won had he not been taken back so far, for when he made his stretch run he just finished out of first place. The second favorite, Diamante, was slow to begin but came fast through the stretch. Blue Miracle had all the speed for three parts of the distance and then quit.

Mexicanna had about the same experience in the last race, and, although the favorite and leading into the stretch by a length, had to be hurried to beat out the fast-coming Phyz. This one was not ridden the best ever and might have won with better handling. Dollie Wiethoff showed in front halfway across, but couldn't keep up.

ONE OUTSIDER WINS.

The only outsider that won was Rosebud at 12 to 1 in the first race, and she outgamed the leader, MacFlecknoe in the stretch and won by a head from Hilary, who came with a great rush. The favorite, Pat Hammon, was off badly, and had a hard time getting through the field. Foxy Grandpa had the same trouble as Pat, and raced along with him all the way.

BILLIARDS.

THREE-CUSHION MATCH.

An interesting session of three-cushions was held last night at Henry Berry's rooms at the Hoffman, on South Spring street, in a friendly match between Sigourney and Chick Wright on one team and W. A. Spinks and Henry Berry on the other. They played for thirty points and after an exciting contest Spinks and Berry won by a score of 30 to 24. The crowd of spectators that watched the game saw a number of what was said to be the best three-cushion shots ever made on the Coast. The big feature was a run of twelve by Spinks, and this is said to his knowledge no player in this country has ever beaten that. Sigourney made six for a high run, and this is even considered remarkable. Those who know something about three-cushion billiards will understand what good playing is summed up in these runs.

SEYMOUR WINS.

Seymour of this city beat Dubois of San Francisco yesterday at 14:2 balkline at Berry's rooms by a score of 250 to 215, both men playing very good billiards all the way through. Seymour made high runs of 28 and 22, and Dubois's highest run was 20.

EXPERTS DEPART.

Spinks, Sigourney and Wright left last night for San Francisco, after what they say was a most delightful visit to Southern California. While here they were the guests of Henry Berry, and he showed them about all there was good to see in this end of the State. They state that their trip to Catalina last Sunday was a rare treat, and as such cannot be forgotten. Dubois will remain here for several days.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE.

INFORMAL FIELD DAY.

C. F. Seymour's connection with St. Vincent's track team as manager and athlete has been arousing considerable discussion among the men interested in such affairs, and it has resulted in the decision of the Athletic Association to have nothing to do with St. Vincent in the track season if Seymour is on their team in any capacity.

Yesterday afternoon an informal field day was held on the oval on the campus with the purpose of trying out the "awkward squad" of new men who are working for a place on the 1904 track team. The day was perfect, the track in good condition, but hardly any attempts were made at record breaking, as no special training for the day's events was made. J. P. Hagerman won the running broad jump easily at 21 feet 1 inch, Bazata second and Clarence Spaulding third. The hammer throw went to A. W. Buell at 94 feet. Ernest Wieman second at 93. Hagerman ran the best race of the day in the 100-yard dash, making it in 10 2-5 seconds, with L. E. Roberts, W. M. Walker and R. E. Beal finishing in the above order. Dan S. Hammack and Norman Dilworth made 5 feet 4 inches and 5 feet 2 inches respectively in the high jump. W. E. Roberts won the 220-yard in 24 2-5 seconds; W. M. Walker second, R. E. Beal third. Norman Dilworth ran the 120-yard hurdles alone. C. F. Bazata put the 16-pound shot out 32 feet 5 inches, with two new men, Andrews and Merrill, getting the next places. Three men new to the event were in the pole vault, D. S. Hammach and Will Andrews tied for first, Merrill got second. In the quarter-mile dash Hagerman got first at 54⅘, with John Millen second. The mile was run in very slow time, absolutely no headwork being used and the cold air at the close of the day slowing the men down.

Trainer Wadsley was pleased at the showing made.

MORLEY'S MEN.

TICKETS FORWARDED.

Manager Morley has forwarded tickets to a second baseman and an outfielder. The men are not bound to report until some time in March, and Mr. Morley has steadfastly refused to divulge their names. It is learned that the pair are very steady fellows, like the present Looloo average, not booze fighters nor rowdies, and good ball players as well as gentlemen. The fielder hit over .300 and stole about thirty bases last year.

The infielder is about a .250 hitter, and a man who has played in the National League. Tim Flood would about answer the description, but it is understood he is sticking for big money. Morley has had some correspondence with Flood, however, just as he has with many others.

It begins to look as if Miller was not coming to Los Angeles. The new second baseman, whoever he may be, will at least be as good a man as the Toronto player.

TRACK TRY-OUT.

ATHLETES AT WORK.

A number of the High School lads turned out at Agricultural Park yesterday for the first of the field day trials. Nothing was decided, though several of the lads showed class in the various events which is likely to land them the honor of representing the school.

Horace Donnell, as was expected, showed up well in the sprints. The time made, while not sensational, was respectable enough for a first trial; 10 3-5 was Donnell's time in the best hundred, the fifty being done in 5 4-5; 25 2-5 was Hiram Scholes's figures for the 220-yard dash. A pair of mile runners was out, and the distance was done in fair style, both being tired at the finish. Not all the lads were out and a definite line cannot be obtained as yet. Pole practice and some high jumping was essayed.

POSTOFFICE SITE QUESTION.

Considered by Chamber of Commerce at First Meeting in New Building.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held its first meeting in the new building yesterday. The question of the local postoffice site was considered, and Postmaster-elect M. H. Flint spoke of the case from the Washington point of view. It was agreed that if the amount already appropriated, with the additional $25,000 applied for, is not sufficient to purchase the Main-street property, an effort should be made to secure at least from forty to sixty feet facing on Main street and running through to Los Angeles street. If such an effort should not prove successful, it was decided that a bill ought to be passed authorizing the government to build elsewhere. The secretary was instructed to communicate the sentiment of the board to Congressman McLachlan.

A. W. Skinner was appointed chairman of a committee which he is to chose himself, to aid in the entertainment of members of the Oakland Board of Trade, who are planning an excursion to Los Angeles February 5.

A communication from Maj. E. F. C. Klokke, president of the Municipal Art Commission, asked the chamber to take action toward having the government establish a tree-planting station and exotic nursery adjacent to this city. The matter was referred to H. W. O'Melveny, chairman of the Committee on Law and Legislation.

A communication from Elwood Cooper of the State Board of Horticulture, requested that the chamber name one of its number to be placed on the committee to formulate plans for the better marketing of deciduous fruits. F. Q. Story was named as committeeman from this district.

Maj. E. W. Jones was elected delegate to represent the chamber at the Camino Real convention January 30.

A committee will be appointed to appear before the City Council in the cause of better street sprinkling in certain districts.

F. W. King and A. W. Skinner were delegated to represent their associates at the banquet of the Long Beach Board of Trade tomorrow night.

New members elected were: James B. Threlkeld, Clarence Drown, W. G. Cline, J. E. Waldeck, Arthur Gore and Tony Milovich.

STOCK HAS FEED FOR FEW WEEKS.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY SAFE FOR THE PRESENT.

Grazing Exhausted in Orange, and Hay Supply Low—Antelope Valley Residents Contradict Statement of Big Losses of Cattle.

Further tidings from the ranges yesterday confirm the statement of the live-stock situation printed in yesterday's Times. There is feed for the beef cattle of San Diego county for another month. After that, if there has been no rain, heavy losses must follow. Many cattle are reported to have died south of the international boundary. The hay supply in Riverside county is short and the milk and butter output is much diminished. Later reports of conditions on the ranges of Antelope Valley modify the earlier reports of stock losses there. Ventura county sheep owners are reported to be shipping their charges to new pastures.

FEED FOR FOUR WEEKS.

Reports from San Diego county indicate that while the drought is causing uneasiness there, there is no serious trouble as yet. For beef cattle it is estimated that there is feed and hay enough for three or four weeks more of dry weather. The cattlemen say that, as usual in times of drought, the feed is better in the mountains than on the Coast. The Coast herd owners, however, have more hay than stock owners in the mountain districts. In the latter little or no hay is gathered, and when the grazing is exhausted the conditions become very serious. A rain at this time would be of little use, so far as starting feed in the mountain districts is concerned, for the reason that it is so cool that the moisture would be lost by evaporation or reclamation before the weather would become warm enough to start the new grass. Along the Coast the benefits would be sure, both as to new feed and the starting of the hay and grain crops. Reports of considerable losses in cattle a few miles south of the international boundary have reached San Diego.

San Diego cattlemen say that if the drought should continue more than four weeks longer there would be many severe losses, and that it would be necessary to drive the herds to the fields below Yuma. Cattle are showing the result of the limited supply of feed. It is estimated that there are in the county, outside the Imperial country, 100,000 head of cattle, and that there is on hand 25,000 tons of hay which, however, is held at fancy prices, retailing for $18 and $20 per ton in the city. The feed is nearly exhausted, although there are many thousand acres over which the cattle roam. Outside the Imperial country the county has 4000 cows on the dairy list. All of the cows are being fed with hay. The supply of milk is diminishing.

RIVERSIDE GRAZING.

The feed supply in Riverside county, according to estimates by experts, is sufficient to keep stock there till March 10. The visible supply of hay is estimated at 3000 tons. Of live stock there are in the county, according to estimates based on the County Assessor's figures, 14,000 sheep and goats, 10,000 cows and calves and 7000 draught animals. There is very little grazing, and owners are feeding their cattle. Milk and butter production in the county has decreased about 10 per cent. because of the dry weather.

SHIPPING SHEEP.

Sheep owners in Ventura county are shipping their herds to distant ranges in an effort to save the flocks.

Thousands of sheep are roaming on Santa Rosa Island, but there is reported to be a supply of hay there sufficient to preserve them for a considerable period.

SAY HERDS LOOK WELL.

Residents about Lancaster contradict some of the statements of L. C. Stuckey about the condition of the beef cattle in Antelope Valley.

"Lack of rain has made no difference in the condition of the stock up to the present," said F. H. Hoolinson, one of the publishers of the Antelope Valley Gazette, yesterday. "Conditions for stock were never more favorable up to this time of year. The bountiful rains of last season caused the growth of an unusually large quantity of feed on which the cattle are now grazing. The salt grass of which Mr. Stuckey speaks as being dried up, is never green at this time of the year. There are over 1000 square miles of land owned mostly by the government, on which feed now good for grazing is available.

"Cattle in the valley are generally in very good condition, and, so far as I have heard, there have been no deaths of animals from starvation. There is no need of shipping live stock out of the valley for feed. Stuckey owns 150 acres and has 500 head of cattle, many of which are grazing on the ranges on government land. Persons in Lancaster think that he doesn't want more stock shipped in on the valley because he fears that it would interfere with the feed he is getting for his cattle on the government land.

"About Lancaster we are well supplied with water. There is an area of about 200,000 acres, in which artesian water may be obtained by boring to depths ranging from sixty-two to 300 feet, and in which water may be had at depths of from only two to ten feet."

COAST FLEET FULL OF LIFE.

SHIPPING ACTIVE IN FACE OF CONTRARY CONDITIONS.

Falling Off in Foreign Demand for Lumber and Dry Conditions of Southern California Have Apparently Had no Ill Effect.

Shipping along the coast is active, notwithstanding the slump in foreign lumber trade, and the dry conditions in Southern California. Present conditions make the outlook favorable for brisk business for commercial craft for several months at least.

The execution of orders already placed will keep a good-sized fleet engaged for probably two months, bringing lumber to San Pedro, Redondo, Port Los Angeles and other Southern California points. By that time foreign orders may increase and, if so, the vessels will be kept pretty busy.

Along the San Pedro docks just now traffic is dull, but that situation is no fair barometer of shipping conditions generally. It happens that there is a considerable fleet of lumber vessels under sail bound for San Pedro, which for lack of favorable winds has not arrived. A dozen or more of the vessels may arrive in a day and make traffic lively again about the wharves.

Freight rates on lumber brought by vessels from northern ports have remained practically unchanged for several years. It is said that no change is likely for several months at least.

It is scarcely to be expected that the lumber receipts of Southern California will this year be as great as last year during which they averaged at San Pedro alone over 1,000,000 feet per day.

IN THE WOOD OF FINVARA.

I have grown tired of sorrow and human tears;
Life is a dream in the night, a fear among fears,
A naked runner lost in a storm of spears.

I have grown tired of rapture and love's desire;
Love is a flaming heart, and its flames aspire,
Till they cloud the soul in the smoke of a windy fire.

I would wash the dust of the world in a soft green flood;
Here, between sea and sea, in the fairy wood,
I have found a delicate, wave-green solitude.

Here, in the fairy wood, between sea and sea,
I have heard the song of a fairy bird in a tree,
And the peace that is not in the world has flown to me.

Dear Sirs:—Some years ago my hair commenced to come out and in a short time I got so bald that I was obliged to wear a wig; my druggist here advised me to use Dander. e. I purchased a bottle on his guarantee and after using it one week my hair stopped falling out. I am now on my fourth bottle and my hair at the present time is over two inches long, glossy and curly, where it was dead looking and straight before. It has also cured me of dandruff, which greatly annoyed me. I cannot speak too highly of your Danderine, wishing you unlimited success, I remain, yours very respectfully,

Spilled Milk.

Yesterday afternoon a milk wagon with a double team attached came tearing down Pico street, scattering cans and bottles along the way. The horses, which belonged to W. J. Prosser, had been frightened by the jingling bells of a passing six-mule team. At Westmoreland Place the outfit collided with a telegraph pole and the wagon was demolished.

Y.M.C.A. Course.

At Simpson Auditorium this evening, Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the celebrated lecturer, will give "The Jolly Earthquake" as the fourth event in the Star course of the Y.M.C.A. Tomorrow evening at the same place, Miss Flora Donaldson, the prima donna of Glasgow, and Gavin Spence of Edinburgh, tenor, will be heard in Scottish songs and stories, illustrative of the life and costumes, music and literature of their own land.

Newman Club.

The Newman Club held its regular monthly meeting at Levy's last night, the guests being Bishop Conaty and Charles F. Lummis, the latter delivering an address on Camino Real. In the discussion that followed Bishop Conaty expressed his deep interest in the movement to restore the ancient highway, and the club decided by a unanimous vote to lend its assistance toward this end. R. F. Del Valle was elected a delegate to represent the organization at the convention to be held in this city on Saturday next.

Used Wrong End of Whip.

Deputy Humane Officer Zimmer arrested W. C. Smith, a teamster employed at Stansbury's grading camp on Sunset Boulevard, yesterday afternoon, for applying the wrong end of a blacksnake whip to the back of a mule. Word reached the Humane Office that a teamster engaged at the big cut near Ivanhoe was very brutal to his team. Deputy Zimmer and Veterinary Edmonds went out to investigate and caught Smith in the act of beating a mule with the butt end of a loaded blacksnake. Smith was taken to the City Jail and locked up. A complaint for cruelty to the mule will be lodged against him in the Police Court today.

Burton Holmes.

Last evening at Blanchard Hall Burton Holmes gave his audience a trip through the Hermit Kingdom, Korea, and its capital, Seoul. It was of double interest, owing to the fact that the present trouble between Russia and Japan is centered in this portion of Northern Asia. In all there were shown the rice markets, the east and west gates of Seoul, the enchanted archipelago, the Korean throne, the imperial corps de ballet, the costumes and customs of the people, and the influence of Americans in Korea. In addition the lecturer talked instructively of the Eastern situation. This evening Russia, the western end of the trouble, will be given.

Failed to Find Boy.

J. S. McCaughan of La Harpe, Kan., who has been here in search of his son, will leave for home today without having found the slightest trace of the boy. Jay McCaughan, 17 years of age, left his father's farm on January 17, 1903, and came direct to San Francisco, in company with Clyde Williams. After two days spent in San Francisco, and being out of money, the boy started for Los Angeles. At Caliente McCaughan jumped a freight train, but Williams failed, and turned and beat his way back to Kansas. That was the last ever heard of young McCaughan. All efforts of the father have failed to get any trace of him, and he goes sadly homeward—just to wait.

SAN DIEGO.

SUITS ON IRRIGATION BONDS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 27.—Col. A. G. Gassen filed additional suits today against the Linda Vista Irrigation District aggregating $61,000, making a total of $124,000, which he seeks to recover. The district was organized under the Wright Act a few years ago. An issue of $1,000,000 bonds was authorized, but only $165,000 was put out. The proposition was to develop water along the valleys just north of the city of San Diego, for use on some valuable land. It is claimed the proposition was carelessly handled. At any rate little work was done. The bonds were not paid as they matured, neither were the interest coupons. Gassen has now secured most of the bonds and seeks to recover on the property which they represent.

RADIUM IN MINERALS.

Geological Survey Will Issue a Bulletin Showing Where the New Substance May be Found.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The United States Geological Survey will shortly issue a bulletin explaining where and under what circumstances minerals containing the elements of radium may be found. The paper will be prepared in simple language, stripped of scientific terms, so that any person with ordinary intelligence will be able, after a little study, to make experiments for finding minerals, in order to determine just what conditions tend to produce radium. He has prepared a list of all minerals which contain the new element, together with a general statement of the localities in the countries in which they occur. It will appear from this list that minerals from which radium may be secured are to be found in practically every part of the United States, although they are more abundant in certain sections of the West.

The race is not always to the swift. There once was a tortoise. Also a hare. Remember?

Our Swede dress suit tailors aren't particularly fast workers, but—

When they finish a Dress Suit, Tuxedo or Frock Suit, there's nothing to be added—no detail of fit or finish that can be bettered—no fine point of fastidious fashion that is missing.

Dress Suits, $50, $60, and $75. Tuxedo and Frock Suits, $45, $55, and $70.

AN ALLIANCE OF CITIZENS.

Compact Formed to Combat Labor Unions.

Herbert George's Idea Meets Hearty Local Approval.

The Citizens' Alliance of Los Angeles, "an association that stands for justice," is now an accomplished fact, with a charter membership including most of the representative business men of the community.

This organization was effected last evening at Chickering Hall, several hundred local employers responding to the call of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to meet Herbert George of Denver, Colo. with whom the alliance idea originated.

In ringing sentences Mr. George explained his plan; recounted its successful operation in other cities; and pointed out the possibilities within reach by its adoption.

THE OBJECTS.

As outlined in the constitution adopted the object of the alliance is to "promote the stability of business and the steady employment of labor, whether organized or unorganized, by encouraging friendly relations between employers and employés, and to discourage lockouts, strikes and boycotts and all kindred movements which savor of persecution; to protect its members and the community at large, and all persons who desire to work, from unlawful interference and the evil effects of strikes, lockouts and boycotts, and all similar movements unnecessarily and unreasonably interfering with trade and business, and to protect its members in their inalienable rights to manager their business in such lawful manner as they deem proper, without domination or coercion by any organized movements against such right."

MR. GEORGE'S REMARKS.

In advocacy of his plan last evening Mr. George caught the enthusiastic interest of his auditors on his first utterance. "I have several texts upon which to base my argument," said the speaker. "Here is one: 'The man who makes the pay roll shall carry the keys.' How do you like that? That's the central idea of the whole scheme, but how to accomplish that end has been the question. The work of the alliance makes that easy. The only wonder is that it has not been put in operation years ago. What is more simple than meeting boycott with boycott? To offset the walking delegate put an automobile delegate in the field. When the union gang closes your shop shut off his supplies. Meet brickbats with brains. That's the way we did it in Denver and it didn't take us long, either. There we have our 'locals,' a State federation, and now a national organization is in operation. In time past the unions have been able to win because there strength was concentrated upon an individual firm. But times have changed and now when a strike is ordered the laborites find themselves up against the entire alliance with every branch in the same perfect operation as are those of the unions.

"This movement is farther reaching in its aims and objects than is contemplated in the idea of simply withstanding the unjust exactions of the labor agitators. The preservation of society and the maintenance of the American idea is involved. In this connection I have another text. It is this, 'Law and order first; creeds, politics and unions afterwards.' That's sound doctrine, isn't it? The laboring man has a right to join a union, a church or a fraternal order, and boost either with all the energy that in him lies, so long as that boosting does not interfere with the rights of others. A union has a right to call out every member of its order, but it can never say that another shall not take the place of the one quitting his job. The employer has the same right as the employé. Hence, the Citizens' Alliance. And just so long as the labor unions fight with fire the oppressed employer is justified in meeting fire with fire. The result of such a campaign is easy to forecast. One of these days the union card will be relegated to the garbage can and the alliance card will be torn up and the employer and employé will meet on a common plane for the conservation of mutual interests."

BIG ENROLLMENT.

At the conclusion of Mr. George's address the alliance plan was outlined in detail and the membership roll presented for signatures. Every man present wanted to sign in a hurry. Among those in line were many captains of industry, representatives of every prominent concern, and some who have in the past displayed the union card in their windows.

To one and all the formation of the alliance was in the nature of a life-line thrown out in a time of unrest, when indications seemed to point to disastrous disturbances peculiar to the advent of the "yellow peril."

"UNION CARD."

To each member of the alliance was issued a "Union" card, certified and numbered, which bit of pasteboard will, in future, figure prominently in the transaction of business. A business house, seeking favors from another will be forced to show a card. The woes of one member become the concern of the entire body, and every trick known to the laborites will be turned for the benefit of the individual or firm attacked.

The alliance starts off with a large and influential membership, and it is confidently expected that before another week the organization will include every employer in the city.

RICHEST BEGGAR QUITS BUSINESS.

Owns Oil Stock and Employs a Typewriter to Carry on His Correspondence—Specimen of the Sort Fatted up by Los Angeles.

The richest beggar in Los Angeles has announced his intention of retiring for the winter—for a period of relaxation and recreation.

He's the paralytic who has stood on the side streets here for years, hanging over a pair of crutches, with dark glasses over his eyes, and a sign across his breast "I am paralyzed."

His name is Edward Genung; he's a howling swell; has his own stationery printed with his name and residence on it; has stock in several oil companies and conducts an important agency business with an eastern publishing house; has typewriters to save his fingers from ink stains.

He's about the warmest thing in the street beggar line ever seen here, or anywhere else.

The Associated Charities has a letter from a man who says he overheard Genung talking to a friend in a restaurant the other night. Genung was saying that he had just received a check from one of his oil investments—$1500.

To do him credit, he is better than most of the street beggars making money here, for the reason that he is not a hypocrite. He does not deny that he is well taken care of. He says he is not able to take care of himself, and says that he has no "kick" at the way the people of Los Angeles have paid him money during the eight or ten years he has been begging here.

He freely admits that he owns oil stock, and gave an officer of the Associated Charities some of his stationery with his name handsomely printed on it.

He even explained about his typewriter. He says that he has some sort of contract for supplying eastern houses with names and addresses of desirable people for certain lines of advertising. He writes them off at night.

Genung is said to be genuine in his affliction—the paralysis—in spite of stories and rumors about his throwing away his crutches and sprinting around when he gets home.

About twenty years or more ago he was driving oxen to a heavy two-wheeled cart loaded with unsawed timber in Washington. It was winter time. He slipped on the ice and the cart passed over his back and spine.

REV. B. FAY MILLS.

A Large Audience Listens to His Address on "The True Greatness of Christ."

Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills delivered the third in his series of addresses on "The Christianity of Christ" at Blanchard Hall yesterday afternoon before a large audience. Prayer was offered by Rev. Charles Pierce of the Memorial Baptist Church, and Miss Winston rendered a solo.

Mr. Mills took as his subject "The True Greatness of Christ." He said in part:

"The true greatness of Jesus does not consist in his preëxistence or what are commonly regarded as his supernatural attributes, or miraculous deeds; neither was it manifested by his natural advantages or peculiar power. He was not a man of the culture of the schools, he had no social standing, and little political influence in connection with the affairs of his time. His greatness consisted of his absolute trust in God and perfect trust in man. The first begot the latter. He was a universal man. He appreciated nature, and spoke as one who knew of the inner significance of the flowers and trees; the seed and the fruit, the vine and the vineyard, the mineral and the animal, the wind and the water, and the subtle forces of the universe; but especially was he acquainted with man. 'He knew what was in man,' and this makes it all the more significant that he believed in them.

"Is it wonderful that men should in their beliefs and creeds, deify a soul that shone with such star-like radiance? Nay, let us not think them weak nor ignorant for so doing; let us rather honor the instinctive appreciation of eternal truth and beauty that led them in their formulation of thought in regard to him; but let us remember that when they say 'Here was one who was differently constituted from his human brothers, who has some exclusive right to this wisdom, this power, this exquisite sympathy and unfailing love,' they limit and belie the infinitely generous wealth and the universal Fatherhood of God. Share we not all in the largeness of his love, the fineness and beauty of his nature?"

Mr. Mills announced that his subject for this afternoon would be "The Secret of the Victory of Jesus." His address will follow immediately the Burton Holmes entertainment, which will close at 3:25.

The Irish Jumper.

The Irish horse has lost none of its excellence. Judging by the sires and the young gallopers shown at Ballsbridge, it will hold more than its own in coming races. There may be another Galtee Moore, another Ard Patrick among the colts, fit to capture the blue ribbon of the turf; I know not; but the Irish horse seems to have a blanket mortgage on the grand national steeplechase. You remember, I dare say, that in the last grand national the Irish-bred chasers were 1, 2, 3 when the numbers went up. Indeed, there have been very few years since, in 1839, the great race was established, when Irish horses have not won. And if that course be not a test, then horse flesh was never tested. It is almost four and a half miles in length and bristles with thorn fences, and, not to speak of "Beecher's Brook," the water jump is sixteen feet, with a gorsed fence on the take-off side. It takes a good man on a stout-hearted horse to face that course. The history of the Irish winners of this formidable event—from Matthew down to Drumcree—speaks clearly enough the glory of the good breed.—[Outing.

PROSECUTING EX-HUSBAND.

Angry Mrs. H. Zahn Accuses Boozy Burkert.

He Must Answer to Charges of False Swearing.

Zahn's Mother Came from Germany to Assist.

Jail now yawns for Grant Burkert, the boozy drug clerk who sued Hector Zahn, of an old and respected family here, for $35,000 for alienating his wife's affections.

The Zahns have arranged to have him prosecuted criminally for perjury on account of the sworn statements in his deposition and in the complaint which he caused to be dismissed when the case was suddenly dropped day before yesterday.

It is Burkert's ex-wife, now Mrs. Zahn, who is to appear as his prosecutor.

She is a young and handsome woman. She is also angry.

She claims that her former husband brought the suit for the purpose of blackmail.

After the suit had been filed Mrs. Zahn says she got a letter from her former husband which read, substantially, as follows: "Send me $100 at once. You needn't think you can live in luxury while I am here working."

"I have endured everything from that man," she said yesterday. "He beat me. He took my money that I had when we were first married and drank it all up. He left me time and again.

"His suit against my present husband is one mass of falsehoods.

"He says that Mr. Zahn and myself lived together in the Palms Hotel in this city as man and wife. I never was in the Palms Hotel in my life and Mr. Zahn says that he never was. We never lived anywhere together as man and wife until we were married.

"As a matter of fact Burkert left me here in Los Angeles after we returned together from the Zahn ranch. I did not go up there as a cook, as he claims. I went up there to give him another chance to brace up and make something of himself. We thought if he got up there in the mountains, he might be able to stop drinking."

In his lawsuit, Berkert made some startling allegations about Zahn making love to his wife at the ranch. Mrs. Zahn says they are malicious falsehoods.

"I used to go riding sometimes with Mr. Zahn. Mr. Burkert himself suggested it. He said I did not get out much and asked Mr. Zahn if he would not take me to town when he drove down sometimes.

"The truth is far different from his statement that my affections were weaned away from him by Mr. Zahn. '"A year before I ever met Mr. Zahn, I found a letter in Burkert's pocket from a girl in the East, evidently replying to his offer of marriage. She refused him. I found with it another letter from him to her—evidently a draft letter—saying that he was sorry but that he would always love her just the same. Imagine, when he was married to me all the time!"

The excuse given for the dismissal of the suit Burkert brought was that Hector Zahn was shown to be only his mother's hired man, having nothing himself.

His mother says that it is not so and that she never said Hector was her hired man on the ranch.

Mrs. Zahn, the elder, is a member of the family that Burkert apparently never reckoned on.

She is a woman of gentle manners but of strong character. She was in Europe when the suit was begun. Someone sent her a copy of The Times containing Burkert's allegations, and she took the next steamer home.

When it was suggested to her that the suit might be settled with Burkert for a consideration, she wouldn't even listen to the proposition. She says now that inasmuch as she was joined as a party to the suit, Burkert must make good his allegations if he can. It is too late to be dropped now.

"My son," she said, "was a boy who never would look at a girl. He and his brothers all felt sorry for this girl on account of the abuse her husband made her endure.

"It was a case of wherein this man had married a young girl and treated her with every abuse, even spending her little money. He threw her aside and my son took up what he had thrown aside. How he can object now? That she is a lady and a worthy woman makes no difference in the principle.

"Our family has lived here for thirty years and has not been in disgrace. He has spoken falsehoods to threaten us. It is too late for him now to back down."

Zahn's attorney, J. Wiseman Macdonald, Esq., said yesterday that he had been waiting for months to get a chance to cross-examine Burkert, on the witness stand and now felt that he had been cheated out of it. He said that at the time of the taking of Burkert's deposition it was only with the greatest difficulty that he could be found.

Burkert's own witness, a man named Potts, MacDonald says, admitted in his deposition that the relations of Zahn and the then Mrs. Burkert, appeared to be only friendly at the ranch.

THE REAL BARONESS CAUGHT BY WALDECK.

"FROM Castle to Chorus," is the title to a possible romance which might be written about Waldeck's latest feminine acquisition for his Spring-street theater. She is programmatically named "Marie Horton," but this is only an assumed nom-de-theater. In reality she is Baroness Von Ettner, one of Austria's noblewomen. She is a pretty brunette with a fetching smile and eyes that have remarkable conversational abilities. If more charms are needed, she can talk in a most bewitching "rag-time" English.

Her story is an interesting one, and away back in the days before Rudolph von Hapsburg prevailed in Austria, introducing law and order, her husband's ancestors were very prominent folk. Their title was gained soon after the death of Rudolph, when they won the right to call themselves "Ritter von Ettner." They lived in a baronial castle just outside Vienna, the ruins of which still stand. The present bearer of the title is Mauritz von Ettner, who is a general in the existing Austrian army. He has been in military service for nearly fifty years. The father of the actress is a legation secretary at Vienna, and her mother is of the De Neville family, which was of the Huguenots who left France during the persecutions of Charles IX.

The daughter was educated at the school of the Sacred Heart, in Paris, and when her father went to Vienna as a legation secretary, she finished her education there. Here she met Baron Paul Johann von Ettner, a big cavalry officer. The two fell in love, but the Baron's parents refused to receive her. So, as he insisted on marrying, his mother paid off his debts, cut off his allowance, and turned him out to make his own living.

But the young soldier had not been educated in practical affairs, and though he came to America to live, making his living was not the easiest task in the world. So his wife has taken to the stage this year to "help out," and finds that she likes it very much indeed.

She says she meets but few notables, yet she chats entertainingly of Andrew Carnegie, whom she describes as "a very old manny sort of a man," of the gallant Senator Clark, and of Prince Osbach—who came to America with naught to recommend him but a million guilders of debt.

FRATERNAL REUNION IN THE JAG CELL.

THREE brothers held a family reunion yesterday morning in the City Jail. They were the Wilcut brothers, Elijah, C. D., and Sam, all old residents of Los Angeles. It was one of the most remarkable family gatherings ever held. At least those who were present so regarded it. Each was as much surprised as the others to meet his brothers there.

E. Wilcut is a man of much property, his wealth being estimated at upwards of $75,000. Sam is also well-to-do. C. D. has had money, but spent it. A common cause brought the three brothers together, each unaware of the others' coming until they were face to face in the jag cell.

C. D., the most unfortunate of the three, arrived first at the common meeting place. He was arrested December 19, after having been on a spree that lasted eight or nine weeks. In that time he got away with $200 cash that he had saved up and a $75 watch. His rich brother instigated his arrest and used his influence to get him a forty days' sentence in the City Jail, so as to give him a chance to sober up.

Tuesday evening Brother Sam was picked up gloriously drunk on Pennsylvania avenue, Boyle Heights, and sent to the bastile. At 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning Brother Lige was found in an intoxicated condition on First street and was also sent to the station and locked up.

When the three brothers woke up Wednesday morning they were much surprised to find themselves enjoying one another's society. They had to examine each other's birthmarks to make sure their eyes did not deceive them. After identification was complete they called the roll to see if any of the members of the family were missing. They all went to breakfast in the jail dining-room together, and had a real fraternal reunion. It was the first time they lined up at the same table at meal time in many years.

After breakfast the two rich brothers took sorrowful leave of the other and got themselves released on cash bail, while C. D. remained behind the bars to serve out the remaining week of his forty days' sentence. Lige and Sam did not appear at the afternoon session of the Police Court, but forfeited their bail.

C. D., who remains in jail, has proved himself a model prisoner and one of the most useful trusties that has ever done time in the city prison. For the past week he has been engaged in painting and varnishing the woodwork in the corridors of the jail building, under direction of Janitor Stevenson, and the dingy doors and wainscoting are looking as clean and bright as a new pin.

Wilcut says his term in prison has been as good as the Keeley cure to him, and he does not intend to drink another drop after he regains his liberty. He thinks it quite a joke on brother Lige, who got him the long sentence, that Lige himself got into jail for partaking too much of the flowing bowl.

AT HIS POST AGAIN.

President Jordan Returns to Stanford After Visit to the National Capital.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 27.—President Jordan has returned from his eastern trip, after an absence of several weeks, during which time he attended a number of important conventions and visited many educational institutions. Dr. Jordan spent several days in Washington, D. C., conferring with President Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou and the Federal Fish Commissioner, on the salmon and seal interests of the United States. He was appointed a delegate to the arbitration convention, at which he delivered an address on "Arbitration and Adjustment—Differences Between Tribunals and Arbitration and Commissions and Adjustments." In Washington a reception was given in honor of President Jordan by thirty old Stanford men.

Charles Henry Thompson, assistant in botany, resigned his position last Friday, the resignation to take effect immediately. Mr. Thompson will soon leave for St. Louis, where he will take a position in the Missouri Botanical Gardens, of which Dr. William Trelease, the eminent botanist, is director. Mr. Thompson will have charge of the department of succulent plants.

Work was begun yesterday on the two new tennis courts in front of Encina Hall. It is expected that the work will be completed within a week or ten days if the weather continues favorable.

Miss Hariett Brown, State secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association and a Stanford graduate, addressed the meeting of the association here this afternoon.

PUBLIC SERVICE.—OFFICIAL DOINGS

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Library Board received a report from a committee of architects appointed to submit a plan for a new library building, yesterday afternoon.

The firm of Franklin & Alexander, city contractors, dissolved partnership yesterday, Alexander buying out his partner.

A conference regarding the proposed purchase of the West Side Water Company's plant was held at the City Hall yesterday.

Peter Bambalere has refused to support his 14-year-old daughter because she has an independent estate, and he has raised a question of law that has to be fought out in Justice Pierce's court.

Mrs. Ida Smead alleges all kinds of hard things against her husband, but she does not ask for a divorce, only that half of his $150 salary be paid over to her.

Capt. Fitstubbs, a pensioned officer of the British army, died leaving a small estate under a properly-drawn will. But a pencilled letter turned up that it is in the nature of a codicil and the court is called upon to determine whether it is or is not of such a character.

AT THE CITY HALL.

NEW LIBRARY IN DEMAND.

COMMITTEE OF ARCHITECTS SUBMITS PLANS.

Nearly Half a Million Dollars in Bonds Needed to Build Suitable Structure—Prominent Divine Believes the Present Library Unsafe.

The first tangible result of the work which the library board has been doing toward securing a new library building was a report from an Advisory Committee of architects presented at the regular session of the board late yesterday afternoon.

Some weeks ago Mayor Snyder and the library board had a meeting at which the necessity for securing a new library structure was thoroughly discussed. At that time it was considered advisable to appoint a committee of architects who should report to the board regarding the manner of construction and the probable cost of a library building commensurate with the needs of the rapidly-growing city. Architects Octavious Morgan, Sumner P. Hunt, John Parkinson, A. F. Rosenheim and A. M. Edelman consented to serve on such a committee. Last evening the result of their deliberations was laid before the library board.

The committee of architects finds that Central Park is the proper location for a public library building, that a structure should be erected to cost not less than $450,000, that the building should encroach as little as possible on the park ground, that space for an art gallery and museum should be reserved in the upper story, and gives the library commission some further advice regarding the method of selecting an architect, and selecting the plans.

No action was taken by the library board last evening on the report. The architects appeared in person, presented their findings and were tendered the thanks of the board. Consideration of the report by the board was deferred until the next meeting, at which time the subject of new library quarters will be thoroughly considered.

All the members of the library board are enthusiastic and determined to convince the voters that new library quarters are an actual necessity. It is hoped by them that a bond issue in an amount to be later determined will speedily be submitted to the citizens.

At the request of the library commission the architects agreed to continue their offices as Advisory Committee until such time as their services are no longer required.

Some routine business of importance was transacted by the board yesterday, although the consideration of plans for the new library overshadowed other things under consideration.

A complete new schedule of working hours and a readjustment of salaries were passed by the board. The night staff will be done away with as such and all library attendants will hereafter work seven hours. Under the old system the night attendants worked four and one-half hours. All the attendants will hereafter be subject to night work. While the salaries have been readjusted no increase will result in the total of the monthly pay roll.

As indicating the great need for a new public library building a letter was read from Rev. L. B. Ridgely, in which he said that he had taken a covenant not to go up into the library again, until assured that the building is safe. The rector of St. John's Episcopal Church further states that he will not use his card again in all probability until the Council does something to make the library floors safe.

It will be remembered that a committee of architects recently examined the City Hall and decided that additional support should be given the library floors. As was the case with the theaters in Chicago the Council has disregarded the report, and nothing whatever has been done to remedy the faults in the construction of the building.

The board voted to accept the offer of the Chamber of Commerce and move the newspaper files to the new building of that organization. The library is so cramped for room that some disposition had to be made of the newspapers to make way for the increasing stock of books.

Miss Nora A. Miller, assistant librarian, was given a leave of absence for two months, dating from January 20. Since that date Miss Miller has not been in attendance at the library, and no explanation was offered yesterday for her absence from duty. It was Miss Miller who brought the charges against the librarian, Miss Mary L. Jones, accusing her of using the appellation "mush of concession" in referring to her (Miss Miller.) Since the stir occasioned at the time died away Miss Miller has been before the board two or three times, and her unexplained absence from her post has therefore, caused considerable comment among the library attendants.

It was decided to discontinue the branch library stations at Westlake Park and Bush street, because the circulation has been falling off materially.

The resignation of Miss Hannah Madison was accepted. Miss Madison since writing her resignation has been married, thus following a precedent lately very popular among the young ladies of the library.

Lynlie Eldridge and Clara Rowell were advanced to the day staff and Katherine Hilton, Edith M. Wheat, Laura S. Hillis, Minerva Frazier and Mrs. Cady added to the half-day and branch library staff.

FRANKLIN SELLS.

PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED.

J. B. Franklin and Charles Alexander, who have for years held the garbage and street-sweeping contracts of the city under the firm name of Franklin and Alexander, dissolved partnership yesterday, Franklin selling all his interest to Alexander, who will continue in the contracting business.

Mr. Franklin leaves immediately for Waco, Tex., where on next Tuesday he will marry Miss Mamie M. Ashley, an attractive young lady to whom he was engaged as long ago as 1885. Some foolish lovers' quarrel separated the two, and for years they knew little of each other. Quite recently the old-time friendship was renewed and the two again plighted their troth and agreed to make it a life affair.

Few details regarding the terms of the settlement between the partners were obtainable, but it was stated on very good authority that Franklin received $7000 in cash, Alexander agreeing to assume all the liabilities of the firm. Mr. Franklin was delighted to dispose of his holdings, and he acted yesterday as though he had the best of the bargain.

"You may be sure I am glad to get out from under that garbage contract," said Mr. Franklin yesterday. "I do hope that no one will ever say garbage to me again. I shall consider it a deadly insult."

Among city officials it has been no secret that the firm was not making money out of the garbage contract. The street sweeping contract resulted a little better. A new crematory was recently installed and the firm went heavily in debt for it. Yesterday Mr. Franklin's friends were congratulating him on escaping with a few dollars to spare.

Recently Mr. Franklin has been very fortunate in other fields. In company with a brother he recently bought 700 acres of oil land in the Sour Lake district in Texas, paying $1800. The property in the section has turned out better than was expected and the brothers have refused $40,000 for their holding.

Mr. Franklin and his bride will visit the City of Mexico on their honeymoon trip, and it is possible that they will remain in Mexico some time looking after some business interests which Mr. Franklin has in the sister republic. Eventually they expect to return to Los Angeles and establish a permanent home.

WEST SIDE WATER.

CONFERENCE ABOUT PURCHASE.

There was an important conference at the City Hall yesterday morning between members of the Council and the Water Commissioners relative to the proposed purchase by the city of the water plant of the West Side Water Company.

All the Councilmen with the exception of McAleer and Summerland were present and Commissioners Fay, Sherman, Elliott and Mead represented the water department. Every phase of the water situation in the west end was discussed at the conference, and the plans of the Water Commission were very generally approved.

Last week an agreement was reached between the commission and the West Side Water Company whereby the city can acquire the plant for $537,500. This sum is considerably less than the estimate made by the water company of the value of the plant, but was agreed upon as a compromise figure.

If the plant is to be purchased outright by the city it will be necessary for the people to vote bonds for the purpose and the conference yesterday was mainly devoted to the advisability of submitting a bond issue. The bonds will bear 3½ per cent. interest, if issued, it is said, and as the water company agrees to furnish a purchaser for the securities no concern is felt by the City Fathers regarding the marketing of the bonds. This irregular "split" rate of interest has been the subject of much discussion in the past, and the failure of the city to promptly sell its bonds at a premium has been ascribed to this low and unusual rate.

None of the members of the Council pretend to be acquainted with the actual value of the plant, but all of them with the exception of Todd take the stand that in such matters hey should give great weight to the recommendations of the Water Commission which has made an exhaustive study of the conditions. Such great success has attended the municipal administration of the city water plant that the Councilmen feel that it would be well if the West Side system was brought under municipal control.

Superintendent Mulholland attended the conference yesterday morning and advised the Council regarding technical details. He said it would probably cost $20,000 or $25,000 additional to connect the main of the city system with those of the West Side.

It is the declared purpose of the Water Commissioners to make the West Side plant, if purchased by the city, "pay for itself." The voting of the bonds will therefore not entail upon the taxpayers of the rest of the city any burden, while it is believed that the water rates of the West Side consumers can be somewhat reduced under municipal ownership.

The West Side water users are now paying about 10 per cent. higher water rates than are consumers under the city system, and the latter is paying not only the interest and sinking fund on the $3,000,000 water bond issue, but also vast sums for extensions and development. Something like $30,000 a month is regularly expended out of the revenues of the city water plant for extraordinary betterments and extensions. This is necessary to keep up with the remarkable growth of the city and to replace parts of the system that deteriorated during the years that the city was engaged in litigation with the old Los Angeles City Water Company.

For a time at least it is probable that a similar expenditure from the revenues of the West Side plant will be necessary, as there have been several years of litigation over the water rights of the West Side company during which time the ultimate fate of the plant has been in doubt. In the Superior Court the city won its case against the company and today the case is pending in the State Supreme Court, with every indication that the outcome will be entirely favorable to the city.

But notwithstanding the success with which this litigation has been prosecuted by the City Attorney it will be years before the city can supply the territory in question. The courts have uniformly held that the company could continue to operate until the city was prepared to supply the inhabitants of the west end section with water. Before the city could do this new lines of pipe would have to be run through the territory at great expense.

Councilman Todd opposes the purchase of the plant on the ground that it is a "lot of old junk." He believes that the city can better afford to extend the mains of the present system and continue the litigation with the company.

With all due respect to Todd the other Councilmen maintain that the judgment of the Water Commissioners should be given the greater weight, particularly as Todd has not had the opportunity to study the question.

"I have the utmost confidence in the judgment and integrity of the Water Commissioners," said President Bowen of the Council, after the conference yesterday. "They are in a position to advise the Council what is best to do in the premises, and I think that all the Councilmen, with possibly one exception, will follow their recommendation. I have not attempted to make any canvass of the people in my ward regarding this purchase, but I believe that the great majority of people in the Fifth Ward favor the purchase of the plant at the figure agreed upon."

Other members of the Council expressed similar opinions.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

WIFE OBJECTS TO DIVORCE.

MRS. IDA SMEAD CALLS TIME ON HER HUSBAND.

He Is Charged With Being Too Fond of Dining and Wining With Others than Members of His Own Family—His Denial.

Mrs. Ida Smead is suffering under a load of trouble, some of the details of which she has embodied in a complaint that she filed yesterday against her husband, Charles Smead. Though she says that she and her children have been cruelly and inhumanly treated, Mrs. Smead is long suffering, and asks for no divorce, but only that her husband be made to contribute from his excellent salary to the support of his family.

Mrs. Smead avers that she was married in Florida in 1888, but that for the last three years she has been treated with inhumanity by her husband, who deserted her. He was fond, she says, of consorting with other women, "treating them in a sumptuous manner with banquets, theater parties and other expensive pleasures. As if that were not enough to "queer" a man with his family, Mrs. Smead further alleges that her husband attempted to debase his children by compelling them to "serve him and his licentious companions with intoxicating liquors."

This high-stepping husband is alleged, also, to have refused to send his children to school, and at times would leave home and avoid all contact with his family. At such time he acted as if they were utter strangers, and now Mrs. Smead is tired of making a single-handed fight for her family, and asks that her husband be called to task. She says that he is amply able to provide, as he is in receipt of a salary of $150 a month, and she desires that he be compelled to pay half of the amount for the support of his family, and also $100 as attorney's fees.

But a complaint of this sort gives only one side of a story. Mr. Smead, who is an attaché of the Hollenbeck Hotel, declares he is not the "high-stepper" that the complaint makes out. He denies in toto the allegations of the complaint, asserting that he has amply provided for his wife and never has abused her. He says the suit is a bit of spite work to which his wife has been incited by other parties.

THE GRIJALVA MURDER.

ELLA GRIJALVA TESTIFIES.

The preliminary examination of Margarito Rios on the charge of having murdered Manuel Grijalva at Inglewood, was to have been held in Justice Pierce's court yesterday, but not until the last moment had the defendant obtained counsel, and a continuance was granted until Friday to permit Attorneys Allender and Thompson to confer with their client. But the sister-in-law—by courtesy—of the murdered man was very anxious to return to Visalia, and the court permitted her to give her testimony at once.

This young woman stated that she had been stopping at John Grijalva's tent, and he had told her to get ready to return to Visalia, but that they were first to go to his father's. The men got to quarreling, and when Juan Grijalva struck Kate Lopez, all four of the men, Juan, John, Manuel and Rios, got mixed up in the quarrel.

"I was so nervous," said the witness, "that I couldn't hear what they were saying. It was in the trouble that John shoved me inside the tent, but I saw Rios with the knife and when he struck Manuel. After he fell to the ground they got after Rios, but couldn't reach him."

From the witness's testimony Juan Lopez was the one who picked up a eucalyptus stick to protect himself, but she said that the others were not armed with the exception of Rios.

SHE WANTS DAMAGES.

DERMATOLOGIST'S REPUTATION.

L. A. Lanon has begun suit against John Bryson, Mrytle Bryson and Isaac H. Bryson to recover $20,000 as damages, and alleges that she has suffered in her reputation in consequence of the things said about her by the defendants.

The plaintiff is a dermatologist, and had rooms in the Bryson building, at the corner of Second and Spring streets. In the early summer last year a fire was discovered in the building by the watchman, and was said to have broken out on the same floor on which the plaintiff had her rooms. On July 11 she charges that the defendants told John P. Yates, R. A. Rowan, Philip Rowan, Harvey Davis and Burt Cowen that she (the plaintiff) had set fire to the furniture and the building.

Mrs. Lanon avers that she is of good reputation and by the libelous words spoken about her she has been injured in her business and her reputation. And for this she claims money damages.

AN OBDURATE PAPA.

REFUSES TO SUPPORT CHILD.

Because fourteen-year-old Enes Bambalere has inherited a tiny, little fortune from her mother, her father, Peter Bambalere, refuses longer to maintain her or contribute to her support. The father says that he is not unkind, but he is cast in Sparton mold and says he is contending for a principle.

In the meantime Enes is living with her sister, Mrs. Jennie Grier, on Hobson street, Pico Heights, where she has been fed, clothed and maintained since last September. As Mrs. Grier is not well equipped financially, and the father is abundantly able to care for his child, Mrs. Grier has brought suit in Justice Pierce's court to recover $10, the alleged cost of her sister's maintenance.

Bambalere has conducted a French laundry at Pico Heights for a long time, and is said to possess some of the sterner virtues. While his wife was alive he compelled her and the children, it is said, to do the hard drudgery of the laundry. About two years ago Mrs. Bambalere began divorce proceedings, but the case never came to trial, for the husband made over half of his property to his wife, and then things drifted along in the old routine. Mrs. Bambalere was not able to do as much as she had, and in the springtime last year she just laid down her burden and died. Her money she left to her children, and there is about $400 coming to fourteen-year-old Enes later on.

Now old Peter takes the stand that where a child has an estate the cost of maintenace must come out of the estate, and that there is no responsibility upon him to support his daughter, Enes, until the amount of her estate has become exhausted. G. C. Bergarmo took up the legal cudgels in behalf of the child, and quoted law to the court yesterday by the yard, in support of his contention that the fact of there being an estate cut no figure whatever, save in certain exceptional cases mentioned in the Civil Code.

RAISE THE GRADE.

VIEW THE COLEGROVE ROAD.

All the Supervisors with the exception of Wilson, Chief Deputy District Attorney James, the Deputy County Surveyor, E. P. Clark of the Los Angeles and Pacific Railroad and W. D. Larrabee, superintendent of the same road, made a trip out to that part of the Santa Monica road yesterday that passes through Colegrove.

The thoroughfare there is in very bad shape, the railway track is really below the roadway, and only one side of the road can be utilized for traffic. After an examination had been made it was conceded that something ought to be done, and the Supervisors determined to have the County Surveyor establish the grade and then the railway company will raise the track. The outside portions of the roadway will be filled in by the county, and a line of old trees will be removed and the roadway will be widened to that extent.

A PENCIL CODICIL.

WILL OF ENGLISH OFFICER.

There was a contest over the will of the late Capt. Napoleon Fitstubbs yesterday in Judge Wilbur's court, that was no contest after all.

Capt. Fitstubbs was an old British officer, who, after some active service, was appointed Gold Commissioner in British Columbia, and remained there for about twenty years. Then he came to Los Angeles and in recent years was somewhat of an invalid, having suffered a paralytic stroke.

During his illness—and, indeed, before that time—a young English girl, Miss Lucy Hanwell, who is a trained nurse, was the friend and attendant of Capt. Fitstubbs, and after his death it was found that under the will of May 1, 1902, his estate was left to Miss Hanwell, and his nieces, Miss Emily Church, who lives in Sydney, N. S. W., and Miss Gwendolyn Wild, who is in Belgium.

The captain died on August 19, 1903, and with the above terms of the will no one was inclined to disagree, but when a pencil-written letter under date of May, 1903, appeared in the nature of a codicil to the will, in which all of the estate was left to Miss Hanwell. The two other legatees had to be heard from.

British Vice-Consul C. White Mortimer communicated with Miss Emily Church, and was authorized to represent her, and notice of contest was filed. But Miss Hanwell had known Capt. Fitstubbs and his family for years and her good offices had been rendered in a spirit of pure friendship, and without any selfish intent. It was agreed that Miss Church should have her share of the estate in any case, and without any contestant—for Miss Wild has not been heard from—and the case went to trial.

The codicil was in the nature of a memorandum to Miss Hanwell, and after drawing her attention to the fact that there was a balance standing to his credit in a Los Angeles bank amounting to $1113, went on to say:

"You may draw against it when you like. When paralysis hugs me for its own, which will be soon, adopt that money for your own by drawing it out and placing it in your own bank. Should demands be made upon you for the cost of my burial, pay such sum as is usual for the city to allow for a pauper funeral. It is enough and grand enough for me. Owing you so much as I do, it is all I can ask you to do. Fifty dollars should cover all necessary expenses. I should have loved so much to have seen you before my conge."

The estate consists of only about $1000 and some mining property in British Columbia of indefinite value. Judge Wilbur was inclined to think that the letter which had been construed as a codicil was not of a testamentary character, but Attorney Loevy asked permission to present authorities, and he will do so this morning.

JUICE LAID DUST.

ASKS PAY FOR ORANGES.

Stevan Ardezzoni, a native of sunny Italy, and a would-be citizen of the Italy of America, protested yesterday in Judge York's court at his wagonload of standard oranges being smashed and battered, and the juice used merely to lay the dust at the junction of the Mission road, Alhambra avenue and Eastlake avenue. The Italian was trying to recover damages to the tune of $297.50 from the Pacific Electric Company, for all the damage wrought to him and his by one of the cars that had knocked him out of business at the place indicated on May 25 of last year.

Ardezoni said that he was driving a wagon loaded with standard oranges, worth $1 a box, and that when the car smashed into his wagon there was a general mix-up of horse, wagon, and fruit. He was injured, he said, but no stress was laid upon that, a claim for damage to his property was what he sought. First he said that he had to pay $10 to a "vet," to attend the injuries of his horse, which was worth $150, and now is worthless. Then he was laid off from work for five days, and that at $2.50 a day totaled up $12.50. Lastly, there were sixty boxes of oranges at $1 per box, and, altogether he thought $297.50 would only about square matters.

When the plaintiff went upon the witness stand it developed that he had purchased his "standard" oranges in the wholesale market as "culls" for 17½ cents a box, and that he was in the habit of selling them by retail at $1 per box. It thus appeared that his prospective profits had been included in the damages claimed. When the accident occurred the shower of oranges was much appreciated in the neighborhood, and though the wheels of the car reduced some to pulp the juice was not sufficient to more than just moisten the track. As for the rest what the small boys left may have been gathered from the wreck by Ardezzoni or not—it didn't appear.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

ANN JANE JONES AND BAD BOYS.

OLD NEWSWOMAN ON TRIAL FOR DISTURBING THE PEACE.

Justice Chambers Admonishes Her and Her Youthful Tormentors to be Good or Keep Off the Streets. Ballerino Jury Still Incomplete.

Ann Jane Jones, an eccentric old woman, in a rusty cloak and a dusty bonnet, who sells newspapers on the streets and is in almost constant conflict with the newsboys, was on trial before Justice Chambers yesterday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. Officer Sam McKensie, who arrested the old woman, testified that she was quarreling with a newsboy at Third street and Broadway, where a large crowd had congregated on account of the disturbance, so he took her and the boy both in custody.

Mrs. Jones, in her own defense, testified that bad boys drove her out of Salt Lake City for competing with them in the sale of newspapers, and she was receiving the same rough treatment here in the City of the Angels as she experienced in the City of the Saints. Capt. Auble had promised her police protection, but the patrolmen failed to protect her. The belligerent "newsies" called her Carrie Nation, spat in her face, pelted her with missiles of various kinds, and chased her with a live rat, besides subjecting her to slander and various other tormentia.

A number of good people, who saw little of the fracas which led to the old woman's arrest, appeared in court to testify to her good character and the petty annoyances to which she was subjected. Justice Chambers let them all have their say, then continued the case on probation till next Monday, after lecturing the aged defendant to be careful not to provoke the newsboys to wrath in the meantime by interfering with their business.

A bright young lad who was arrested at the same time as Mrs. Jones was placed on trial after her to answer a similar charge. The boy gave a very good account of himself, saying he had sold papers at the northwest corner of Third street and Broadway for three years and had never had any trouble until Mrs. Jones came along and tried to turn his customers against him. The boy averred stoutly that Mrs. Jones brought all the trouble on her own head by interfering with the newsboys and calling them names and scratching them with her finger nails so that they were in danger of blood-poisoning. Justice Chambers released him on probation until next Saturday, after admonishing him in the same manner as Mrs. Jones.

Courtney Held to Answer.

R. H. Courtney was examined before Justice Chambers yesterday on two charges of passing fictitious checks, and held to answer to the Superior Court, in $1500 bail, in each case. A third complaint charging him with a similar offense was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney. Courtney was formerly a real estate agent and solicitor in Los Angeles and Pasadena. The latter part of December he left for Tucson, Ariz., and immediately after his departure for the Territory a number of bogus checks alleged to have been uttered by him turned up at local banks. On request of the Chief of Police of Los Angeles Courtney was arrested by the Sheriff at Tucson and returned to this city.

Loring Pays His Fine.

George H. Loring, the dealer in decrepit horses, who was convicted of cruelty to animals in Justice Chambers's court several weeks ago, and sentenced to pay a fine of $250, has settled with the court. Loring took an appeal from the sentence, but Judge Smith of the Superior Court confirmed the sentence. It was up to the dealer in horse flesh, then, to pay his fine or go to jail for 250 days. Liberty is sweet to Loring as a bale of newmown hay to his famished plugs, and so he purchased his freedom by liquidating the fine.

BALLERINO CASE.

NO JURY FOUND YET.

Is it possible to find in the city of Los Angeles a jury free enough of bias to give Bartolo Ballerina and his man Friday (Joseph Wiot) a fair trial on the charge of renting property for immoral purposes? Apparently not.

Attorney E. L. Hutchinson, counsel for the defense, challenges every juror who has a tenedency to wear long hair, and Prosecuting Attorney Beebe, rejects every one who has a beetling brow and a square jaw. To find the happy mean between the two appears to be impossible.

Out of 100 talesmen called into the jury box in two days only five have been acceptable to both sides. The first venire of sixty was exhausted on Tuesday. The second venire of forty was exhausted yesterday morning without finding a single one who would qualify to try the case. A third venire of forty-eight was ordered returnable at 10 o'clock this morning.

Old Bartolo Ballerino, the ex-king of the cribs, sits dozing peacefully in the courtroom while the tedious work of empanelling the jury is in progress. The proceedings are not lively enough to keep him awake. Joe Wiot looks bored, but manages to keep his eyes open.

Attorney Hutchinson seems to think that he can wear the prosecution out by Fabian tactics, and in the end get a jury favorable to his clients, but Mr. Beebe is determined to have none but high-grade citizens and taxpayers to try the case.

Adams Didn't Appear.

Sam Adams, the erstwhile ward politician who was arrested a short while ago on a charge of malicious mischief did not appear in Justice Austin's court yesterday morning at the hour set for his trial. The case was continued in his absence until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to show cause why his cash bail of $40 should not be forfeited. Adams, while intoxicated, is alleged to have wrecked several hundred dollars' worth of furniture in the house of a Mrs. Miller, with whom he had quarreled. He demanded a trial when arraigned for the first time, but it is believed that he has seen fit to forfeit his bail and go his way out of the difficulty.

EVENTS IN LOCA

LAST night pretty, dainty Miss Blanche LeDoux, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. LeDoux of No. 1430 Constance street, was wedded to Clifford C. Tatum at St. Vincent's Church, corner of Washington and Grand avenue. Rev. Father Joseph S. Glass performed the ceremony, Prof. Wilde had charge of the music, rendering both the Mendelssohn and Lohengrin marches. The church was a bower of beauty. The central altar was festooned with smilax, hung in delicate strands and a great bank of white roses was arranged against the greenery. The two side altars bore clusters of Maman Cochet roses against a pleasing background of waved ferns and palms. The altars were also decorated with gorgeous Roman candelabra aglow with fairy-like unshaden tapers. The altar rail trimmed with asparagus plumosus and ferns and decorated with bows of white satin ribbon, with a mass of potted plants and palms behind made an effective setting for the stately scene enacted within its portals.

The seats to which the bridal party were ushered were tied with huge bows of white tarleton, and the church was filled with calla lilies in every recess and corner.

The party came in preceded by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. LeDoux; Mrs. LeDoux's radiant brunette beauty being ex-quisitely set off by a canary-colored crepe de chine gown, with garnitures of black and gold applique and a beautiful gold-colored virot hat, with gorgeous white plumes. Then came the little flower girl, Miss Evelyn Wilson, in fluffy dress of French embroidery over pink silk, and a wreath of sweet tiny Nell Bruner roses crowning her golden curls, and a basket of the same in her arms. She was escorted by a handsome little man, Master Robert Shelby Randall, dressed in miniature Tuxedo suit and carrying Cecil Bruner roses. Next in order down the long aisle was Miss Josephine LeDoux, the maid of honor in a gown of pink silk mulle, over pink silk, and a stunning picture hat of pink, with long white plumes. She carried pink carnations. Next came five bridesmaids, escorted by the ushers. The maids were all gowned in blue silk mull over blue silk, with picture hats of blue, and carried white carnations. They were Misses Adele Wilson, Miss Anna Powers, Miss Matilda Bowen, Miss Adelaide Salmon and Miss Florence Tatum. The best man was Robert Tatum, and the ushers were George A. LeDoux, Frank Tabor, George Fruhling, John Staub, Harry Gifford and Eugene Parker.

The bride wore an exquisitely girlish robe of white crystal chiffon, made in Empire effect and trimmed with lovely hand work and real lace. A veil fell over her fair young face, held by a sprig of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers. A prettier, daintier bride never stepped down the aisle of St. Vincent's Church, with her Madonna-like face and winsome ways.

Mrs. Tatum, mother of the groom, wore a handsome gown of black silk, with a vest of embroidered chiffon.

After the ceremony a delightful reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. LeDoux, from 9 to 11. The reception room where the receiving party stood, was a bower of asparagus plumosus, with an intermingling of the lovely Marie Van Houtt roses. The dining-room was in asparagus plumosus also, with the same delicate roses adding their grace and beauty. The dining-room gorgeous Maman Cochet roses were used in clusters, and there, amid the silk, and the table was very attractive and "fetching" with its fleecy-of fluffy tarleton and roses and candelabra shining through rosy silken shades. In the center a large wedding cake made a pleasing and tempting display. Harp music was given all through the evening by Miss J. M. Hale.

The happy couple left last evening on a brief honeymoon, after which they will be at home in their own cozy little house which Mr. Tatum has built and furnished for his sweet girl-wife at No. 1323 West Twenty-seventh street.

Sudden Affair.

There was a wedding at the Angelus Friday night that was what you might call a "sudden affair." The two Los Angeles young people so informally united at 10 p.m., were pretty Miss Matilda de Van, daughter of Mrs. W. W. de Van, of No. 743 South Figueroa avenue, widow of the late William G. de Van, capitalist, and Frank E. Blume, an employé of Desmond's clothing establishment.

"Oh, don't call it an elopement—we knew it would happen," protested the mother of the young bride, when questioned yesterday, but the circumstances seem to indicate that she didn't know it would happen so soon.

Anyway, the attractive young lady who was Miss Matilda de Van up to 10

The ceremony was performed in room 620 of the hotel, Justice Pierce officiating. The groom was supported by Herbert A. Reichman and Herman Meyers; but the circumstances were such that the bride had to stand alone in her loveliness, although the word "elopement" is objected to as a characterization of the affair. But girl friends—they couldn't keep the secret even from dinner till ten.

Beautiful Luncheon.

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. Albert Crutcher and Mrs. Clifford Page gave one of the most delightful affairs of the past season yesterday at Mrs. Rodman's home, No. 2651 Orchard avenue. The event was in the form of a buffet luncheon, and the house was most beautifully decorated for the occasion. Where the receiving party stood cerise geraniums in baskets and in banks over the windows and clustered on the piano, together with bows of cerise satin ribbon. The tables were bright with violets and yellow jonquils, brought all the way from San Francisco. In the hall clusters of gorgeous poinsettias and papyrus were artistically used.

During the luncheon hours delightful music was rendered by Mrs. Albert Carlos Jones, Mrs. Cormo Morgan and Mrs. Clement Wilson. Those receiving with the hostess were: Mrs. Edwin T. Earl, Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Mrs. Allan Balch, Mrs. Charles M. Shannon, Mrs. Hamilton H. Rollins, Mrs. Lynn Helm, Mrs. Scott Helm, Mrs. Joseph Banning, Mrs. J. R. Murray and Miss Rodman.

Cobleigh-Llewellyn.

A most beautiful marriage was solemnized last evening at the First Congregational Church, when Miss Mary Virginia Cobleigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Cobleigh, No. 1935 South Figueroa street, became the bride of David Edgar Llewellyn. Rev. Warren F. Day performed the marriage service. The church was richly decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and smilax and potted ferns and plants, together with asparagus plumosus. There were more than one thousand invitations sent out, and the affair was one of the most prominent in the social set.

Miss Winifred Llewellyn was the maid of honor, and wore a dainty frock of white silk net and chantilly lace, which became her lithe young beauty perfectly. The flowers were pink Bridesmaid roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Clara Howes, Bird Chandler, May Newton of Pasadena and Norma Rocca of Riverside. They were all dressed in pink liberty silk, over a deeper shade of silk, and carried pink Bridesmaid roses. Their hair bows were little touches of pink ribbons. The best man was Reese Llewellyn, and the groomsmen were as follows: Messrs. Will Nevins, Phil Wilson, John Llewellyn, Phil Lyon and Dr. Titian J. Coffey. The assistant groomsmen were Benjamin Harwood and Will Nevins.

After the ceremony a supper was served at the bride's home, No. 1935 South Figueroa street, to the members of the bridal suite. The house was decorated in the most exquisite manner, and the bridal table was ornamented with a myriad of white roses. The side tables were in white hyacinths.

The bride was a dream of daintiness with her flower-like face peeping out from beneath a veil of soft, fluffy tulle, pinned with a beautiful diamond brooch of French design, the groom's gift. Her gown was a beautiful imported robe of Point de Llerre lace and she carried lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Cobleigh wore a gown of gray crepe de chine, with garniture of point lace. Mrs. H. D. Llewellyn was gowned in black with trimmings of point lace.

Many beautiful and costly gifts were received by the fortunate couple, among them a chest of silver and a silver tea set, from the employés of the Llewellyn Iron Works. A fine automobile was the gift of the groom's brother, and the elegant home on Figueroa street was the gift of the bride's father and mother. Cut glass and silver candelabra and every article imaginable to please the hearts of a young couple were visible yesterday in the one room set aside and filled with the beautiful things.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn will go to San Francisco and from there for a two or three months' visit in Honolulu, after which they will be at home at No. 1935 South Figueroa street.

—o—

Garvanza Wedding.

Miss Mabel Ameda Turpin and Walter Horace Judson were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Judson in Garvanza.

Under a beautiful canopy of smilax and roses from which festoons of white carnations were draped, the nuptial knot was tied. Rev. H. W. White, pastor of the Pico Heights Methodist Episcopal Church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Turpin was becomingly gowned in pearl-gray silk and carried a bouquet of white Bride roses.

The marriage was the culmination of a romantic courtship and Miss Turpin came all the way from Indiana to wed the man of her choice. She is a pretty, vivacious girl, with a touch of romance about her. During her short stay in Los Angeles she has won a host of friends.

The groom is a young business man of this city, a member of the Knights of Pythias order and stands high in the Masonic ranks.

Prof. Judson, father of the groom, is at the head of the Los Angeles College of Fine Arts, also dean of the art department at the University of Southern California.

Pretty Romance.

Yesterday at noon at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, a pretty little romance was consummated, when Miss Mabel Whitaker was united in marriage to Sefton Findlay of Liverpool, Eng. The wedding was most quiet, as the affair has been of such short duration that no time has been had for elaborate preparations. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Carl McStay. There were only the relatives and the members of the Gamma Phi Sorority present at the nuptials, and no music marked the occasion. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Wilkins. The bride wore a simple traveling suit of brown silk and carried a large bunch of California violets.

Miss Whitaker is a daughter of D. S. Whitaker, well known in the official life of this city and in his old home in Indiana.

Sefton Lindlay, the groom, was touring America when he met this fair daughter of California who, with her winsome smiles and brunette beauty completely won the scion of one of the finest old Scotch families in England. He is a relative of the Earl of Sefton, and his brother is the captain of the cricket team of Oxford, which holds the championship. Mr. Sefton's father is a wealthy man holding large iron-mining interests in the north of England, and Mr. Sefton also is a man of wealth in his own right. The happy young pair will leave immediately for Santa Barbara, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they leave for Liverpool, Eng., where they will make their home.

Last Wednesday Mrs. McStay gave a shower for her sister, and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. After the shower a dainty buffet luncheon was served.

Badger Club.

The California Badger Club is preparing a benefit for the Girls' Club House fund, to take place on Wednesday afternoon and evening, February 1. Mrs. Fenetta Sargent-Haskell will give a humorous reading in her versatile manner on "How Men Propose." It is hoped the event will be a success, as the club members are working hard for the completion of the proposed girls' club.

—o—

Benevolent Society.

The ladies of the Benevolent Society held a reception at the home of Mrs. Lemide Ducommun, No. 1347 Grand avenue, last evening. There were more than two hundred guests present, and the house was made most attractive with poinsettias and ferns in profusion. Members of the board receiving were: Mmes. C. L. Wills, H. Heilman, Josephine Butler, O. Brodtbeck, M. Bremer, William Pridham, Weidner, Nettie Gunther and H. J. Woollacott.

—o—

Notes and Personals.

SCHOOL FOR HOUSEWIVES---By Marion Harland

THE READY MADE FLOUNCE

DEVICES TO BE FOUND IN THE SHOPS WHICH WILL SIMPLIFY WOMAN'S LINGERIE MAKING

SEVERAL novelties found in the shops at present greatly simplify the work of making one's lingerie by hand.

Many of us, despite the variety shown on dry goods counters, still prefer the pattern-made article, and any woman who does this dainty work is interested in time-saving devices connected with it.

One of these devices is the ready-made flounce of embroidery or insertion.

These ruffles come in a single piece, all ready to be attached to the new petticoat without further elaboration.

It will be seen from the shape of the flounce illustrated to-day that a gored skirt is the style for which the frill is intended.

They increase in elaboration, and consequently in price, from this point onwards, the most expensive patterns bringing $6.

The ready-made corset cover is another innovation, and much more charming than the name would lead you to expect.

This is a new material sold by the yard, which requires nothing more than ribbons to become a full-fledged cache corset.

A yard and a quarter is usually to be advised for a single article.

Ribbon is run through the embroidery around the top, and ribbon with knots and bows forms the shoulder straps.

The goods for this lingerie ranges from fifty to sixty cents a yard. That selling at sixty cents is quite elaborate.

Lost Patterns Give the Modern Value to Old Lace

WHY is old lace valuable? Many of us who are thoroughly aware that we cannot purchase a yard of genuine antique for many times what we pay for a modern length could not explain why this state of things exists.

It is not simply because it is old, but because it is extremely beautiful and cannot be duplicated.

"The fact is," says an authority, "that the old lace is all woven in lost patterns. It is frequently as fine as a spider's film and cannot be reproduced.

"The loss of patterns was a severe shock to lace-making in France and Belgium, and was occasioned by the French revolution. Before that time whole villages supported themselves by lace-making, and patterns were handed down from one generation to another.

"They were valuable heirlooms, for the most celebrated weavers always had as many orders as they could execute in a lifetime, and they were bound by an oath, taken on the four gospels, to work only for certain dealers.

"When the Reign of Terror began all work of this kind was interrupted for a time. After the storm had subsided the dealers and workers were far apart, some dead, some lost and some escaped to foreign lands, and such of the women as remained were bound by their oaths to work for but one, and this oath was held by the poorest of them to be binding, and there were instances where they suffered actual want rather than break their word.

"Some, however, taught their children and their grandchildren, and many patterns were in this way preserved.

BY MARION HARLAND

"CHILDREN, Church and Cooking." The American woman is far from agreeing with his Imperial Majesty of Germany in his oft-quoted dictum concerning the limited field of feminine usefulness.

She has other interests—many of them. She is a better mother, a better Christian and a better cook because of them. In knowledge there is power, and she has never had occasion to regret the generous education afforded her by these United States.

And yet, when all is said, what a large, what an engrossing part in the life of the average woman is claimed by these three interests!

They bring in their train the deepest anxiety and the greatest joy, the golden promise which lends meaning to all things; the toil which renders rest sweet.

It is with these three great interests that the Marion Harland Page mainly concerns itself; that make it of vital interest to everyday womankind.

Let us read on and see if the three in some form or other are not discussed to-day.

YOU recommended using metal covers for jelly glasses to Mrs. H. M. R.

I would like to know how you prevent the jelly from moulding, as mine inevitably did when I used tin or glass covers.

I make my jelly by boiling the fruit juice twenty minutes—more or less—and have the sugar hot when I add it to the juice. Usually it needs but little boiling after the sugar is added.

I have fitted writing paper to cover the jelly closely before putting on the covers dipped in brandy, egg white and paraffine. Still it would mould. So I have discarded the metal covers and put a thin layer of granulated sugar on jelly when cold, about a teaspoonful to each jar, and tie paper over the top.

It keeps well that way, but dries away somewhat, though the sugar first dissolves and then hardens and forms a crust. Friends tell me they have no trouble with the metal covers, and send me a sample of their jelly. Yes, it kept free from mould, but there was no fruit taste to the thick dark substance. I would not think the pasteboard covers Mrs. H. M. R. mentioned would be good.

MRS. E. D.

MY EXPERIENCE IS EXACTLY the reverse of yours. While my jellies never moulded, I occasionally found a deposit of white mould upon the tissue paper covering the surface as long as I used paper covers. Since the invention of the metal tops I have never had a symptom of mouldiness in any. I wet tissue paper—a double thickness—with brandy and press firmly upon the jelly, leaving not one of the white spots that indicate air under the paper. Where the air cannot enter the fungi cannot grow.

The sugar covering not only draws the moisture from the jelly, but it dispose it to "candy."

Snip and Knepp

I asked once and now again for a recipe for the old Dutch dish, "Snip and Knepp," a mixture of boiled ham, sweet apples, egg dumplings and other things.

How do the Dutch prepare the egg dumplings?

How is mull or mulled buttermilk prepared?

C. G.

1. IT MAY BE THAT SOME OF our good Holland housekeepers will send in a formula for the preparation of the dish with the astonishing name, embodying, what seems to the unanalyzed an appalling conglomerate of ingredients. I should be glad to read of it and to punish it.

2. As mulled buttermilk anything more than buttermilk heated to scalding in the inner vessel of a farina kettle? Or is it doctored into a fitting accompaniment of "snip and Knepp?"

Making Lemon Pie

The question is asked: "Why boil the peel of the lemon in making lemon pie?" I will give you my recipe—perhaps it will answer the question or prove a remedy.

J. A. H.

THE RECIPE WILL BE FOUND IN its proper place

Raw Potato Poultice

IN READING your letters I see one about raw potato poultice, "S. E. S." If you get the recipe will you kindly send a copy to me, as my father is a great sufferer and I would try anything to relieve him.

H.

IN A LETTER PUBLISHED LAST week directions were given for the preparation of a raw potato poultice, in case you did not see it, I will say that the potatoes are washed perfectly clean, wiped dry and rubbed with a coarse cloth, then grated without paring. The "pomace" thus obtained is bound upon the bruise or sore with several cloths and left on for twenty-four hours. It will then be found perfectly dry—like brown dust.

Cleaning White Lamb's Wool

CAN you kindly tell me of any way to clean a white lamb's wool robe, as mine is badly soiled? One of your constant readers.

A. E. B.

HAVE READY A TUBFUL OF INdian meal and plunge the robe into it, rubbing the wool, bit by bit, between your hands as if you were washing it and must deal faithfully by every hair. It is tedious, but it properly done it will be efficacious. When you have scrubbed every part the meal will be dingy. Throw it away; spread the robe, wool upward, in the tub, and pour in clean meal. Leave it in this for forty-eight hours before beating and airing.

A Holiday Menu

A CORRESPONDENT continues our "Menu Series" by giving us an exhaustive account of a winter birthday dinner which will interest all but may easily and help many:

Menu for family birthday dinner for ten persons to cost not more than $6, counting everything.

First Course.

Turkey with dressing and gravy. Mashed potatoes. Scalloped oysters. Stewed corn or tomatoes. Your choice of celery, olives or pickles. Cabbage slaw. Fruit salad. Buns. Coffee or tea, or both.

Second Course.

Mince pie. Cream or fruit pie, or any kind of fruit. Chocolate cake. White cake, ice cream. Mixed fruit.

The day before your dinner dress the turkey, or if already dressed, prepare for cooking. Make dressing, put in crock or dish and cover. Bake cakes in the morning and frost after dinner. Make fruit salad and two mince pies, making enough paste for two shells for cream pies, and place in cool place until next morning. Make cabbage slaw. Crack nuts.

The day—Bake two cream pies, the first thing. Stuff turkey and put in oven about four hours before dinner, using roaster. If you do not have a roaster cover turkey with one or two pans and baste often. Fix oysters ready for oven all but the milk. Skim the milk an hour or two before dinner, using the cream on the table and the skim milk on the oysters. Have three quarts of milk. Use one quart for the two cream pies, the cream of the other two quarts for dinner and the skimmed for the oysters.

Open olives and pickles. Arrange fruit on fancy dish. Divide nuts into ten portions and serve in little dishes or fancy paper boxes prepared a day or two before. Enough fruit and nuts can be reserved from the quantity purchased to make the fruit salad. Have table all prepared before guests arrive. Place plates at piece of serving, if turkey is to be carved at the table. Place napkin, individual butters, salt, fruit salad in fancy cup or sauce dish, small dish of slaw, knife, fork and two spoons at each plate.

Place cheese, pickles, olives, celery, cranberries, vegetables in large dishes and mixed fruits on table, when first set. Put butter on little plates just at the last. Before serving dinner place turkey (if served at the table), potatoes, dressing, gravy and all hot dishes, except oysters, which should be passed after the other things have been served. Serve coffee, leave the cream and sugar on table throughout the entire meal.

After all are through with the first course, remove all plates, knives, forks, and the heavy part of the meal.

Serve a piece of each kind of pie on the pie plate, and also each kind of cake, or pass it, just as you choose. Serve ice cream on sauce dishes or small plates. Bring in nuts, pass fruit. The mince pie should be warmed. Homemade bread makes better dressing than "bakers'," but may be used wet very lightly when making.

Any woman of ordinary strength can prepare and serve this dinner successfully. Use white grapes, two oranges, two bananas and all the nuts for fruit salad.

This is a moderate priced Thanksgiving, Christmas or birthday dinner, to be prepared and served by one woman with no help of any kind, either in getting ready or serving the meal, the man of the house being the only helper.

It has been tried many times, and is as good a dinner as a great many care to have, or are able to afford. This dinner is for ten persons, but there will be plenty left for several meals, as it is not possible to prepare the exact quantity. Almost every one has flour, lard and all those common things to cook with, but for fear they have not I have given every article.

These prices are about the average I think. The dinner I have given will cost from about $4 to $5 or less, according to difference in prices in different places. It is good and all that have the pleasure of helping to eat it will say so. The articles purchased work together well, as the yolks of the eggs make the chocolate cake and the dressing for the cabbage, while the whites make the white cake and the frosting for both cakes. Almost all the recipes can be got from any good cook book, so I did not send any. Of course, the dinner should be served as nicely and daintily as possible. The articles given are sufficient to make everything, with a good many left over, flour, lard, salt, etc. I have served this dinner many times and it is a success. I would like for some one else to try it.

MRS. A. (Iowa).

How to Make Perfumery.

I THINK I once saw in your column a formula for making perfume. Will you please insert it again?—MRS. E. T. P., Los Angeles, Cal.

I DO NOT RECALL SUCH A FORmula. If any reader has one—mine or another's—will she send it in?

Canning Vegetables.

ANOTHER Indiana housewife enriches the Exchange by sending clear and explicit directions for canning fruits and vegetables. The paper is filed, with others, for "Summer Use." Our member adds:

"May I tell you how I kill or used to kill bedbugs? I have had none for years.

"Ask your druggist to put in a pint of the best alcohol all the corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) the alcohol will hold in solution. Apply with a small brush or feathers to all cracks, crevices, etc.; repeat once a week until rid of the pests. Be very careful of the solution, as it is very poisonous. Do not allow a single spatter to enter the eyes or mouth, or to fall on the skin, as it will eat a hole in the membrane in a short time. The solution will also corrode any metal it touches, but it is death to the bugs."—A. J.

THIS SOLUTION IT IS EVIDENT, cannot be used upon truss or iron bedsteads. Some of our correspondents contend that the corrosive sublimate is hurtful to the human beings who are to occupy the beds. Others affirm that it is not unless volatilized by heat, and a very high temperature at that.

Gas Tarnishes Silver.

INQUIRY was made some time ago how to keep silver from tarnishing, and the directions given were entirely inadequate for the gas belt. The best thing I have found is to put small pieces in glass jars, fit on rubber, and screw down tight. Large pieces can be wrapped in wax paper, then packed away carefully, so gas cannot get at them.—Mrs. G. W. P. (Indiana).

Repairing Cane Seats.

FINALLY—we have a brace of helpful hints:

"Job's Tears" called on eight drug stores, all considering themselves first-class druggists, but not in a single one could I find where Job had left any tears, and in only two instances could they ever have heard such a thing—one going so far as to suggest that it was a patent medicine and they could furnish me something "just as good." We have a little girl 2 months old, and wish very much to try the effect of the necklace during "teething" period, and will thank you to send us enough for a necklace.

MRS. C. E. E.

EUREKA! IF "MRS. C. E. E." AND others who believe in the efficacy of these gray, ovate vegetable ivory beads will send stamped and self-addressed envelope to me, I will tell them where they may be secured. I heartily advise her and other mothers of teething children, and children who may have whooping cough and sore throat to plant and cultivate the seed of the "Coix lachryma." When ripe they may be strung into necklaces, and they are practically indestructible.

I record with gratification, and his beneficiaries will please recollect with gratitude, the fact that we owe the aforesaid discovery to a place where "Job's Tears" abound and are dispensed, to our Big Brother Man. I suspect from the dry curtness of his communication, that his faith in their curative properties is but small. All the same, he has put the "Tears" within our reach, and we thank him.

Sure Way to Remove Rust.

THIS is a sure way to remove rust, no matter how long goods may have been injured.

Take lemon juice and wet the spot well; sprinkle with salt and rub with hands. Then lay goods on a warm (not hot) flatiron, patting down, and the rust will disappear. Don't put flatiron on the goods.

Meaning of the Caul

Would you please tell me the meaning of a "veil?" My baby boy, born July 17, had a veil over his face, and I am told that he will be lucky, but cannot find out any more.

ONE MORE ANXIOUS MOTHER.

ANXIETY WOULD SEEM TO BE the normal state of the American mother. It is this (together with Bridget-Dinah-Gretchen-Theima) that imparts the chronic worry to the average United States elderly woman. I wish none of them had a more stable foundation for fears and fancies than you have for that indicated in your hurried note.

Your "veil" is a "caul," a thin membrane that is sometimes entangled about the child's head at the moment of birth. In the days of our great-grandfathers' ignorance, at which we wink knowingly and laugh openly, such cauls were marketable and brought large sums.

They were bought by lawyers because they were fabled to impart the gift of eloquence, by sailors, and their wives and mothers, because a child's caul was said to be a protection against drowning. One born with a caul would never be drowned or hanged—a matter of consequence in a time when men were hanged for sheep-stealing and women for taking bread to keep their children from starving. There are of course ignorant enough to cherish the absurd superstition so far as it goes. But nobody would be willing to pay from $50 to $100 for what is done frequently in the eighteenth century.

Job's Tears Again

I SAW in your column a short time ago an article concerning Job's tears for delicate children.

I have a little boy who is continually coughing from early fall until spring, and all the medicine I ever get seems to be of no benefit. Will you kindly inform me where I can get some "Job's tears" for him? I should deem it such a great blessing if they would help him! He coughs the night through.

F. S.

SEE ANSWER TO MRS. "C. E. E." Were I in your place I should not depend upon "Job's tears" or any other one external application. Build the child's general health up by nourishing food, plenty of dry fresh air, daily baths and vigorous rubbing, and some really good preparation of cod liver oil. Use these means while the "Coix lachryma" is growing. Time, in these cases, is precious.

I READ with much interest your "Pointers for the Parent," and at once went to the drug stores to get "Job's Tears" called on eight drug stores, all considering themselves first-class druggists, but not in a single one could I find where Job had left any tears, and in only two instances could they ever have heard such a thing—one going so far as to suggest that it was a patent medicine and they could furnish me something "just as good." Muscles Atrophied by Disuse

THERE is no portion of the human system which is not benefited by exercise taken in moderation. It is a law of nature that the exercise of functions result in an increase of their ability. Muscles become larger by exercise. Brain matter, by constant intellectual employment, increases in weight and the "brain cells" become greater in number. On the other hand, any function may be wrongly employed. When a muscle is constantly used to excess it atrophies, or becomes smaller. The brain, if held too closely to its task, at length refuses to act.

There are many things that tend to pervert the uses of physical exercise. It loses its effect, for example, if employed at improper times, as immediately after a meal; by being too hurried and short, as when one rushes to catch a train, or by being so prolonged as to produce extreme fatigue.

A young woman was advised not long ago to take physical exercise out of doors. With an exclamation of disgust she proceeded to relate how, after a morning of close confinement at office work, she took a hurried lunch and at once rushed to a series of appointments, the distance between which amounted to several miles. It was explained that this was not exercise in the proper sense of the word. It is impossible to digest food, to exercise severely, to prosecute business and to do all well at the same time.

The woman who wants to preserve health to old age must exercise her muscles and brains so that each shall receive a proper amount of solid, steady work, and, what is equally important, a proper amount of rest. If she feels herself lacking in physical strength she may be absolutely certain that by the use of what muscular power she has she will gain more.

Some Excellent Recipes

Lemon Pie

(Contributed.)

Two cups of boiling water.

Two cups of sugar (white).

Two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch or flour stirred in, and boil just enough to thicken. When cool stir in this mixture the yolks of four eggs and one whole one, well beaten. Add two lemons by grating the peel and expressing the juice. Beat the whites for a meringue, and after the pie is baked put the meringue on the top of pies and brown lightly.

Apple Pudding

Pare and core sufficient apples to crowd closely together in a well-buttered baking dish, fill centres with sugar, and bake until tender, but not broken. Add to a cupful of drawn butter, using milk as the base, a cupful of sugar beaten light with three eggs and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Pour the mixture over the apples and bake one hour in a moderate oven.

The Genuine Sally Lunn

(By Request.)

Four even cups of flour sifted twice with a teaspoonful of salt and half as much soda.

Four eggs.

Half cup of melted butter.

One cup of lukewarm milk and the same of warm water.

Four tablespoonfuls of yeast.

Beat the eggs light, add the butter, beat in well, then put in milk and water, stir in the flour and yeast and beat all for two minutes.

Butter a deep dish well, or a pan, or mould, and put the batter into it, to rise for six hours in a warm place. Bake, covered, half an hour, then brown. Test, as you would cake, with a clean straw.

Turn out upon a warm plate lined with a hot napkin, turning the corners up over the loaf.

Cut, holding the knife perpendicular. Eat hot.

Ginger Cakes

One pint N. O. molasses, one-half pint of buttermilk, one-half pint of lard, one teaspoonful of ginger, two level teaspoonfuls of soda. Warm the lard until soft; stir it into the molasses and add one teaspoonful of soda and the ginger. Beat until light. Put the other teaspoonful of soda into the buttermilk. Beat light. Then pour the buttermilk into the molasses and beat again, thus performing three distinct chemical processes. Sift flour three times, add until you have a soft dough. Roll out one half inch in thickness. Bake in moderate oven until thoroughly done. Be sure the dough is very soft.

SUGAR TRUST PROFITS. In the course of an article upon the probable earnings of the sugar trust, the Wall Street Summar says:

From another authoritative source it has been learned that the average difference between raw and refined sugar during the year was .913c per pound. A general allowance for the cost of refining and all operating expenses would be .425c per pound, according to the estimate of a recognized authority in the sugar trade. The net profit, therefore, per pound for the American Sugar Refining Company would be .293c. With a total production of 3,063,464,000 pounds at a net profit of .293c per pound, the net earnings of the company for the year on this one branch of its business, would apparently be $8,996,-[illegible]. The company has a capital stock of $90,000,000, half common and half preferred, on which the dividend requirements at 7 per cent. for the year amounted to $6,300,000. Deducting the amount paid for dividends from the net earnings of $8,990,600, leaves a surplus for the year of $2,689,600. The preferred stock may receive only a 7 per cent. dividend, or $3,150,000 per year on the entire preferred issue. The amount earned on the common stock, therefore, will be the difference between the estimated net earnings of $8,990,600 and the amount required for preferred dividend payments, or $5,940,000. Upon the $45,000,000 common stock the earnings of the company during the past year on this one branch are shown to be 13 per cent.

THE "BEEF COMBINE." John Clay, in an article written for the Chicago Weekly Live Stock Report, takes exception to the popular disposition to lay the blame upon the beef trust for the prices for live stock, without giving credit when high prices prevail. He says:

"Now we will admit, for the sake of argument, that there is a combine, and will go back on history a little and see what its powers are. It is not necessary to go beyond two years because it has been variation enough in 1902 and 1903 to test the working of the trust or combine as you choose to call it. We find the following quotations per 100 pounds for extra prime steers:

January 1, 1903	7.75@8.00
January 1, 1903	7.35@8.50
January 1, 1903	6.75@7.25
January 1, 1903	5.25@6.65
January 1, 1904	5.40@5.85

"We use the above as a barometer of values. The other grades fluctuated practically in the same degree. Now, we had the combine with us in January, 1902. Why these changes? Why so much generosity in 1902, so little in 1904? Coming closer to home, I will give a remarkable instance of how markets vary. On the 18th of December we sent out to a country feeder a car or two of wethers, average weight 100 pounds, price $3.35 per 100 pounds. Packer bid $3.30 per 100 pounds. They came back to market December 20, weight 124 pounds, and were purchased, by the packer who bid on them, when they left the yards, at $4.25 per 100 pounds, a rise of 95 cents per 100 pounds in twelve days. Coming to sheep, we have had a rose of 40c to $1 per 100 pounds on medium grades of cattle in the past thirty days. All classes of sheep have gone up from $1 to $1.25 per 100 pounds in that time, and they have apparently dominated more largely in the meat combine than cattle or hogs.

"It is a fashionable cry to assail so-called trusts. In the yards, as seen from the above example, they have little influence. The year 1902 was a prosperous one all over the country. There was a shortage of beef and an advanced demand, and consequently higher prices; in fact, so high did prices go that the government started an inquiry and commenced suit against the packers for putting the prices of cattle so high to the consumer, before

SUGAR TRUST PROFITS. In the course of an article upon the probable profits of the sugar trust, the Wall Street Summar says:

"From another authoritative source it has been learned that the average difference between raw and refined sugar during the year was .918c per pound. Allowance for the cost of refining and all operating expenses would leave 25c per pound, according to the estimate of a recognized authority in the sugar trade. The net profit, therefore, per pound for the American Sugar Refining Company would be .293c. On a total production of 2,063,464,000 pounds, the net profit of .293c per pound, on this one branch of its business, would apparently be $8,890,-000. The company has a capital stock of $90,000,000, half common and half preferred, on which the dividend requirements at 7 per cent. for the year amount to $6,300,000. Deducting the same paid for dividends from the net earnings of $8,890,600, leaves a surplus for the year of $2,590,600. The preferred stock may receive only a 7 per cent. dividend, or $3,150,000 per year on the $45,000,000 preferred issue. The amount due on the common stock, therefore, will be the difference between the total net earnings of $8,890,600 and the amount required for preferred dividend payments, or $5,810,600. Upon the $45,000,000 common stock the earnings of the company during the past year in this one branch are shown to be 13 per cent."

There was a shortage of beef and no demand, and consequently low prices; in fact, so high did it go that the government started a country and commenced suit against packers for putting the price of meat so high to the consumer, before that question is settled we will be ready for another inquiry in the opposite direction."

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS. Orange shipments on Saturday and Sunday were 72 carloads. Eight carloads of lemons went forward, making the total for the season 3509.

THE STAFF OF LIFE. The species of corn selected and the composition of the flour for making the daily bread of man varies greatly as we travel over the universe. The Lapps mix the bark of the fir and pine trees with groats, to make flat cakes, which they bake in a closed oven. In the north of Sweden the poorer classes only bake a supply of bread twice a year. It consists of ground barley and oats. In Ireland the moss that grows upon the rocks is dried and ground and added to the bread. In Siberia and Northern China buckwheat constitutes the staff of life, and the inhabitants of Kamchatka add to the flour the bark of the birch and of the pine tree. In some parts of Italy flour made from chestnuts is used for bread. In Egypt Arabia and Asia Minor millet is consumed. In China and Japan bread is made from rice flour. In Venezuela the rich people eat wheat bread, but the poorer classes and the soldiers of the republic eat a species of doughnut made of maize flour, lard and water, which is baked, or rather, partially baked, in the sun.—[London Miller.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

EGGS remain about as yesterday. They are difficult to quote, all dealers confessing the situation mixed. Receipts are large, but it is not believed that they can continue heavy without green feed. Storage eggs are about gone.

Apples are in active demand at quotations.

Cheese is steady, receipts of local being light and prospect not good for a heavy output for the season. A large attendance is expected at the formal reception given by the Produce Exchange, tomorrow afternoon in their new quarters.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The lassitude which began to have itself manifest in yesterday's trading in stocks was still more in evidence today. The dealings fell at times to rather insignificant proportions, and the movement of prices was narrow and irregular. The most favorable turn to the war news today did not avail to sustain the market any more than the depression in the foreign market yesterday served to hold back prices in the face of the operations of the dominant speculative party. That party was rather of the quiescent today, or restricted in the field of its operations. In view of the cessation of the upward movement, it was argued that the slight pressure of selling offerings was in favor of the market, but it was suggested on the other hand that the light realizing on the turn went to demonstrate a very small speculative following for the speculation which set about lifting prices as an invitation to the outside public to come into the market and secure the benefit of rising prices. The rising points were attributed to operations by the bull party to sustain prices for lack of other explanation. The Pennsylvania group was conspicuous, and the advancing tendency of the Vanderbilts was called sympathetic on the assumption that a Gould-Cassatt harmonization was involved. The speculative party bases some of its hope of advancing prices on a confidence of the ability of the Rock Island party to further its bond issue. The firmer tone of the time money market was again conspicuously in evidence today, and a renewal of the sub-treasury operations at New Orleans attracts attention in view of the customary check to the accumulation of reserves in New York which shows itself about the end of January. The firmness in time money here, with the easier tendency of money in foreign markets, conduced to the decline in exchange rates. The feeling is growing that the period of abnormal easy money is not to be prolonged, and that better rates for time loans will rule for the future. Bonds were dull and rather irregular; total sales (par value), $2,415,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—The feature in trading in the wheat pit was the unusual activity and comparative strength of the July delivery. May exhibited much nervousness and was easily influenced by any little trade either way. Quietness was noticeable at the start, there being few orders on the market. The opening dullness was the result of a conviction in the minds of the pit crowd that so long as one firm stood ready to buy all that was for sale on May delivery, it was useless to attempt trading. Easier cables caused a slight loss on initial sales. May being a shade to ¼ to ¾ lower at 89¾@89¾. Light offerings, with a fair scattered demand, soon caused an advance to 90¾. There was fairly good commission-house selling on the upturn, and the market soon reacted. The July delivery, however, retained much of the early strength the supposition being that it was less under the control of the long operators. The extreme cold weather throughout the winter-wheat belt brought out a good demand for this option, with outsiders buying freely. From 81¾@81¾ to 81¾ at the opening, the price advanced to 81¾@82¾. The close on May was weak and half a cent lower, at 89¾@89¾. There was good buying of corn early by leading commission houses, due partly to the strength in wheat and partly to the strong tone of cables. Oats were firm the greater part of the day, closing ¾ higher at 42¾. Liquidation by small holders and sales by packers caused some weakness in provisions. The close was easy, pork being 7½ cents lower; lard and ribs 5 to 7½ lower.

The leading futures closed as follows:

GRAIN, FRUIT AND PRODUCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Business in the fruit market today was of more satisfactory volume than for some time, and a general market for most lines of fruits was steady in tone at prevailing prices. In citrus fruits, oranges held the principal buying interest, and in open market there was a fair trade movement in large sizes of better grades. Choice carloads of lots were easily effected at best quotations, while those which were in small supply, readily commanded the premium. There were free supplies of medium-sized fruit on hand, which could have been easily secured at values close to inside figures. Tangerines were slightly firmer in price, under less liberal offerings. Other citrus fruits were abund

FIREMAN JUMPS TO HIS DEATH.

SEEKS TO SAVE HIMSELF FROM THREATENED WRECK.

Jesse Haas Sees Landslide on Track and Acts Too Quickly. Train Not Wrecked—Hobo's Cigar Starts Destructive Fire on Ranch.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 27.—Jesse Haas of this city, a fireman on the Santa Fé, was instantly killed at an early hour this morning by jumping from the engine cab in an effort to escape what threatened to be a serious wreck.

At Gypsum, a small station between Orange and Corona, a landslide had covered the tracks with rock and earth. The engineer and fireman of the freight en route to Los Angeles did not discover the obstruction until too late to stop their train. The brakes were immediately set and Fireman Haas jumped, his head striking against the rocks. He was killed instantly. Had Haas remained at his post he would have been safe, for the train did not leave the track.

Haas's body was taken to Orang and later removed to this city. Funeral services will be held tomorrow from the home of his parents in Highgrove.

HOBO'S CIGAR CAUSES FIRE.

A lighted cigar stump thrown carelessly down by a hobo is supposed to have originated a fire in the immense barn on the Big Four ranch north of Rialto, causing the loss of seven valuable horses, several tons of hay, a number of vehicles, and a large amount of farming machinery, all partially covered by insurance. The fire was discovered by employés aroused from sleep by the frantic screams of the horses confined in the burning building. It was only by the most daring work that any of the animals were saved, as the men were obliged to crawl through flames and smoke to reach the horses. The Big Four ranch was recently bought by persons connected with the Hellman-Huntington syndicate.

PREDICTS DELUGE OF FIRE.

An unknown woman who recently caused a sensation by cutting check lines on horses, declaring she worked in the name of the Southern California Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has made an ineffectual effort to secure a pulpit from which to deliver a warning to San Bernardino. She prophesies that the community is to be deluged with fire, that the mountains will melt and the earth open. She is supposed to be demented.

PASTOR'S STRANGE ACTION.

Rev. S. G. Lamb of the Congregational Church at Highlands, has resigned. He says he leaves because some unknown member of his church wrote him a letter which jarred his nerves. Mr. Lamb has been pastor of the church for seven years, and until the present incident it was supposed he had won the hearts of all his congregation. Just what charges the letter contained are not made public.

OBJECTS TO CONSUMPTIVES.

L. V. Beam commenced an action against W. H. Cole et al. of Redlands to enjoin them from renting tents on the plaintiff's land at Redlands to consumptives and other sick persons. The land with a house was rented to the defendants by the plaintiff last August for their individual use, and immediately after taking possession they erected a number of tents on the property which they rented as charged in the complaint. The neighborhood has appealed to the owner to have the practice discontinued.

ANAHEIM.

IRRIGATORS WANT MORE WATER

ANAHEIM, Jan. 27.—Irrigators in the Anaheim Union Water Company district have believed for some time they were not getting their share of water from the Santa Ana River at Rincon, where it is supposed to be equally divided between the local and Santa Ana Valley irrigation companies. Superintendent Porter and Director Sherwood made a trip to the head of the canal this week to investigate, and state that the Santa Ana Valley Company was getting 1000 more inches of water than the Anaheim Union Water Company, which supplies Anaheim, Fullerton, Placentia and Yorba. The local company will no doubt at once demand an equal division.

MORE TROUBLE FOR RAILROAD.

RIVERSIDE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO INTERVENE.

Salt Lake Road Has Depots, but no Way to Reach Them—All Sorts of "Hold-up" Games Charged. Rockhill Inquest.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 27.—A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will soon be held to discuss Salt Lake Railroad matters and make an effort to straighten out the tangles that have arisen over the railroad's effort to obtain a right of way into the city. The railroad finds itself in the peculiar predicament of owning a fine new depot on Vine street, a large freight depot nearly ready for use, but no way to reach them. The operation of the road may be delayed until March or even July.

It is now reported that certain owners of property across the street from the new depot want the City Trustees to prevent the road running on Vine street; and also that Cressmer and Ward, owners of the planing mill at the corner of Vine and Eighth streets, are asking the sum of $13,000 for permitting the railroad to run trains past their place of business.

It is further reported that the City Trustees will be asked to compel the road to come over Tenth streeth on an expensive grade instead of using the bridge. The problems are now regarded as really serious and the Chamber of Commerce will endeavor to effect any compromises that may be necessary to permit the railroad to enter the city and secure needed accommodations.

ROCKHILL INQUEST.

This forenoon Coroner Dickson and a jury held an inquest over the remains of A. R. Rockhill, the man murdered Saturday night, and rendered a verdict that he had been killed by some person or persons unknown to the jurors.

The funeral will take place at Calvary Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Revs. McQuarrie and Eakin officiating.

I ACCOMPLISH MORE
BECAUSE I DO MORE FOR THE EXACT CAUSE

Functional Weakness
Nervous Decline.

One of the most important conditions, and so often made worse by stimulating medicines, is not easily diagnosed, and with a knowledge of the true cause. My treatment is positive, is the most reasonable and effective known, and will accomplish more cure in two to four weeks' time than can be accomplished by guessing for months; many men are taking drugs and by guess for years, which do not exist and are the cause of failure follows; they are for such methods are very uncertain.

4 to 6 Days

VARICOCELE is a disease and induces functional weakness, gery is a harsh method and little that varicocele can effectively be cured without pain, burning, tying or any severe treatment. Instead of destroying maimed, dilated veins, they should be restored, strengthened, under my system, to healthy circulation. My method established and every case is thoroughly restored.

STRICTURE—Neglected or improperly treated stricture is responsible for involving in its train many of the whole genito-urinary system. Cutting, stretching, tearing, burning and various methods and appliances afford relief; they do not remove the abnormal growth which is solely responsible, leaving the water passage in a dilated, irritable condition; the unnatural discharges are entirely and completely overcome, all irritation removed and the diseased prostate, bladder and kidneys restored to health.

Contracted Disease

I cure these ailments more quickly, with less pain and less detention than anyone claiming to do so successfully these conditions. Under my treatment your cure is thorough and permanent. I have no relapses or the formation of stricture. My "exact" method of treatment prevents the formation of stricture and no recurrence follows.

Varicocele.

Any man can write us a letter or copy one, and say he has VARICOCELE, but no one can induce you to a large number of business men here in the city. Varicocele is a success in his work. We demand this proof and keep it in your pocket until you are cured, you will not waste your money or time on smooth advertising specialists. Please don't forget FACTS. We have been curing Varicocele in Los Angeles for 12 years and are ready to show the proof of it through our cured patients. It is a sensible and fair proposition, leave the rest to your judgment.

Contagious Blood Disease

May be inherited or contracted. When the system becomes tainted with this poison it may manifest itself in sores, blotches, ulcers, sores, scrofula, eczema, rheumatism, painful joints, eruptions, copper colored spots on the body, little pimples in the mouth, swollen and inflamed throat, falling of hair, decay of flesh and bones, and other symptoms are many of the worst forms. I want you to take advantage of the free consultation we offer, which will consist of a careful examination of the least taint of poison from your system. If you are cordially invited to call and see me in person, and we will give you such medical advice as will be for the best interest of your condition. Our treatment for this disease, acquired through twenty-one years of laborious work, and is free from all mercury or poison. It contains no injurious drugs and goes to the very core of the disease.

Vital Weakness.

Nine years ago I published in the Los Angeles Times the first information put in print, calling the attention of the profession to the direct connection between prostate gland as an important factor in this trouble. Since that time this theory has been generally adopted by the best eastern specialists with variable success. During the past 4 years my advertisements have been copied, often word for word, by many self-styled specialists, who are absolutely ignorant of my plan of treating the prostate gland in cases of vital weakness. Many of them talk about the prostate gland who actually do not know what part of the human body it is located. They can copy my advertisements, but they certainly cannot copy my system of cures in cases of prostatic weakness. Examination strictly free.

Call at our entrance, 214½ S. Broadway, and take one of our booklets. It contains a large amount of descriptive information which cannot be given in general print. Do not fail to do so. The facts are made plain.

HELD UP IN CITY OF ROSES.

PASADENA MAN IS ROBBED BY TWO MEXICANS.

Water Question Will Soon be Taken up in Earnest—Opening of Dutch Supper Room at Hotel Green—Golf Tournament.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 33 South Raymond Avenue, Jan. —One of the most thrilling robberies in the annals of the Pasadena police occurred shortly after dark last evening. A. L. Dodson, a young married man in the employ of the Home Telephone Company and residing with his family at the corner of Villa street and Hill avenue, near the outskirts of the city, was held up by two surly Mexicans near his home. The robbers secured $30, mostly in silver, besides a silver watch.

Last night was pay night with the Home Telepaone Company's employes. Mr. Dodson drew his check, as usual, and it caused at a grocery and purchased a quantity of provisions. Up to about 9 o'clock Hill-avenue car No. 9 and a couple of rough-looking Mexicans. They continued on the car with him as far as the terminus, Hill avenue and Colorado street. He had proceeded only a short distance north on Hill avenue, when one of the Mexicans stepped from behind and shoved a revolver into Dodson's face, commanded him in thick tones to throw up his hands. The other Mexican went through his pockets and secured the money and the watch. After making off in their booty the robbers fled. The healthy circulation in the spot where the robbery occurred is sparsely populated and the thieves easily made their escape. Dodson summoned the police, and an officer was at once dispatched to the scene, but found no trace of the missing men.

The scene of the hold-up is about two blocks east of the eastern limits of the city, and is therefore outside the jurisdiction of the local police. Nevertheless they are taking hold of the case and it is expected that one or both of the robbers may be landed there morning.

WATER COMMITTEE.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of one of the members, the committee recently appointed by President Boynton of the Board of Trade to look into municipal ownership of the public water supply did not do much at the meeting last night. Dr. M. G. Kimball called the quorum present to order and the others in attendance were H. Geohegan, Henry Newby, M. A. Green and Albert Mercer. There was some discussion of the question in a general way, but the members left the scope and breadth of the matter in hand and decided to postpone definite action until all the members can be present. Said a member of the committee last night: "We did not organize because we want the work of all the committee on the appointment of a chairman, whose duties will necessarily be heavy, and we want someone who will have the time as well as the inclination for the work. We want to canvass this important matter thoroughly and to go over the ground in a businesslike manner, which will require more than a short time, before making a report. If municipal ownership is finally determined upon the city will likely purchase all of the private water companies now doing business in Pasadena and merge them into one big plant. I do not know what the present valuation of these properties would be. The Lippincott appraisal of four years ago placed the value of the water rights at $115,000, but of course with the increase of general property values it would be a much higher figure now."

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Thomas Nelson Page, the well-known writer and for many years one of the editors of Harper's Monthly Magazine arrived yesterday at Hotel Raymond, accompanied by Mrs. Page. They will be out with John Soane and party from New York and will make a tour of Southern California in their private car.

Page was one of the most popular writers of southern and negro dialect stories. Few readers who have not read his short stories in Harper's Monthly, the little sketches "in the back row." He married a wealthy woman, and the critics say it spoiled him. He doesn't tell us any more about the white-haired old darky, because he no longer needs the money.

TRIED SUICIDE.

Roger Green of South Marengo avenue, near Glenarm street, owes his life to a stomach pump. Green, who is but 21 years of age, has long been despondent, and has once or twice before attempted suicide. He isn't very successful at it, but he is persevering.

Tuesday night Green prepared a mixture of oil of cloves and creosote. He was on the point of drinking it when his father, Jesse Green, dashed it from his hand. Young Green then ran through the house and snatched a bottle of creosote from a shelf and put into his stomach it went. The father summoned a physician with a stomach pump and the young man's life was saved. He is a lineman on the Pacific Electric Railway.

TWILIGHT CLUB.

At the meeting of the Twilight Club last Monday night Postmaster J. W. Wood read a historical account of the new Republic of Panama, which is soon to be. He took a drink cut across it. He went back to the first Spanish occupation, and told of De Lesseps' monumental farce. Cashier H. J. Stuart of the First National Bank, dealt with the "Financial Side of the Panama Question." He reviewed the deal by which the United States was to purchase a canal right of way for $40,000,000, and how Colombia threw herself into the hands of the United States by refusing to deal with Uncle Sam. It will cost $200,000,000 to build the canal and ten years' time.

Dr. Charles L. King spoke on "Sanitation," showing the awful loss of life that accompanies the work of canal building in Panama. Rev. E. S. Mc... read a paper was on "The Ethics of the Panama Question." Rev. ... Moses Merwin spoke interestingly of several visits to the isthmus. Discussion followed.

DUTCH SUPPER.

Seldom have the appointments for a small function been more appropriate and characteristically carried out than at the Dutch supper which was given last evening by Miss Alta... BECAUSE I DO MORE
FOR
THE EXACT CAUSE

Functional Weakness
Nervous Decline.

One of the most prevalent conditions, and so often made worse by stimulating medicines, is not such a difficult trouble when treated scientifically, and with a knowledge of the true cause. My treatment, I am positive, is the most rational, reasonable and effective known and I accomplish more cures in two to four weeks' time than can ever be accomplished by guessing through the mail; many men are treated by mail and by guess for conditions which do not exist and are surprised when failure follows; they should not be for such methods are unreliable and very uncertain.

4 to 6 Days

VARICOCELE Eliminates vitality and induces functional decay. Every hour's harsh measure I demonstrate daily that varicocele can positively be cured without cutting, burning, tying or any harsh form of treatment. Instead of the organs being maimed, dilated and weakened, they should be preserved and strengthened, under my treatment a healthy circulation is readily established and every part affected thoroughly restored.

STRICTURE—Neglected or badly treated stricture is progressive, soon involving in its destructive course the whole genito-urinary system. Cutting, stretching, tearing are brutal and savage methods and seldom afford relief; with my treatment, if abnormal growth is softened and relaxed, leaving the water channel entirely open and free from obstruction; the unnatural discharge is entirely and completely stopped and all irritation removed, affecting the prostate, bladder and kidneys.

Contracted Diseases

I cure these ailments more quickly with less pain and inconvenience than anyone claiming to cure them positively can. Moreover, my cure is thorough and complete, I have no relapse or the formation of stricture. My "exact cause" treatment prevents the formation of stricture and no recurrence will follow.

MEN.

Varicocele.

Any man can write an advertisement, copy one, and say he can cure VARICOCELE, but no man can do so unless you to a large number of business men here in the city and ask them about his work. If you demand this proof and keep your money in your pocket until you get it, you will not waste your dollars on smooth advertisers who are not specialists. Please don't forget the FACTS! We have been curing men in Los Angeles for 10 years and are ready to show the proof of our cures through our cured patients. It is a reliable and fair proposition! We leave the rest to your judgment.

may be inherited or contracted, when the system becomes tainted with it it may manifest itself in many forms, sores, scrofula, eczema, mercurial pains, eruptions, copper colored spots on the body, little ulcers in the mouth, swollen and inflamed throat, hair, decay of flesh and bones; if symptoms are any of these, we want you to take advantage of the following offer, which will completely eradicate every least taint of poison from the system, are cordially invited to consult us. Our treatment for this terrible disease is the only remedy in the world that will positively and permanently cure in the shortest possible time. Don't delay a day, for every day you do so you run the risk of being driven to the last stage of this terrible disease, when the mercury and potash you have taken will cause your bones to ache, and then will come the sore throat, mouth and tongue, pimples, blotches, ulcers, and finally your hair and eyebrows will fall out, and you will be a total wreck. Don't wait for this, but if you have any symptoms of this disease, or even suspect you have, come to us at once and we will prove to you that we can cure you, and cure you quickly, surely and permanently. We solicit the most obstinate cases and those that have resisted the treatment of others. We have cured hundreds of cases of this disease that had been pronounced incurable by other physicians, after they had exhausted their skill in the case. Our records will show you this. Our cures are permanent. We have no relapses. Our patients are not subjected to the humiliation of having their disease exposed to their friends and neighbors. Our treatment is entirely private. Our patients are not even seen by any one but the doctor in charge of their case. Our offices are private, and no one will know you are under treatment unless you tell them yourself. Our charges are reasonable, and we will make a cure in the shortest possible time. Call and see us, or write for our free book and question list. Office hours—9 to 4, 7 to 8; Sundays, 9 to 1.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

PASADENA MAN IS ROBBED BY TWO MEXICANS.

Water Question Will Soon be Taken up in Earnest—Opening of Dutch Supper Room at Hotel Green—Golf Tournament.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 38 South Raymond Avenue, Jan. 27. One of the most thrilling robberies in the annals of the Pasadena police was pulled shortly after dark last evening when J. L. Dodson, a young married man in the employ of the home Telephone Company and residing with his family at the corner of Villa street and Hill avenue, near the outskirts of the city, was held up by two burly Mexicans near his home. The robbers got his money, mostly in silver, besides his watch.

Last night was pay night with the Home Telephone Company's employees, and Dodson drew his check, as usual, when it was cashed at a grocery and purchased a quantity of provisions. On the 6 o'clock Hill-avenue car he met a couple of rough-looking Mexicans. They continued on the car with him as far as the terminus, Hill street and Colorado street. He had walked only a short distance north on the avenue, when one of the Mexicans stepped from behind and shoved a revolver into Dodson's face, ordered him in thick tones to throw up his hands. The other Mexican went through his pockets and secured the money and the watch. After making off with their booty the robbers fled, but where the robbery occurred is thickly populated and the thieves easily made their escape. Dodson notified the police, and an officer was at once dispatched to the scene, but could find no trace of the missing men.

The scene of the hold-up is about two blocks east of the eastern limits of the city, and is therefore outside the jurisdiction of the local police. It is thought they are taking hold of some one and it is expected that one of the robbers may be landed in jail this morning.

WATER COMMITTEE.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of many of the members, the committee recently appointed by President Boynton of the board of Trade to look into the matter of municipal ownership of the public water supply did now do much at the meeting last night. Dr. M. O. Stanley called the quorum present to order, and the others in attendance were E. E. Geohegan, Henry Newby, M. Hall and Albert Mercer. There was some discussion of the question in a general way, but the members thought the scope and breadth of the matter on hand and decided to postpone definite action until all the members could be present. Said a member of the committee last night: "We did not organize because we want the views of all the committee on the appointment of a chairman, whose duties will necessarily be heavy, and we want someone who will have the time as well as the inclination for the work. We want to canvass this important matter thoroughly and to go over the ground in a businesslike manner, which will require more than a single time, before making a report. If municipal ownership is finally determined upon the city will likely purchase all of the three water companies now doing business in Pasadena. It means them into one big plant. I do not know what the present valuation of these properties would be. The Wilcott appraisal of four years ago placed the value of the water rights at $10,000, but of course with the increase of general property values it would be a much higher figure now."

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Thomas Nelson Page, the well-known writer and for many years one of the editors of Harper's Monthly Magazine, arrived yesterday at Hotel Raymond, accompanied by Mrs. Page. They are out with John Sloane and party from New York and will make a tour of Southern California in their private car.

Mrs. Page was one of the most popular writers of southern and negro dialect stories. Few readers who have not read his short stories in Harper's or the little sketches "in the back of the book" say it spoiled him. He married a wealthy woman, the critics say it spoiled him. He does not tell us any more about the white-haired old darky, because he now spends the money.

TRIED SUICIDE.

Miss Green of South Marengo avenue, near Glenarm street, owes his life to a stomach pump. Green, who is but 19 years of age, has long been dejected, and has once or twice before attempted suicide. He isn't very successful at it, but he is persevering. Yesterday afternoon Green prepared a dose of oil of cloves and creosote, and was on the point of drinking it when his father, Jesse Green, dashed it from his hand. Young Green then ran through the house and snatched a bottle of creosote from a shelf, and put it into his stomach it went. The father summoned a physician with a stomach pump, and the young man's life was saved. He is a lineman on the Pacific Electric Railway.

TWILIGHT CLUB.

At the meeting of the Twilight Club last night Postmaster J. W. Wood delivered a historical account of the new Republic of Panama, which is soon to have a big ditch cut across it. He then went back to the first Spanish occupation and told of De Lesseps' monumental failure. Cashier H. I. Stuart of the First National Bank, dealt with the "Financial Side of the Panama Question." He reviewed the deal by which the United States was to purchase a canal right of way for $40,000,000, and how Colombia threw herself into the hands by refusing to deal with Uncle Sam. It will cost $200,000,000 to build the canal and ten years' time.

Professor Charles L. King spoke on "Sanitation," showing the awful loss of life which accompanies the work of canal building in Panama. Rev. E. S. Mc[illegible]'s paper was on "The Ethical Side of the Panama Question." Rev. [illegible] Merwin spoke interestingly of his several visits to the Isthmus. Discussion followed.

DUTCH SUPPER.

None have the appointments for a function been more appropriate and characteristically carried out than at the Dutch supper which was given last evening by Miss Alta Green in the grill room of Hotel Green. The furnishings are in antique style, representing a tap room of a century ago. It is panelled, ceiled and beamed with oak; its tables and chairs are of the same material. Its electroliers are studded with leaded opaque glass in blue and white, and the whole effect is old-time and highly artistic in appearance. Upon this occasion the plate rail was ornamented with pots of scarlet geraniums arranged in conventional style as well as the usual tankards and beer mugs.

Satin ribbons in blue, white and red—the colors of Holland—were stretched diagonally across each table and a center ornamentation of scarlet geraniums was used. The place cards were oblongs, embellished with roly-poly Dutch peasants (Gretchen in gown and Hans in smock of blue, each with wooden sabots and quaint headgear) done in water colors.

For favors tiny steins were used, each tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

Liquid refreshments were served in steins, also pretzels, cheese, olives and other things craved at Bohemian suppers completed the menu.

The most fetching thing in connection with the affair were the waitresses, who were gowned for the function in Dutch peasant costume. There were seven of these, each in a full gown of red with a green bodice laced over the white chemisette, plaid woolen aprons and wooden shoes. To serve gracefully in these unaccustomed foot coverings was a feat of some skill and had been carefully rehearsed. The guests wore the conventional evening dress, but conversation—while not limited to German—was that of the kaffeklasch so far as possible. Bright little German songs were sung, concluding with "Auf Wiedersehen," and the whole affair was unique and a very proper opening of a Dutch supper room.

Those enjoying Miss Green's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grattan, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stratton, Mrs. Henry Vilas, Misses Scoville, Frances Scoville, Misses Robertson, Elizabeth Robertson, Taggart, Brown, Aull, Chaffin, Holmes, Green, French, Auten, Dwight, Messrs. Flint, White, West Gaines, Watson, Hutchinson, Ziers, Quinn, Harmon, Auten, Green, Rockefeller, Montgomery and Brooks.

The Sans Souci Club will hold its regular weekly meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. G. Guyer, Altadena. Mrs. Grattan will not entertain the club until next week.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

The second mixed foursome golf tournament of the season was held yesterday afternoon on the Hotel Green links and was the occasion of bringing out a large number of spectators. The following teams entered: Miss Elizabeth Robertson and G. G. Green, Jr.; Miss Brown and Frank Auten; Miss Frances Scoville and G. W. White; Miss E. Towner and J. H. Brooks; Miss Katherine Robertson and J. B. Stubbs; Mrs. T. Otis and Mr. Otis; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grattan; Mrs. W. A. Reed and Mr. Reed; Miss Otis and Colin Stewart.

Miss Robertson and Mr. Green had a handicap of only one, and not only made the lowest score, but broke the men's record for eighteen holes on the Green links, making it in 79. The entire score follows:

	Grs.	Hndcp.	Net.
Miss Robertson-G. G. Green, Jr.	79	1	78
Miss Brown-Mr. Auten	102	16	86
Miss Frances Scoville-Mr. White	102	13	89
Miss E. Towner-Mr. Brooks	98	8	90
Miss K. Robertson-J. C. Stubbs	102	12	90
Mrs. Otis-Mr. Otis	100	10	90
Mrs. Grattan-Mr. Grattan	123	25	98
Mrs. W. A. Reed-Mr. Reed	123	25	98
Miss Otis-Mr. Stewart	129	19	110

The money for the entries will be expended upon prizes which have not yet been selected. These will fall to the lot of Miss Elizabeth Robertson and George G. Green, Jr.

NOTABLE MARRIAGE.

A notable social event took place yesterday morning at the home of the bride on Locust street, when Heber John Kemper of Los Angeles was united in marriage to Miss Lucile Amelia de Normandie, the Rev. Stephen G. Emerson officiating. The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. E. Piper Normandie of this city, formerly of Philadelphia, where the family has long been socially prominent. An uncle of the bride is R. A. Piper of the law firm of Lee & Lee, New York City, while another uncle is James de Normandie of Boston, for many years rector of Old Plymouth Church in that city. The groom is a younger son of ex-Gov. James L. Kemper of Virginia. While the bride's father served in the Union Army, the father of the groom was a major-general in the Confederate service. The groom served as regimental scout for the First Washington Regiment in the Philippines. He is at present prominent in real estate circles in Los Angeles. The couple departed on a trip to the mountains after the ceremony, and on their return will make their home in Pasadena.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

George H. Frost says he will begin building his new operahouse at the southwest corner of Broadway and Colorado streets within a year. It will not have any asbestos curtain, but a sheet-iron one.

At a meeting of the Pasadena Dairymen's Association yesterday it was decided to advance the price of milk from 3 1-2 cents per quart to 10 cents, and from 5 to 6 cents per pint. This is by way of accompaniment to the high notes reached by hay and grain on account of the dry season.

Henry Thompson, widower of the late Mrs. Ruth Brown Thompson, has been seriously ill with pneumonia since his wife's death, and owing to his advanced age, 82 years, there are grave fears as to his recovery.

The Farmers' Club will meet this afternoon at No. 113 West Colorado street. Secretary D. W. Coolidge of the Board of Trade will read a paper on "Table Grapes."

Architect Volk's plans for the new Congregational Church at the corner of Marengo avenue and Green street have been accepted. The church will cost $30,000, and will seat 645 people.

Walter L. Devere of Azusa and Miss Bertha Hemsworth of Los Angeles were married yesterday at noon by Police Judge Congdon.

L. E. Worrell, the North Fair Oaks avenue real estate man, was thrown from his buggy and slightly injured yesterday, the result of his horse scaring at an electric car.

At the lecture tonight at Throop Institute, Prof. Hale will doubtless have something to say of the availability of Mt. Wilson as a site for an astronomical observatory. Prof. Hale's subject tonight is "The Evolution of the Stars," and will be fully illustrated with stereopticon views. The lecture commences at 8 o'clock and is free.

An unqualified success was the uniform benefit dance given by the Pasadena Crown City Band last night in Woodmen Hall. As soon as the citizens come to the front with the money the band expects to blossom forth every Sunday in one of the city parks.

ROBS WIFE AND DESERTS HER.

GEORGE W. KEOWN, ALLEGED CAPITALIST, SMOOTH RASCAL.

Makes Bluff at Buying Orange Groves and Building Department Store at Pomona — Gets Mrs. Keown's Money and Skips Out.

POMONA, Jan. 27.—A once wealthy woman and her two children, now penniless and deserted by her husband, who skipped with about $8000 for parts unknown, picking up another woman at Santa Barbara en route—these are the details of a pitiful story that has just become known here.

The principals in the sad affair are George W. Keown and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Taylor Keown, and the latter's two children. The family came here last October. Keown met and married the woman last April. Upon arriving here Keown made a bluff at buying orange groves and even leased quarters in which to start a department store in the Ruth Block, borrowing generous sums from his wife, who was all unsuspecting, as he made her believe he owned large property in British Columbia, which he was soon to sell.

In this way he got all of the woman's money and then left for San Francisco, ostensibly to purchase goods for the proposed store here. This was the last seen of him, and the poor woman, heart-broken, after hoping against hope for his return, has now left here for the East with her children on money sent by her brother.

The police have not been able to locate Keown in San Francisco, but a report has been received here that he picked up another woman in Santa Barbara.

The Southern Pacific company is planning to build a side track along the southern side of Bertie street on the northern edge of its property line, branching from the main line south of the old Ruddock-Trench Company's fruit packing house, and again connecting with the main tracks near the lumber yard of Curran Bros.

Mrs. Jefferson Gibbs of Los Angeles addressed the Child Study Circle at the Central school kindergarten this afternoon. Music was furnished by Mmes. Hibbs, Adams, Clark, Broughton, Lee, Spence and Wire. Mrs. Gibbs spoke upon child training.

The next concert in the Fruit and Flower Mission course will be given Friday evening at the Fraternal Operahouse by Harry Barnhart and a concert company of four soloists. This will take the place of the lecture to have been given by Clara Morris, who is now ill in Chicago.

A fine concert was given at Pilgrim's Congregational Church last night by Miss Ethel Pults, soprano, of Los Angeles, assisted by Mmes. Steffa, Lee and Messrs Kinney, Ford and Lee.

Mrs. J. Hardy Smith entertained the ladies of St. Agnes Guild of the Episcopal Church yesterday afternoon.

CATALINA ISLAND.

FISHERMAN CATCHES A SEAL.

AVALON, Jan. 27.—An inexperienced young seal yesterday afternoon hooked itself on the line of J. J. Johnston, who was fishing in the bay for yellowtail. Johnston was rowed ashore, and as the line was strong, he pulled his catch in and landed it on the beach. When released it made half a dozen bounds for the water and soon disappeared from view.

PICKED UP ON THE BEACH.

Mrs. C. A. Bryant, wife of the manager of the Avalon Stage Company; Mrs. Ed Wittenberg, wife of the Los Angeles manager of the Portland Biscuit Company, and Miss Maylou Lewiston of Los Angeles and Mrs. George Chandler of San Francisco, are visiting Catalina.

B. W. Merrill was among the fortunate anglers this morning, taking a yellowtail weighing twenty-eight pounds, and several rock bass.

M. E. Rafert, Ed Winfield and George W. Thompson have been guests of F. H. Lowe at Middle ranch, for a few days.

P. J. Waller, who, with his wife, went to Camp Whittier yesterday, shell hunting, found a handsome paper nautilus shell in perfect condition. It measured three and a half inches.

Yesterday the stage road was opened through to the Isthmus, and hereafter there will be a regular daily service.

SANTA MONICA.

THE WATER QUESTION.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 27.—At the meeting of the Board of City Trustees this afternoon the board fixed Thursday, February 4, for a public meeting to discuss the water question. The meeting will be held in the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock.

The board adopted a resolution, ordering cement crosswalks, also cement sidewalks and curbs on Oregon avenue as far out as Eleventh street, and decided to extend cement walks and curbs on Arizona avenue, east to the city limits.

TO RESUME REVIVAL.

The series of union revival meetings will be resumed tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian Church. Rev. S. Hartwell Pratt, a New York evangelist, will conduct the meetings.

LONG BEACH.

ARBOR DAY DISCUSSED.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 27.—There was an interesting and well-attended meeting of the civic section of the Ebell Club in the City Hall last night, with Arbor Day as the chief topic for discussion. Committees appointed for the purpose of canvassing the city reported that the people were almost unanimously in favor of planting trees in the streets, and of having them uniform. It was thought best to have the exercises for the day as nearly the same all over Southern California as possible, so the section decided to postpone the definite formation of a programme until Los Angeles had acted.

CLERGY ENTERTAINED.

The hospitalities of the Cosmopolitan Club were extended to Bishop Johnson and the other visiting clergymen last evening, after the close of the exercises at the Parish House. They gathered in the club rooms informally and spent the evening pleasantly, meeting the business men of the city. The guests were Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, D.D., bishop of Los Angeles; Rev. Dowling, Christ Church, Los Angeles; Rev. L. B. Ridgeley, St. Johns, Los Angeles; Rev. William MacCormack, All Saints, Pasadena; Rev. F. F. Johnson, Trinity, Redlands; Rev. Charles E. Spalding, Christ Church, Coronado; Rev. Walton Hall Doggett, Epiphany, Los Angeles; Rev. W. H. Wotton, Messiah, Santa Ana; Rev. J. Arthur Evans, Ascension, Los Angeles; Rev. Charles W. Naumann, assistant Christ's Church, Los Angeles; Rev. B. G. Lee, St. Peter, San Pedro; Rev. C. E. Bentman, Sierra Madre.

LADY MACCABEES.

More than the ordinary interest attached to yesterday's meeting of the Lady Maccabees because it was the day set apart for the installation of the newly-elected officers. These were: Lena Miller, P.C.; Cecil Brown, L.C.; Emma Auston, L.C.; Abbie Hirsch, R.C.; Mary Field, F.K.; Addie Stuart, Chaplain; Fannie Frazier, Sergeant; Nellie Dunn, M. at A.; Viva Stevens, Sentinel; Callie Domminy, Picket. The installation was in charge of Mrs. Truax, Past Lady Commander. In addition to this work three candidates were initiated. Many guests were present and were entertained at luncheon after the close of the programme.

TRAFFIC IN GIRLS.

Sidney C. Kendall said today, speaking of the project to inaugurate a national movement against the traffic in girls: "This is not a new scheme. It has been deliberated for months, and preliminary details are already planned. Of its success I have no doubt. As soon as possible we shall be in communication with every ministerial union in the United States, every reform society and every religious and reform publication."

SAN DIMAS.

HORTICULTURAL CLUB MEETS.

SAN DIMAS, Jan. 27.—The meeting of the San Dimas Heights Horticultural Club held last night was one of unusual interest to the citizens of this district. Over 200 persons were present. The report of the Park Committee showed that while the whole town wanted a park at the Santa Fe depot, a few interested property holders insist on a crossing over the railway east of the depot. Superintendents Hibbard and O'Neil are anxious to establish a park, but oppose the crossing and will not grant the former if the people insist on the latter. It is now up to the citizens to say which will be most advantageous. The principal speakers were Bryce M. Given, J. L. Matthews and H. H. Kinney.

E. W. Kinney was appointed deputy county game warden.

The Misses Ada and Jessie Butler, Mary Macy and Olive Callander sang several vocal solos.

The next meeting will be held March 1 in the Library Hall.

SAN PEDRO.

A CASE OF SUICIDE.

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 27.—The Coroner's jury in the case of Getrude Bacar, the Mexican woodchopper who shot himself at Wilmington yesterday, rendered a verdict of suicide. Two of the jurrors thought there was room for a suspicion of foul play, basing their opinion principally on outside reports which in a measure charged the woman, Alcaria Alveres, with the shooting. Another reason was the fact that no powder marks were found around the wound in the back of the head.

EUROPE AND PANAMA.

Interests of All Will Now be Better Conserved Than Formerly, and Peace Kept.

[A. Maurice Low in the Forum.]

The world at large does not care in the slightest who is the nominal ruler of Panama, or Colombia, or Venezuela, or any of the other minor republics of the Western hemisphere, but its paramount interest is in the security of life and property and in the recognition by those countries of the code which governs the relations between civilized nations. Revolutions, civil wars, disregard for the rights of foreigners, and indifference to contractual obligations have kept constant turmoil with the European powers. For much of this the United States must be held morally responsible, as the modern interpretation given to the Monroe Doctrine has led the so-called republics of South America to imagine that they could defy Europe, violate their pledges and disregard their obligations without having to pay the penalty for a breach of faith. Secure in their position, and confident that the United States would not permit any European power to seize territory, the dictators in South America have felt that they were protected, and that they could do anything without having to suffer the consequences. This has encouraged South America to defraud her European creditors and to stand in the way of the development of one of the richest and most fertile portions of the world. It has tended, in short, to keep South America in a condition only one degree removed from barbarism.

The countries of the old world have had no quarrel with the Monroe Doctrine as a cardinal principle of American diplomacy, but they have objected to its misinterpretation and misapplication. European statesmen have maintained that if the United States assumes the position of guardian of the Western hemisphere and prevents colonization or acquisition of territory by Europe, that assumption of power carries with it a moral obligation on the part of the United States to compel the South American countries faithfully to observe their obligations and to respect international rights. But this the United States has not done. On more than one occasion she has saved the republics of South America from just chastisement at the hands of enraged Europe; but she has never exerted her moral and physical force to make a weaker nation understand that a strong and powerful nation has moral rights which cannot be defied because the offender takes refuge in his weakness. . . . The world can now feel assured that peace will prevail on the Isthmus of Panama; that merchant ships will be able to go in and out of Colon and Panama without molestation and without fear of being held up, or of being forced to pay customs dues twice over because between night and morning there has been a revolution and the president of yesterday is displaced by an ambitious rival. Safe and uninterrupted transit from the Pacific to the Atlantic is guaranteed. Merchants who do business with the new republic need no longer be apprehensive that their goods will be seized or that they will be subjected to a forced levy or thrown into prison in case they refuse to comply with extortionate and arbitrary demands. All this is in the interest of the world. All this means for progress. With such a policy—no matter how much it may be denounced by hypercriticism or by hypocrisy or by excessive tenderness for the "rights" of a venal government that has shown itself to be unworthy to be entrusted with the powers of government—the world will not quarrel.

Big Chances.

American capital will find plenty of opportunities for good investment on the Isthmus of Panama. While the natural resources of the territory on the two sides of the canal are not as rich as at Nicaragua, yet they hold out attractive possibilities to the speculator and investor.

"I know of a large tract of land containing coal of a high quality," said a Colon business men, who is now in this city, "not more than twenty miles from the line of the canal. With their present crude facilities for taking it out and getting it down to the railroad, they claim that they can deliver it on the cars at $3.50 a ton. Nine steamship lines touch at Colon and four at Panama at present. When you think of the traffic that will ultimately pass through the canal and realize that coal carried to Colon in colliers now costs $12 and $14 a ton, you will agree with me that a dollar or two is to be made by developing this mine I have in mind. This isthmus is 4000 miles away from any point in Europe, and 6000 or 7000 miles from any point in Asia. Consequently the item of coal will be of some importance to steamers going through the canal. Before leaving the isthmus I made some inquiries regarding these coal deposits, and learned that three mines have already been worked to some extent. The fuel is of excellent quality, being especially adapted for steaming purposes. The title to the property is clear, and as it is located on a river, the problem of transportation will be readily solved. I think that I shall negotiate with a coal expert to visit the place and make an official report on the prospects of the mine.

"There are other fields which offer good returns for investments in other directions. Rubber trees and cocoanut trees abound on the isthmus, and with a little cultivation would yield valuable crops. Some few deposits of gold have been found there, but they have received little or no attention."—[Brooklyn Eagle.

The French gunboat Cassini, carrying relief supplies contributed by French sympathizers to the fire sufferers, sailed from Brest for Aalesund.

You have noticed the disagreeable odor of clothes just from the wash. That's the soap. Cheap soaps do not rinse out. Their objectionable ingredients adhere to the fabric. Ivory Soap rinses readily, and because of its purity leaves the clothes sweet and absolutely odorless.

HORSETHIEF AT LARGE.

Police Looking for a Smooth Young Larcenist.

A Third Horse and Buggy Has Also Disappeared.

A well-dressed, seemingly well-educated young man, possessed of considerable money and claiming to hail from San Francisco, is looked for by the police, who want him on two charges of horse stealing. The name that they know him by is Thomas Lunn, but that name is undoubtedly assumed, and the officers are depending more upon the description of the man than upon the name, in their efforts to capture him. That he is a shrewd crook the officers are convinced.

The first that the police heard of this man was yesterday, when a representative of the Bender Carriage Company of No. 824 South Main street, reported the loss the day before of a horse and buggy. On Tuesday afternoon a young man went to the stables of the company and engaged the rig. He stated that he had recently arrived from San Francisco, and inasmuch as he was looking for a home here he desired to drive about the city. He was given a bay horse and an open runabout with red running gear and body and round rubber tires. He paid for the hire and stated that he would return in two hours. He has not yet returned, and all efforts to find him or the rig have as yet proven futile.

On the same day a man who answers the same description, rented the private rig of Thomas Clark, who resides on South Los Angeles street, near Twenty-third, saying he wanted to go to the country for a few hours. He did not return, and no trace of the horse or buggy has been found. It is believed that he sold the rig or drove it to some other county, where he may have disposed of it.

The theft from the Bender Carriage Company was reported to the detectives yesterday and a description both of the rig and the man was sent to all parts of this and of the State.

A third theft of a similar nature was reported to the detectives last night, although there is nothing to indicate that it was committed by the same man. E. R. Young, a son of Justice Young, drove to Eleventh and Olive streets to visit his sister. He hitched his horse in front of her residence, and when he returned the rig was gone. That it had been stolen there is no doubt, for Young had securely tied the horse.

NEVER SLEPT IN SHEETS BEFORE.

DETENTION HOME BOYS PUZZLED BY NOVEL BEDS.

Preferred the Nice Prickly Blankets After All—Touching Experience of the Derelicts' First Night in Comfortable Quarters.

Nine little waifs had their first introduction to bed sheets at the new juvenile detention home in the old county jail building Tuesday night.

They didn't know what they were for. Only one boy in the home had ever seen a sheet in his whole life.

Yesterday, they were all very haughty in the new accomplishment—sleeping with sheets.

When the first bed time came, night before last, one boy was lording it over the others, by reason of his superior knowledge. He was the one who had already seen a sheet and solved some of its mysteries.

He claimed that he actually slept with sheets, but he got in between them with an air of gingerly uncertainty like a boy trying his first swim.

The other boys were fairly graveled by the sheets, the like of which they had never heard.

When they were brought to the home for the first time, every boy found a bed, a little white iron bed, with bed clothes piled up thereon. He was told to make his bed for the night.

The blankets and things were easy but they didn't know what to do with the white things—the sheets.

When the beds were made, all but one boy had his sheet either piled neatly on the foot of his bed or thrown carelessly on the floor.

When she came in later, like a mother to tuck them in bed for the night, she found that they didn't know how to get in with the sheets after the beds were properly made.

Some were on top of both sheets. Some had decided the thing to do was to dive under both. Only the one boy who said he had been there before, had got in between.

The matron straightened them all out again and sandwiched them in between the sheets according to Hoyle.

In the middle of the night the night guard heard a creaking and a rustling. He saw a stealthy little white figure squirming around in the darkness.

When morning came, a sheet lay by one of the beds in a crinkled, rumpled-up heap.

One of the boys—a little Mexican—hadn't been able to stand the sheets. His heroism was not equal to those slick, cold things. He had shamefacedly wriggled out and comfortably wound himself up in the old way in his nice, prickly, big gray blanket.

E. C. M. Rand was given a verdict of $7800 by the jury in Judge Lewis's court at St. Paul, in Rand's suit against Russell Sage for services in connection with Sage's trusteeship of the Hastings and Dakota land grants. Rand sued for $15,000.

CLOTHING THIEF AT WORK.

Two Rooms Entered by Burglar and Wearing Apparel Taken—Valuables Overlooked.

The thief with a weakness for clothing, who operated here some months ago and as to whose identity the detectives were unable to secure the slightest clew, appears to have returned. Last night he resumed operations, and within an hour entered and robbed two places. James Nielson reported that his room at No. 595 South Spring street, had been entered by a thief, who secured two suits, an overcoat and a suit case. The thief then locked the door again and departed without any person having seen him.

William Olsen of No. 213 South Main street, reported last night that his room had been entered by a burglar during his absence and a suit of clothes had been stolen.

KEEPING SCARLET PERIL OUT.

HOLLYWOOD CITIZENS ERECTING INSURMOUNTABLE BARS.

Entire Cahuenga Valley Guarding Against Threatened Invasion—Los Angeles Police Not Yet Done With Crusade Against the Demi-monde.

The possibility of an invasion of Hollywood, or any of the suburbs of Los Angeles in the Cahuenga Valley, by denizens of the underworld driven from the Angel City, has raised a storm of indignation from one end of the valley to the other.

The warning given by The Times has stirred the populace to such instantaneous and determined action that there is little danger of the scarlet peril gaining a foothold in that direction. The good people of the valley are on their guard, and if eternal vigilance can purchase immunity from vice, as well as be the price of liberty, then the high moral tone of Hollywood and its environs will always be maintained.

The deeds to the property in Hollywood absolutely forbid the use of any real estate in that community for other than residence, agricultural, horticultural or hotel purposes. The sale of intoxicating liquors on any of the premises is prohibited. Under such restrictions a brothel could not exist.

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES.

But, sweeping as these restrictions are, the officials and citizens do not propose to take any chances of being caught napping.

A meeting of citizens was held in Hollywood Tuesday evening, at which action by the Council was strongly urged. Mayor Rich and members of the Board of Trustees have pledged themselves to the passage of a stringent ordinance and its rigid enforcement.

The Mayor and other members of the municipal government and several prominent citizens of Hollywood met at the office of H. J. Whitley in this city yesterday afternoon and further discussed the matter. At this meeting the expression of sentiment was most emphatic that no "parlor house" or other form of brothel would be tolerated in Hollywood for any length of time, or under any circumstances. They went further than that, and said they would even fight the establishment of any such resort anywhere in the vicinity of Hollywood.

Mr. Whitley voiced the sentiment of those present when he said:

"We will take every legal precaution to prevent the establishment of any such place in Hollywood, and if the law should fail to stop it, I believe the citizens would rise as one man and tear the place down. Wouldn't we, Mr. Mayor?"

Mayor Rich concurred, as did others who were present.

PROPOSED ORDINANCE.

"We will pass an ordinance, just as soon as we can get around to it, to prevent the establishment of any immoral resort in our town," said Hon. P. S. Rishel, a member of the Hollywood City Council. "I, myself, would file a complaint against any questionable house that might be established in or near Hollywood. The sentiment of our people on this question is so strong that nothing of the kind will be tolerated in the valley."

Mr. Whitley, who has done so much to build up Hollywood and make it the beautiful suburb that it is, is a teetotler and does not countenance the liquor traffic or any other business that is inimical to morality. A prohibition clause is in the deed to every piece of property he has sold. He has all along refused to sell lots in the beautiful Hollywood Ocean View tract, or any other portion of Hollywood, to persons of questionable character, or for purposes other than the building up of a high-toned residence town.

LOCAL RED-LIGHT CRUSADE.

While Hollywood is putting up its fences to keep out the demi-monde, the crusade against the red-light district in Los Angeles has not been abandoned. The cribs are still deserted and the women will not be allowed to go back to their old haunts. True, Ballerino and his divorced wife and the agent of Chris Buckley are remodeling their empty tenements by adding a second story, in the hope that the fallen women will be allowed to ply their sinful vocation in upper apartments. But this attempt to "elevate" the proscribed business will prove of no avail, if the police carry out their programme.

Capt. Auble stated yesterday that the police had no right to interfere with the building operations, but several special officers are constantly on guard in the crib district to see that none of the women return to their old haunts. The moment that any of the new apartments now being constructed are seen to have tenants practicing the oldest of all sinful professions, arrests of the inmates, as well as owners and agents of the property, will follow.

Evidence is also being systematically accumulated against many houses of ill fame outside of the crib district, and when the time seems opportune a lot of these resorts will be closed and those responsible for them be prosecuted.

It has been discovered that the plan of defense of the persons against whom the moral crusade is directed, is to demand a jury trial in each case, thereby hoping to swamp the courts with so much business that chances of the majority of the defendants being brought to trial will be so remote as to practically amount to immunity from prosecution. The courts can, however, by demanding large cash bail, make a jury trial very inconvenient to many of the culprits.
